Chance For Tax Cut

SAGINAW, Mich. (AP) — Saginaw residents will have a chance to vote this November on a proposed city charter amendment which would reduce the amount of tax millage the city can levy to eight mills. The nine member city council, indicating that they do not favor the millage ceiling reduction, approved putting the matter before the city's voters on the November general election ballot. The council action came after citizens presented petitions bearing 2,800 signatures asking that the eight mill scheme be adopted. The city presently has a 10 mill ceiling.

NEWS OF MARKETS

Stock Gains Continue

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock prices headed up today in early trading, continuing recent gains into a fourth session.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks which has advanced more than 13 points since Friday was up almost a point shortly after the opening bell.

Advancing stocks held a narrow lead over declines on the New York Stock Exchange.

Brokers have attributed much of the market's moderate rise this week to an apparent easing of inflationary pressure in the economy, specifically the roll-back of several price increases planned by steelmakers and some of their customers, and a 4 per cent drop in farm prices last month.

But they point out that the battle against inflation is being waged at the expense of economic recovery. On Tuesday, it was reported that durable goods orders and new factory orders in July fell from June levels.

Early prices of some widely watched stocks included American Telephone & Telegraph, up 1/8 to 59 3/8; U.S. Steel, down 1/8 to 47 1/8; and General Motors, off 1/8 to 67 3/4.

On Tuesday, the stock market recorded a moderate rise, closing at 973.74, up 4.82 for the day.

Copies of the papers are available to vehicle designers in this area by letterhead request to George H. Morgan, Auto Specialties Mfg., 643 Graves St., St. Joseph, Mi. 49085.

Pontiac Still Mum About 1977 Prices

DETROIT (AP) — The cost of building Pontiac's full-sized cars for 1977 are "somewhat less" than for the bigger 1976 full-sized cars, but prices may not be less this fall, Pontiac officials say.

"We were able to have this all new B-car (Catalina and Bonneville) cost somewhat less than the current one ... but not very much," Pontiac General Manager Alex Mair said Monday at a preview of the new-model lineup at the General Motors division.

Mair would not disclose the 1977 price of the cars, however.

GM recently announced an average $338, or six per cent, hike in the price of its new models. The firm did not detail prices for its new full-size cars, which are up to a foot shorter and 1,000 pounds lighter than their 1976 counterparts.

Industry observers say the auto giant, traditionally the industry's price leader, may be waiting this time for Ford Motor Co. and Chrysler Corp. price their 1977 full-size cars first. GM is the only U.S. automaker to set new prices for 1977 this far.

Mair said much of the cost saving in building the big Pontiacs for 1977 stems from the fact that the cars are more than 700 pounds lighter and therefore require less material.

"But it also cost us a great deal to tool it," Mair added. "Since this car was all new, our investment in it was tremendous. So we will price the car for a good value and an appropriate profit."

"Making a big car lighter and smaller is very costly. Miniaturizing anything is costly, he said, noting that "a beautiful lady's watch" costs much more than "a $1.98 alarm clock."

"If you reduce that weight, the cost does not come out in a straight-line relationship — in fact, it eventually begins to rise dramatically," he added.

Mair also predicted Pontiac sales in the new model year would soar to a record 900,000, compared with some 700,000 in the current model year, which ends Sept. 30. He said sales of the new full-size cars would be up 50 per cent.

Bendix Sells 3 Plants In Europe

DETROIT (AP) — Bendix Corp. has sold three of its recreational vehicle operations located in Caddy, Sweden; Kit, the Netherlands; and Estuary in the United Kingdom, company officials said Tuesday.

The sale price was not disclosed, although Bendix said it would have no material effect on the company's income.

Officials said the operations were bought by Tore Nilsson of Kristinehamn, Sweden, a former group executive of Bendix in Europe.

Bendix said it would continue to manufacture domestic and Canadian mobile homes and recreational vehicles for the U.S. market and overseas. It also will continue to build recreational vehicles in France.

Bendix is a multi-interest corporation serving the automotive, aerospace and industrial energy markets.

Radio Shack Says Sales, Earnings Up

FORT WORTH, Texas — Tandy Corporation, parent company of the nationwide Radio Shack consumer electronics store chain, has reported gains in sales and net income for the 13th consecutive year.

For the 1976 fiscal year, ended June 30, Tandy reported sales of $741,700,000 and net income of $64,300,000 from continuing operations, up 40 per cent and 125 per cent, respectively, over fiscal 1975 sales of $528,300,000 and net income of $28,600,000. The corporation's record sales and earnings were attributed to the continuing strong consumer demand for Radio Shack products.

Net earnings per average common share were $3.73 with 18,100,000 shares outstanding, as compared to earnings of $1.90 last year with 18,200,000 shares outstanding.

Radio Shack's new 1977 Electronics Catalog, featuring their exclusive line of products for home entertainment, hobbyists, CBers and experimenters, is now available from Radio Shack stores and dealers, nationwide.

The all-new 164-page catalog includes 100 full-color pages describing the company's complete line of products. Prices in the new catalog, which marks Radio Shack's 36th year in business, are reported to be, on the average, within 1 per cent of the company's average 1975 prices.

Rubber Strike In 134th Day

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Another 3,500 United Rubber Workers ended their strike today as their president, Peter Bommarito, called for federal help to break the remaining deadlock with two of the Big Four firms.

The hangup in the continuing strike by about 21,640 rubber workers, now in its 134th day against Uniroyal Inc. and B.F. Goodrich Co., apparently was the amount to be added to the general wage hike already pegged at $1.35 over three years.

Fair Queen Crowning Tonight

DETROIT (AP) — The 1976 State Fair Queen will be crowned tonight, after final judging which gets underway at 8 p.m. at Detroit's Michigan State Fairgrounds. Other activities scheduled for today include the Afro and ponytail hair-style contests, a Bicentennial re-enactment of an old-fashioned medicine show, and a performance by the Trinidad Tripoli Steel Band. Children under 12 are being admitted free to this year's Fair, if they are accompanied by an adult.

AMC To Broaden Warranty Coverage Tonight, Thursday

TORONTO, Ont. (AP) — American Motors Corp. will broaden its owner warranty coverage in hopes of boosting sales, William Luneburg, president of the No. 4 automaker, said Tuesday. He said AMC will extend to two years or 24,000 miles the warranty on the engine and drive train of all 1977 AMC cars, as well as all unsold new 1976 models, effective immediately. The new program, called Buyer Protection Plan II, supplements the BPP I introduced at the start of the 1972 model year, and the Service Protection Plan AMC announced a year ago. Luneburg called the company's expanded BPP coverage, which is the most extensive offered by any American car manufacturer, "the keynote of our marketing appeal to new buyers." The Big Three companies currently are offering warranty coverage for the first 12,000 miles or 12 months.

Still Negotiating Saudi Deal -- GM

DETROIT (AP) — An auto industry trade weekly here reports the Saudi Arabian government has turned down a bid by General Motors to build an assembly plant in that Middle Eastern nation. But a GM official said the firm has received no official word of rejection. Automotive News said in this week's edition that it has learned from analysts in the Saudi capital of Riyadh that government talks broke off because GM insisted on an interest-free loan for half the capital needed for the venture and a 40 per cent import duty on competitors' vehicles. A GM spokesman at the company's overseas headquarters in New York said: "Our understanding is that the question of the loan to GM-Saudi Arabia and related matters has been referred to the Council of Ministers for study and resolution."

Railroad Will Give Vans To Passengers

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The Southern Pacific railroad, hoping to discourage commuters from using its trains and running up its deficit, wants to give away 1,000 air-conditioned vans costing $6,000 each to commuters who agree to drive eight others to work. Under the plan, which needs approval of the state Public Utilities Commission (PUC), the vans would be given free to regular San Francisco Peninsula commuters, but passengers would each pay fuel, insurance and maintenance costs. Replacements would have to be purchased through excess money collected to operate the vans. The railroad promises to provide experts and computer programs to match riders.

The railroad wants to offer the vans in an attempt to cut down on passengers so it can eventually obtain permission from the PUC to terminate commuter service. The line says its commuter passenger deficit for this year will be $9 million.

Oil Firm To Refund $1.6 Million

CHICAGO (AP) — Martin Oil Service Inc. will refund more than $1.6 million in alleged overcharges to gasoline purchasers through reduced prices under a proposed consent order, the Federal Energy Administration says.

N. Allen Andersen, FEA regional administrator, said Tuesday that Martin also must pay interest of more than $226,000 on the refund amount. Andersen said the refund would come in the form of reduced prices.

"Martin began refunding earlier this year and will continue until the obligation is liquidated," he said. "However, the refund must be completed within 24 months."

Martin serves parts of California, Colorado, Georgia, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Michigan, Minnesota, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Texas and Wisconsin.

The FEA said the consent order resulted from Martin Oil's alleged erroneous interpretation of FEA regulations in computing inventory costs from November 1973 to August 1974.

North Central Shows Record July Revenue

North Central Airlines earned $1,465,000 or 12 cents per share, during July — a 34 per cent increase over the same month last year, according to Bernard Sweet, president and chief executive officer. For the first seven months net earnings increased fourfold to $3,035,000, or $25 per share.

In July, revenues climbed to an all-time monthly record of $17,219,000, and 14 percent more than the $15,091,000 in 1975.

Sweet attributed the favorable results to an improved national economy, the company's expanded jet service with three new 125-passenger DC-9-50s, and fare increases granted to cover rising costs, primarily fuel.

Black Firm Seeks Race Track Okay

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A black-owned corporation that wants to operate a horse race track in Detroit is urging state lawmakers to pass legislation to allow them to proceed with their plans.

The Detroit Downs Racing Corporation sent letters to all 148 state legislators last week asking them to support the legislation, which is now being drafted.

The letter contends that construction and operation of such a track would stimulate Detroit's economic growth and revival, providing jobs, entertainment, and an increased tax base.

The legislation, which will probably be introduced by Rep. George Cushingberry, D-Detroit, would remove present restrictions that prohibit opening another horse race track in the city of Detroit.

It also would permit the redevelopment of the State Fairgrounds to include a horse race track with pari-mutuel betting; permit the state racing commissioner to grant race meeting dates in order to meet competition from foreign tracks; and allocate all government revenue derived from the track to Detroit's general fund.

The legislature could consider the proposal when it returns from summer recess Sept. 13.

WON'T SEND HER GIRLS TO BH SCHOOLS

Tuition Jumps: $240 To $1,059!

BY LARRY MacINTYRE
Staff Writer

EAU CLAIRE — Mrs. Sallie Engle of Sodus, a working mother whose two teenaged daughters had expected to return to Eau Claire schools this fall, was recently jolted with some shocking news.

Tuition for the girls has jumped from $240 each to $1,059 each for the upcoming school year.

The girls, Susan, 16, and Karen, 14, are two of about 150 tuition students at Eau Claire facing the huge increase. The Engle family, of 2628 Hillandale road, Sodus, and the families of the other 150 must pay tuition because they live in the Benton Harbor school district.

"I want to send them back, but I can't afford it," said an angry Mrs. Engle yesterday. She works at the Fairplain branch of the First National Bank of Southwestern Michigan, Niles.

She said she will move out of the district rather than send her children to Benton Harbor schools where she feels discipline is too lax.

There also is a marked difference in the racial composition of the two districts. Last year almost 71 per cent of the students in Benton Harbor were black while less than 10 per cent of those in Eau Claire were black, according to officials of the two districts.

The tuition has shot up at Eau Claire because of a new school funding law recently passed by the state legislature. Under the law, the state will no longer pay aid money to a school system for its out-of-district students. The aid will instead be paid to the district of residency regardless of where the students go to school.

Consequently, the Eau Claire district will lose about $750 a head for its 150 students living in the Benton Harbor district.

Eau Claire Supt. William Horie said he has asked Benton Harbor school officials to reimburse the Eau Claire district for that money. The Benton Harbor school board is expected to act on the request in September, officials there said.

In the meantime, the Eau Claire district is required by law to set its tuition charges at the full cost of educating a student for one year. And that cost is $1,059, Horie said.

If the Benton Harbor board decides to reimburse Eau Claire for out-of-district students, the tuition cost for Benton Harbor district residents would drop, Horie said.

Last year, tuition at Eau Claire was $240 for secondary students and $150 for primary students.

About 7,000 tuition students throughout the state are affected by the new school funding law. Eau Claire is the only district in Berrien and Van Buren counties with more than a handful of tuition students.

The measure has prompted such an outcry that changes are now being sought when lawmakers return to session Sept. 13. A House appropriations subcommittee was scheduled to meet today in Lansing to draft new language that would allow the receiving school district collect state aid on tuition students for another year.

"I think we're going to have some turmoil around here in September," Horie said, noting that the legislature does not meet until five days after classes start at Eau Claire Sept. 8.

He said he suspects some parents of students from the Benton Harbor district will not enroll their children at Eau Claire again this fall.

Another 50 tuition students at

Eau Claire high school live in three nearby K-8 districts. Those districts — River and Riverside in Berrien county and Wood school in Van Buren county — are required to pay all the tuition for their high school students rather than the parents.

Those students are expected to continue at Eau Claire, Horie said.

Flying Glass Cuts Pedestrian

BUCHANAN — A LaPorte, Ind., man told state police from Niles he was cut by flying glass yesterday afternoon when a bottle was thrown from an auto as he walked along US-12 southwest of here.

Police said William Pietka, LaPorte, 40, sought his own treatment for cuts on the leg. Pietka told police he was walking near Dayton lake in Bertrand township when a soft drink bottle was thrown from a car traveling on US-12 about 1:30 p.m. The bottle shattered when it struck the pavement.

TUITION JOLT: Mrs. Sallie Engle of Sodus was jolted this year to learn that tuition for each of her two teenaged daughters at Eau Claire high school would jump from $240 to $1,059. She says she can't afford it, but will move out of Benton Harbor district rather than send the girls to Benton Harbor schools. (Staff photo)

Brother Smooths Path For Sister

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Dave Cappaert's sister has been confined to a wheelchair for most of her life — and that's a rocky road to travel by just about any standard. But Cappaert got up early Tuesday to make the road a little bit smoother. He said his sister, Andy, enjoys going with friends to a restaurant on State Street, a few blocks from her home. But the sidewalk in front of the restaurant is so pitted and scarred she said the trip had become uncomfortable for her. So at 7 a.m., Cappaert and two of his friends piled out of his blue van and went to work with a wheelbarrow, bags of cement and enough trowels for all hands.

They had all the craters in the one-block stretch of sidewalk filled four hours later. "Nobody was warned about this," Cappaert said mid-way through the project. "We just made a basic assumption about the city's apathy about taking care of this problem. We plan to finish unless we either run out of money or are arrested." The trio spent about $25 on cement. They already had the tools and one of the merchants on the block supplied the water to mix the cement.

Dressed in faded jeans and workshirts, they worked steadily, stopping only for a ginger snaps-and-yogurt break and to buy a second load of cement. Pedestrians politely walked around the barriers they set up, and some of the businessmen from shops along the sidewalk came outside to applaud their work. "I'm more than glad to see them out here," said barber shop owner Bill Stolberg. "The city inspectors came out here at the beginning of the summer and looked at the holes and haven't been back since."

Stolberg said the sidewalk is a hazard in its present condition. "I've seen at least six people fall flat on their faces after tripping in one of the holes," he said.

John Robbins, director of Ann Arbor's street, traffic and parking department, said property owners have the responsibility to maintain the sidewalks in front of their land. If the city receives complaints about a particular sidewalk, it will issue an order forcing the owner to fix it, Robbins said. He noted that before any work can be done on the sidewalk, a permit must be obtained from the city. "I suppose we will probably just leave what they have done — even though Dave failed to get the necessary permit," Robbins said Tuesday.

Andy Cappaert is in her mid 20s and has been in a wheelchair since she contracted polio as a young child — about a year before the Salk vaccine was ready for use. Beyond helping his sister, Cappaert said he hoped his actions would prod the city into taking better care of all the sidewalks because other people are in situations similar to his sister's.

Seney Firefighters Plan 35,000-Acre 'Back-Burn'

SENEY, Mich. (AP) — Firefighters will burn 35,000 acres of the Seney National Wildlife Refuge Thursday in an effort to starve a month-old blaze that has consumed 41,000 acres of state and federal land.

With a second Upper Peninsula fire raging out of control near Marquette Tuesday, Gov. William Milliken declared a fire emergency effective today in 48 Northern Michigan counties.

Under Milliken's order, all forms of open fires, ranging from campfires to cigarette and pipe smoking, are banned in and around forest land in 33 counties in northern lower Michigan and in all 15 Upper Peninsula counties.

Department of Natural Resources officials said a two-day-old fire atop Hogsback Mountain near Marquette was burning out of control Tuesday.

A DNR spokesman said an unattended campfire may have triggered that blaze. The DNR said no populated areas are threatened, although the Marquette skyline was blackened by clouds of smoke.

U.S. Rep. Philip Ruppe, R-Mich., called Tuesday for congressional hearings into federal fire management regulations that DNR officials say allowed the Seney fire to get out of control.

Ruppe said he would fly to the fire scene today, and demanded that the U.S. assistant interior secretary responsible for the Seney refuge accompany him.

Two northern Michigan legislators, Rep. Charles Varman, R-Manistiquie, and Sen. Robert Davis, R-Gaylord, also criticized the so-called federal

"letburn" policy.

Federal regulations require that fires which start in "dedicated wilderness" areas be allowed to burn unless they threaten lives, property or the environment. The Seney blaze started more than a month ago when lightning hit in such a wilderness area.

Workers at the Seney fire, meanwhile, said they would set "back-burns" — controlled fires in the path of the existing blaze — which they hope will consume trees, brush and other fuel and help contain the fire.

Weather permitting, the firefighters will burn out some 35,000 acres Thursday along the north and west sides of the wildlife refuge.

"The fire that is deliberately set will burn into the existing fire and that will be end of fuel supply," a spokesman explained.

One fire official said the fire "is not progressing rapidly at this time. It is not a dangerous situation. The firefighters, therefore, have the ability to wait for favorable weather conditions."

Spokesmen anticipated favorable temperature, humidity and wind conditions on Thursday.

The fire will be contained once the burn-out is completed, officials said. But Arnold Hargigan, a spokesman for the Federal Interagency Fire Control Center in Boise, Idaho, said the fire will burn in peat bogs "for weeks and months."

Hays Negotiating Deal To Halt Probe

WASHINGTON (AP) — Lawyers for Rep. Wayne L. Hays and the House Ethics Committee are negotiating a deal for Hays to resign from Congress in return for a halt to the panel's investigation of payroll-sex charges against him.

The bargaining hit a snag late Tuesday on a question of timing. The Ethics Committee was reported to be considering a resolution that said Hays was resigning effective Sept. 8, that the committee's payroll-sex inquiry would be suspended immediately when Hays' letter of resignation was delivered but that the investigation would not completely terminate until he actually resigns.

The Hays' case also is being investigated by the Justice Department to determine whether the congressman should be prosecuted. Any Hays' resignation would have no impact on that investigation.

A reliable source said the Ohio Democrat had been expected Tuesday to deliver his resignation letter to Speaker Carl Albert and then to the Ethics Committee.

But sources later said Hays' representatives had not left the letter with the committee. The Hays' representatives indicated they objected to the committee's reluctance to guarantee that its inquiry will end until Hays actually leaves office.

The Ethics Committee adjourned Tuesday without taking any action on its resolution to terminate the payroll-sex investigation and Chairman John J.

HAYS MAY RESIGN: Rep. Wayne L. Hays, whose "personal relationship" with Elizabeth Ray sparked a capitol sex scandal, is resigning from Congress effective Sept. 8, reliable sources said Tuesday (AP Wirephoto)

Flynn scheduled another meeting today. Judah Best, Hays' lawyer, and Hays' press secretary, Carol Clawson, met with Flynn and Ethics Committee staff members for more than an hour after that.

Mexican Peso Is Devalued

MEXICO CITY (AP) — After 22 years of getting 12½ pesos for a dollar, Americans should soon get about 20, or 60 per cent more, foreign bankers predicted today following the devaluation of the Mexican currency.

Treasury Secretary Ramon Beteta announced Tuesday night that the government was abandoning the fixed rate of exchange it had maintained since 1954 in an attempt to hold down the ballooning foreign trade deficit. Beteta said the peso would be allowed to "float," with its value determined by supply and demand.

Officials of foreign banks said the peso probably would stabilize at about 20 to the dollar.

The immediate effects will be to enhance Mexico as a tourist playground, if local hotels, restaurants and shops don't raise their prices accordingly, and to make Mexican products cheaper for foreign buyers. This should improve the balance of payments deficit, which has grown more than 400 per cent since 1970 to about $4 billion.

Tourism, Mexico's biggest industry, received the boost. The Bank of Mexico reported earlier this year that the country was pricing itself out of competition with Europe and the Caribbean.

The devaluation will also probably increase the inflation rate, reduced last year from 24 per cent to 16 per cent, by making imported products more expensive for Mexicans. To absorb some of the surplus money, Beteta said the government would impose a new tax on exports and on "excessive profits."

He said monetary controls would also be established to prevent currency speculators from capitalizing on the devaluation.

The devaluation may also have an adverse effect on business in the southernmost counties of Texas, New Mexico, Arizona and California, along the Mexican border.

"This will make Mexican citizens more tempted to buy in their own country," said a Chamber of Commerce spokesman in McAllen, Tex., where an estimated 38 per cent of all retail sales are made to Mexicans who cross the border to shop.

Medicaid No Showcase For More Health Care From The Government

For the past few years several states have probed into Medicaid's suspicious functioning.

Extensive efforts are under way in Massachusetts and Ohio to eliminate fraud and abuse, and recently The Chicago Tribune uncovered a similar queasy situation in Illinois.

Summarizing those investigations is a report filed a few days ago by a Senate Special Committee on Aging.

Senator Frank Moss, D., Utah, the chairman and six staff members disguised as unemployed laborers found widespread evidence of fraud, abuse, and over utilization. As to the quality of health care for the patients and the cost to the taxpayer, the staff members replied in the single word, "reprehensible."

The Moss panel targets New York City as the worst offender.

It discovered that 7 per cent of the Gotham physicians take in 50 per cent of the Medicaid payments and the upper 5 per cent are averaging $80,000 a year.

The most glaring example among those Medicaid mills are ones conducted by three chiropractors. Before Medicaid took effect in 1965, two of them had been driving taxis and the other worked as a butcher. Apparently Medicaid showed a rainbow to them because as licensed chiropractors each is raking in half a million annually from their Medicaid mills.

The Moss committee reports it has no firm figures on the number of Medicaid mills in the country, nor their income, but it projects annual receipts of $2.2 billion and that $1.5 billion of the total filters down to laboratories, pharmacies and other installations a step removed from the patient. The Tribune's probe indicates a close financial tie between the referring physician and those service installations.

Moss and his staffers experienced no trouble in receiving treatment for ailments faked by them and for others hatched out of the blue by the operators of the mills.

As one of them put it ever so succinctly to the Utah Senator, "Medicine is business today. Healing people is good medicine but poor business."

California, Michigan and New Jersey are other zones the Committee describes as medicating for profit, not for the patient.

Beyond the callous wasting of money the average taxpayer finds hard to come by, is the ripoff's effect on legitimate medical service.

Medicaid throws a terrific strain on the nation's hospitals, yet it does not recompense adequately the cost of the care they are morally bound to furnish.

Medicaid pays what its administrators figure to be the costs of the hospitals used. But these costs are often considerably less than actual costs. In Michigan, this situation threatens to worsen with the recent adoption of a new law that will reduce still further Medicaid payments in many kinds of cases to many hospitals.

Just to rub some more salt into that wound, the paying agencies take their own time in reimbursing the hospitals. A 90-day wait is commonplace.

What can be done to pull the ripoff down to manageable proportions?

The Moss committee offers no solution other than an intensified attack upon the fraud.

Conservatives such as New York's Senator James Buckley want a $1 billion cut in Medicaid's $15 billion budget.

The first suggestion is locking the barn after the horse is stolen.

The second punishes the innocent more than the guilty.

The major surgery has to be a revision in Medicaid itself.

Under present law the federal government's $15 billion budget supplies about half the cost of providing medical care to an estimated 25 million low income persons.

The Department of Health, Education and Welfare issues the guide lines on how the 50 states are to handle the program and the money.

These guide lines, at once complex and loose, actually depend for their day to day functioning on how the various state agencies chose to administer them.

The separate patterns woven between Washington and the state capitals are made to order for sharp minds to take advantage of a well intended, greatly needed program.

Cleaning up this administrative clutter and probably overhauling the basic statute behind it should be the first order of business for Congress, HEW and the state social agencies.

Until this is done, it would be folly beyond description to get into the comprehensive national health care plan being urged by Congressional liberals.

If Washington cannot handle a $15 billion mistake we shudder to think what the ripoff artists would do to total health care.

They Just Want To See How Bad Things Can Be

Perhaps French officials have their own version of the taxpayer-paid junket. No other explanation comes to mind for the visit of Parisian officials to New York City to learn firsthand how to run a large city.

It is true that Paris is going through a major transition from a city run by the national government to an independent metropolis in 1977, complete with its own elected mayor and all the accoutrements. Well, perhaps not all the accoutrements, but that is what is troubling about going to Mayor Beame's town for advice.

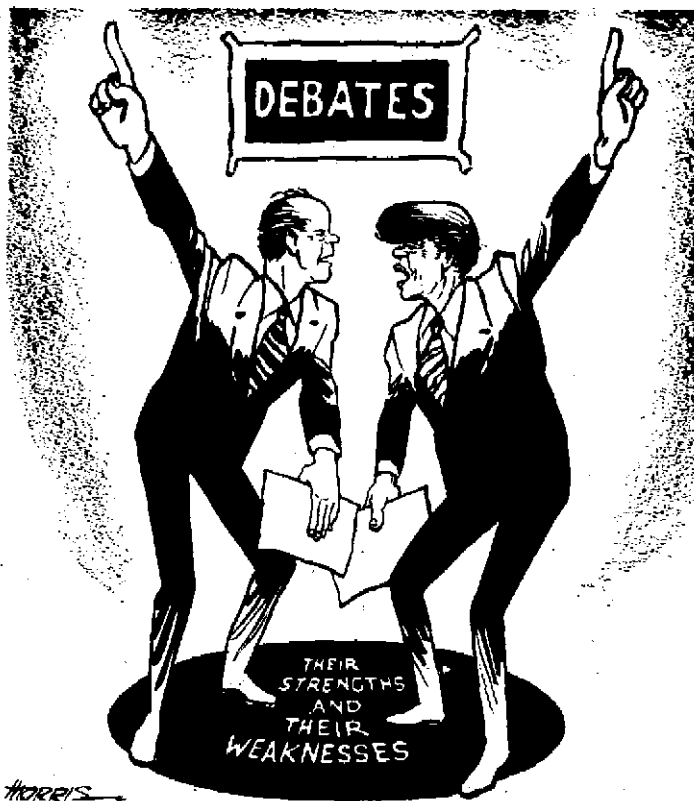

What French officials already have discovered in New York is a city retrenching its services as rapidly as it can so its checks will continue to clear the city treasury. Perhaps it is not such a bad idea at that. If the French visitors learning nothing else on their how-to-do-it trip, at least they are seeing what could happen to them if they don't do it right the first time.

Mayor Beame and his aides might even start a mini-industry for their city by offering similar courses to municipal officials everywhere — for a fee, of course.

POLITICIANS HOLD THE POWER TO TAX

Editor: It's not surprising the Los Angeles residents are stunned by the outrageous increases in property tax and assessments. Rudy Yurice's taxes shot from $881 to $1,454 last year. He's been trying to stretch his $82 a month retirement income by looking for bargains in stores. He says this year a new increase leaves him only one alternative, to sell, but the question is, would anyone dare buy a home where assessments and taxes are incredibly increased yearly. Well maybe yes, a politician who has not only the money but the power to reduce the taxes for himself.

Until these Congressional rip offs that keep recurring and fling at taxpayers' money are not stopped somehow then we can depend on being their patsies as long as they hold office. So next election let's vote in a new breed.

To bring to our attention just some of the benefits lawmakers have bestowed upon themselves, representatives and senators voted themselves a pay hike, tied their salaries to the cost of living so future increases will be automatic. Can the taxpayer who depends only on Social Security have this privilege? Of course not, he must wait until they are prepared to give him an increase.

Despite all the pious talks of closing loopholes, the House voted to increase from $3,000 to $7,600 tax deduction members get for living expenses in Washington. They enjoy free medical care for themselves and families. They do pay for hospital stays, but costs are way below those paid by ordinary persons. Representatives are allowed free 26 round trips home a year, and up to 45 for senators.

Free gymnasiums, swimming pools, tennis courts and massages are only part of the good life.

The first nine months last year, lawmakers, wives and staffers made approximately "200 free trips" on military planes to places all over the globe even to the fanciest resorts at a public cost of $1.3 million. The trips are said to be "official travel." Naturally, occasionally there is a public outcry usually short-lived.

When the fuss dies down, lawmakers grin and make more repeats into the public till for more dips.

Still Trying For 5 Mills

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit board of education will make another attempt Nov. 3 to get voters to approve a five mill property tax increase to restore programs sliced from the city's schools. The board decided to put the issue on the ballot again, after its defeat Aug. 3. Voters were told before the August election that defeat of the millage would mean a reduction in school hours for nearly all Detroit students, along with elimination of high school sports and a number of other cutbacks. Boys' football and girls' basketball were salvaged by a last-minute, $146,000 gift from the Bank of the Commonwealth. But officials said all other planned cuts will be in effect when school opens this week.

Three Twisters Touch Down

Three tornadoes touched down in rural areas of central Michigan Tuesday night, knocking down power lines and trees and injuring at least three persons. Lake County sheriff's officials said the touchdowns occurred within an hour of each other during a severe storm around 9:30 p.m. that cut across the middle of the state.

Three persons were slightly injured when their car hit a tree fallen across a road near Reed City in Oshtemo County, a sheriff's spokesman said. There were no reports of building damage during the storm, officials said.

If the cost of producing electricity by atomic energy continues to decrease as it has in recent months, there is a good chance that the Indiana & Michigan Electric company will start building a nuclear power plant near Bridgman in 1972. That is what newsmen were told Wednesday by Donald Cook, chairman of the board of directors of the American Electrical Power company, the parent firm of I&M.

This is circus day in Benton Harbor. Once again the callopie is playing on the circus grounds at Britain avenue ball park which is just another way of saying that the circus — the huge Clyde Beatty institution, with the world renowned Clyde Beatty — the man who gives battle to treacherous jungle beasts, and a vast assemblage of Spangieland's most noted stars and attractions, is in town.

The merger of the Benton Harbor Malleable Foundry company, the Benton Harbor Auto Machine company and the General Die Casting company was completed yesterday afternoon and the consolidated company, the Benton Harbor Malleable Industries, began business this morning. The officers of the new company are: President and treasurer, J.N. Klock; vice president, W.J. Banyon; secretary, H.S. Gray. The officers together with R.C. Easley, W.S. Robinson and James P. Dixon, form the new board of directors. Consolidation of the three big Graham avenue industries creates a concern of over a million dollars, all the fruit of little more than 20 years' development. The Benton Harbor Malleable is the oldest unit in the merger and grew to be the largest industry in the city despite the fact that 20 Years ago some local banks were hesitant to loan money for investment in company stock.

Berrien Springs — The trustees of the Emanuel training school have leased the old Dougherty building on the corner of Ferry and Mechanic streets and by October 1 expect to publish their first monthly magazine. Several big presses are being moved into the building together with a complete printing outfit. Workmen are unloading loads of household goods and machinery for the new college. The school year will open in October in the old courthouse building.

The hours for using city water in Benton Harbor for sprinkling purposes will be changed tomorrow. In the evening hours may be used between the hours of 5:30 and 7 o'clock. There will be no change in the morning hours.

Platform Is Up To Congress

WASHINGTON — The split within the Republican Party was quite clear at its national convention in Kansas City.

Strong-minded GOP liberals say they will not work unless President Ford veers more to their side of the fence. Strong-minded conservatives hint they will sit on their hands this fall unless the President bows closely to the Ronald Reagan line. Straddling this fence will be no easy task even for so amiable and conciliatory a candidate as Mr. Ford.

The Republican problem is all too clear. Jimmy Carter, however, faces party divisions less advertised but no less deep.

Take the Democratic platform. Unlike past documents, the 1976 edition was written precisely to conform to the candidate's own views and his promises. There were no Ford-Reagan-like compromises. The Carter convention position was so strong he was not forced to compromise on word or paragraph.

The ink has hardly dried on that Carter document. Yet the Democratic Congress majority, which must certainly will be the majority in the next Congress, has given up on passing what are undoubtedly the seven key planks in Carter's platform. The Democratic leadership has suggested opposition within its own ranks makes passage unlikely.

It is reported in fact that three fourths of the new breed of Democrats — the 81 Democratic freshmen — believe the Humphrey-Hawkins full-employment bill could hurt their chances of being re-elected. News accounts say they want it killed.

According to strong hints from its leadership, strong covert opposition within Carter's own party in Congress would likewise doom postcard voter registration so publicized by Carter, as well as national health insurance, thorough tax overhaul, control of handguns, reorganization of the food stamp program and legislation splitting the major oil companies. A spate of government reorganization proposals, aimed at efficiency, has died a quiet death. Apparently, so has zero budgeting and sunset proposals requiring agencies to be studied from the bottom up at specified intervals.

The Congressional investigation of corruption in the Senate and House has all but vanished.

This seems to mean that the Democratic majority has in effect stalled the bulk of what Carter is campaigning for — for now at least — as though it were a bag of hot potatoes.

Take these facts then add that in the Democratic primaries, 60 per cent of the votes went to Carter's opponents. It becomes clear Jimmy Carter and Sen. Walter Mondale face the same uphill fight as President Ford and Sen. Robert Dole.

The voter is thus faced with a dilemma. He knows so little of what Mr. Ford favors has gotten through an opposition Congress. He sees, too, that the Carter programs have fared equally badly with the Senate and House majority.

Whatever promises are made, and however sincere each candidate may be, how is the voter thus to know whether Mr. Ford or Carter can be effective, given the splits in Congress and among their own workers?

The President can exert negative control through the veto and Mr. Ford has been doing just that. But this is not the same as pushing through a program. What the situation thus promises at best, whoever is elected President, is a continuation of the status quo unless there's a mandate — a heavy vote for the winning Presidential candidate and significant defeat of Senators and Representatives who do not represent what the majority of Americans want.

Unfortunately, whatever happens in the presidential race, there's little evidence of a major change in the Congress this November.

Jeffrey Hart

Renee Richards' Existential Leap

The bizarre character of the situation in which Dr. Renee Richards finds herself tends to obscure the fact that the whole affair has important continuities with much that is central to modern existence.

Dr. Richards, formerly Dr. Richard Raskind, fits nicely into the important modern enterprise of the Revolt Against the Given.

When I first met Richard Raskind, he was playing a highly effective number one for the Yale varsity tennis team. After that, besides becoming a doctor, he went on to notable success as an eastern regional player, though he never achieved national or international stature. Well over six feet tall, and strongly built, he always played a powerful attacking game.

Now, after hormone therapy and surgery, the former Raskind has lost around 50 pounds and presents herself to the tennis world as Dr. Renee Richards, female, requesting admission to women's tournaments.

What effect the weight loss and therapy have had on her tennis capacity remains to be seen, but if Dr. Richards has retained even 50 per cent of Dr. Raskind's ability, she could raise hell in any women's tournament. Should she be allowed to compete?

The question, perhaps surprisingly, is not so easily answered. Here, as elsewhere, customary boundaries seem to be dissolving.

To an ever increasing extent, modern individuals do invent themselves. The circumstances of their parents is less and less decisive. That is one meaning of "opportunity." There exists a frontier today, but it tends to be psychological and social rather than geographical. Nevertheless, geography still plays a role. Dr. Richard Raskind of N.Y.C. "went West."

strange pioneer, becoming Dr. Renee Richards of Newport Beach, California.

In the past, biology itself seemed to be an unchangeable "given," but that too is under assault by the modern will to transform.

Organ transplants break down the boundaries of the biological being. It is possible, or at least soon will be, to control the sex of the embryo in the womb. The demand for abortion is a passionate cause, and it is one because it asserts the freedom of the individual will against the constraints of biology. Widespread contraception renders childbirth an act of free choice. In the future, perhaps, mutants will challenge the boundaries of the human as we understand them.

Existentialism, the distinctively modern philosophy, gives conceptual expression to all this. Life lived existentially, for Sartre, a "project" in which the self continually defines itself under conditions of "freedom." Significantly enough, Sartre's psychoanalytic theory denies the existence of the Freudian "unconscious." Any submission to biological or social constraint constitutes "bad faith."

Should Dr. Richards play at Forest Hills as a woman? One of the givens here is the fact that she still carries those male chromosome patterns. Not all experts, however, consider them definitive. Beyond that, should we accord the chromosome test absolute primacy?

No Teacher Pacts In 9 Area Districts

BY AL AREND
Staff Writer

Classes have started in several southwestern Michigan K-12 public school districts, but 28 per cent of the local teacher education associations have not yet ratified or reached tentative contract agreements with their school boards.

As of noon yesterday, nine of the 31 school districts contacted by this newspaper were still without a settlement and teachers in two districts, have started the school year Gobles and Berrien Springs without a contract.

Other education associations that have not ratified or reached tentative agreements include: Buchanan, New Buffalo, Bangor, Lawton, Dowagiac, Marcellus, and Saugatuck.

Lawton, which begins classes today, was reported "very close" to ratification. Buchanan teachers are expected to vote Thursday on ratification.

Teachers at Gobles and the board there apparently are not as close to ratification as in other districts, according to school officials.

The two have been negotiating since April and the school board has hired a professional negotiator, Atty. Douglas Paterson of Kalamazoo.

Yesterday morning Gobles

teachers reported to work without a contract, but Jerry Reed, chief negotiator for the Gobles Education association (GEA), said "the likelihood of withholding our (teachers) services increases as time goes by...right now were going to take a wait and see attitude."

Reed said the board's hired attorney "continued to keep progress at a snail's pace." Reed said too much time has been spent during negotiations on "repetition of redundant proposals."

Reed said one of the main issues is a board proposal to limit binding arbitration, "an issue that was completely sidestepped at Monday night's meeting." Other issues still pending, according to Reed, include teacher evaluations; class size; maintenance of clean classrooms; salary and fringe benefits.

Reed said it appears "the board is saying they're not going to propose any salary until they get the contract language they want."

A brief summary of other districts without teaching contracts follows:

Berrien Springs — Teachers are working without a contract and no immediate settlement in sight. Main issues are economics and contract language.

Buchanan — Reported close to settlement, teachers to vote on proposal Thursday.

New Buffalo — Started re-negotiating yesterday afternoon, after voter approval of key millage issue.

Bangor — Both sides have delayed further negotiations until after results of Sept. 9 millage issue.

Dowagiac — Supt. Lionel Stacey voiced guarded optimism saying "I think we're close to a tentative agreement."

He said the only issue is money. Marcellus and Saugatuck — Still negotiating with main issues being economics.

All other education associations have either ratified or reached tentative agreements on new contracts or are working on multi-year contracts.

Safety President Will Speak Here

Vincent Tofany, president of the National Safety Council, will be the guest speaker at a dinner meeting of the Safety Council of Southwestern Michigan Sept. 28. Tofany will speak to industrial and business representatives about accident cost factors and their effects. Robert Primley, executive director of the southwestern Michigan chapter, announced. The meeting begins at 6:30 p.m. in the St. Joseph Holiday Inn.

Tofany, 40, was elected National Safety Council president in 1973. He is an attorney and a native of Rochester, N.Y.

Tofany served as commissioner of the New York State Department of Motor Vehicles for nearly seven years before assuming his duties as safety council president. He was appointed to the commissioner's post on Jan. 1, 1967, and while serving in that job he helped develop a model traffic safety program that included an experimental driver rehabilitation program and a program for the administrative adjudication of traffic violations.

Tofany is currently a member of the National Academy of Science's highway research board's committee on motor vehicles and traffic safety.

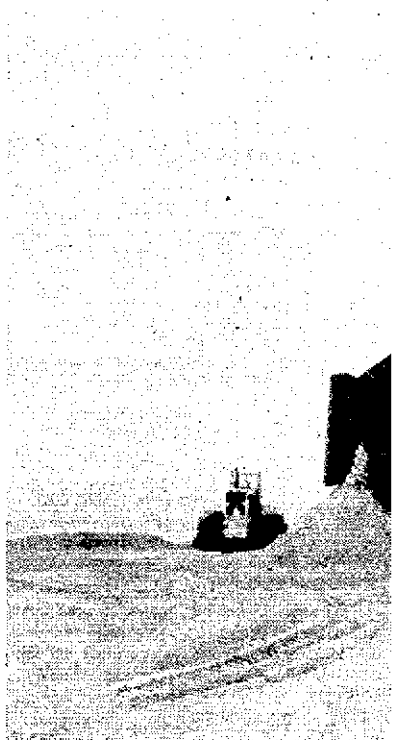

He is a graduate of St. Bonaventure University and the Albany, N.Y. Law School.

Whirlpool Corporation's St. Joseph division returned to production of automatic washers this week with 400 fewer employees than were working before a 14-week work stoppage caused by a lockout.

The 400 workers were notified last Friday they would be laid off indefinitely and eligible for unemployment compensation benefits, according to Jay Van Den Berg, director of industrial and community relations for the division.

The workers belong to Local 1919 International Association of Machinists. The union members were locked out of the plant after their contract with the division expired and they rejected a company offer May 7. The union voted Aug. 14 to accept a new contract, ending the company lockout.

Van Den Berg said the layoffs bring the total of union hourly employees at the division down to 1,200 from 1,600 in May.

Women Seeking Business Careers

NEW YORK — The number of college women planning careers in business has nearly quadrupled in the past decade, reports a joint study by University of California at Los Angeles and the American Council on Education.

One reason for this increased interest is new opportunities and another is purely financial, according to the September issue of Seventeen magazine. The average amount companies pay holders of a bachelor of arts in liberal arts is $9,000; a bachelor of science in business, $10,400; a master's in liberal arts, $10,900; and a master's in business administration (MBA), $13,000. After making it in business, the sky's the limit; many top executives earn upward of $100,000 a year.

Two especially promising business fields are banking and accounting.

Religious Education Tri-Parish Program Schedule Announced

Registration forms for Religious Education Classes for 1976-77 have been mailed to all families who participated last year in the Tri-Parish Religious Education program, according to Ron Demblowski, director.

A Religion Textbook presentation will be held Thursday, Sept. 2, at 7:30 p.m. at St. Joseph Catholic parish's annex in Stevensville.

The meeting is open to all interested parents and is required for Tri-Parish Religious Education teachers, according to Demblowski.

Miss Carolyn Lindemann, regional representative for Benzinger Publications, will present a general overview of the series, "The Word of Life," for grades one through eight, and teaching methods to be used. This textbook series, also being used in the Lake Michigan Catholic school system, will be used in the Tri-Parish Religious Education program this year.

The Religious Education classes for children who attend public schools, will begin Oct. 2 and 3.

Sessions for St. Joseph Catholic parish, St. Joseph, will be held at Lake Michigan Catholic high school, St. Joseph. Classes for kindergarten through 12th grades will be held at 9:15 and 10:45 a.m. Sundays. Classes for adults will be held at the same time.

Sessions for St. Joseph Catholic parish, St. Joseph, to be held at the annex in Stevensville, will be Saturdays at 9:15 and 10:30 a.m. for grades kindergarten through sixth, and for adults. Classes for grades seven through 12 will be held at the annex Sundays at 7 p.m.

Classes at St. John's Catholic parish, Benton Harbor, are scheduled Sundays at 10:15 a.m. for grades kindergarten through 12 and for adults.

Sessions at St. Bernard's Catholic parish, Benton Harbor, include those for grades one through four, and for adults at 9:30 a.m. Saturdays; for kindergarten at 9 a.m. Sundays, and grades five through eight, and for adults at 10 a.m. Sundays. High school students of St. Bernard's may attend either the sessions at St. Joseph or St. John's.

School Scene Jump Suit

BACK-TO-SCHOOL: Jump suits move into the back-to-school scene to wear with blouses or sweaters. This one is designed with looped self-belt, front zipper, and side-opened breast pockets in dacron, orlon, and rayon. Shirt is dacron and cotton.

Select Drapes Wisely

When ordering new drapes it is necessary to consider their effect on your comfort in winter. Drapes that block the warm air register will prevent sufficient heat from entering the room, warns the Better Heating-Cooling Council.

Each time the heat comes up, they will billow out and dance around, instead of staying gracefully in place, while the thermostat keeps calling for heat.

If there are electric heaters along the outside wall, the drapes must be cut to hang about six inches above the heater. Otherwise there is the risk of charring certain fabrics.

Feet Like Wood Floors

Dancers on stage or in a ballroom insist on wood floors. Housewives, too, know they're easier on the feet.

Say Farewell To Summer On Labor Day Weekend

Well, this is it.

Before long, the grill will be cleaned and tucked away in a garage or basement corner, swimsuits will give way to shoulder pads, football spikes and cheerleading sweaters and summer will alas be gone.

Give summer a big send off with a special patio party for Labor Day.

Skewered Steak and Vegetables is much more special than ordinary cookout fare, yet no more difficult to prepare than hot dogs or burgers. The special trick to this recipe is the basting sauce which you quickly stir together with Worcestershire sauce for added zip.

Quick and Easy Potato Salad is a great accompaniment along with hot rolls, fresh peach shortcake and lemonade or iced tea.

SKEWERED STEAK AND VEGETABLES

One-fourth cup Worcestershire sauce
One-fourth cup catsup
One-fourth cup vinegar
Two tablespoons brown sugar
Two pounds sirloin or chuck steak

Green peppers and cherry tomatoes

Stir together Worcestershire sauce, catsup, vinegar and brown sugar. Cut steak into cubes; arrange on skewers and brush with sauce. Grill over hot coals, turning frequently and brushing with sauce until done. Alternate peppers and tomatoes on skewers, brush with sauce and grill a few minutes, until hot. Makes six servings.

QUICK AND EASY POTATO SALAD

One envelope (five servings) mashed potato granules
One-fourth cup mayonnaise
One cup chopped celery
Two or three slices process American cheese, diced
Two tablespoons minced onion
Lettuce
Prepare mashed potatoes following directions on package, except reduce water to one cup; cool. Stir in mayonnaise, celery, cheese and onion. Chill. Serve on lettuce. Makes six servings.

"But why do they call it Labor Day?" When the kids pop that irksome question, be ready with the answer.

Just before the turn of the century, the Knights of Labor paraded in New York City on the first Monday in September, demanding that day be set aside to honor workers and the labor movement. In 1894 Congress decreed that the first Monday in September be set aside to honor labor and so it became a nationwide legal holiday.

Now that we've established the why, here are some recipes to provide the answer to how to celebrate this Labor Day.

Hamburger Hoagies are a hearty hamburger sandwich for a casual backyard picnic. Invite the neighbors over since this recipe will feed eight hungry people.

HAMBURGER HOAGIES

Two pounds ground beef
One envelope (one and three-fourths cups) chili mix
One-half cup water
Eight crusty rolls
Eight slices process American cheese
Two tomatoes, sliced
One onion, sliced

Combine ground beef, contents of chili mix envelope and water; shape eight patties to fit rolls. Grill over hot coals. Serve on rolls topped with cheese, tomato and onion.

BEAN AND CABBAGE SLAW

One-fourth cup oil
Two tablespoons prepared yellow mustard
One tablespoon sugar
One tablespoon vinegar
Four cups shredded or chopped cabbage

One to two cups cooked chilled beans (or one-pound can, drained)

Briskly stir together oil, mustard, sugar and vinegar. Combine cabbage and beans in salad bowl; add dressing and toss lightly. Makes eight servings.

SPICY MIDEAST BARBECUE SAUCE

One can (fifteen-ounce) spaghetti sauce with meat
Three tablespoons cider vinegar
Three tablespoons orange juice

Two tablespoons raisins
Dash cinnamon
Dash nutmeg
Dash ginger
One tablespoon dehydrated onion

One teaspoon lemon rind
One-fourth teaspoon hot pepper sauce
Combine all ingredients in small saucepan. Cover; simmer for 10 minutes. Let stand overnight.

SPICY SQUARE HAMBURGERS

One pound ground hamburger
Eight to twelve slices bread
Four to six slices American cheese

Combine ground hamburger with one-fourth cup Spicy Barbecue Sauce. Divide into four to six portions. Form into squares. Broil six-inches from charcoal, baste with spicy sauce. Toast bread on both sides; add slice of cheese. When hamburgers are finished, place on toasted cheese bread. Serves six to eight.

Giant Burgers does big things for that old stand by, the grilled hamburger. Season the ground beef with an envelope of hamburger seasoning mix and tomato juice, then tuck a cube of cheese inside each burger for an added taste surprise.

GIANT BURGERS

Relish Topping (recipe below)

One pound ground beef
One envelope (one-ounce) hamburger seasoning mix
One-fourth cup tomato juice

Four or five small cubes of cheese
Four or five hamburger rolls, split

Prepare relish topping as directed below. Stir together ground beef, contents of seasoning mix envelope and tomato juice; shape four or five patties, enclosing a cube of cheese in each. Grill over hot coals or broil 10 to 15 minutes, turning once, until done. Serve on rolls topped with relish. Makes four or five servings.

Relish Topping: Cut kernels from one ear of cooked corn (or use one-half cup drained canned corn). Combine with one cup finely chopped cabbage, one-fourth cup mayonnaise, one tablespoon each vinegar and chopped tomato.

BAKED BEAN BONANZA

Two cans (one-pound each) pork and beans or baked beans
One cup miniature marshmallows

Three tablespoons prepared yellow mustard

Combine all ingredients in shallow casserole. Bake at 400 degrees for 20 to 30 minutes, until bubbling hot. Makes six servings.

A party menu that will be easy on you, but memorable for your guests, can be planned around turkey, cooked slowly to a golden brown on the backyard grill.

Accompanied with potato salad, zucchini squash and Italian bread sticks, the turkey can be cooking while you and your guests relax on the patio.

For easy outdoor cooking a self-basting bird takes the guesswork out of outdoor grilling.

To serve 10, a 12 to 14 pound unstuffed hen turkey is the right size and is suitable for outdoor cooking. You will need a large covered grill, a pan or piece of foil beneath the turkey to catch drippings and you must be sure to have a hot fire.

The turkey should be placed in the middle of the grill so it will cook evenly. To keep heat constant, coals must be added from time to time. Because of the variety of grills on the market, it is best to follow your grill manufacturer's instructions for cooking tips.

Use a meat thermometer to determine when the turkey is done. Insert the thermometer in the center of the thigh next to the body, but be careful not to touch a bone. The turkey must be cooked until an internal temperature of 180-185 degrees is reached.

To accompany the turkey, the following recipes for potato salad, zucchini squash and Italian bread sticks may be used.

PATIO POTATO SALAD

Twelve slices bacon, crisply cooked, crumbled
Six cups chopped cooked potatoes
Three hard-cooked eggs, chopped

Three-fourths cup salad dressing

One-half cup chopped celery
One-fourth cup chopped onion
One and one-half teaspoons salt

Combine ingredients; mix thoroughly. Chill. Makes eight to ten servings.

ZUCCHINI GRILL

Two zucchini squash, cut lengthwise
One-half cup butter or margarine, melted
One-fourth teaspoon garlic powder

Grated Parmesan cheese
Place zucchini in boiling, salted water. Cook five minutes; drain. Combine butter or margarine and garlic powder; brush on cut surfaces. Sprinkle with cheese. Grill 10 minutes or until heated through. Makes 10 servings.

ITALIAN BREAD STICKS

One cup flour
One teaspoon oregano
One-half teaspoon salt
Dash of garlic powder
One-fourth cup butter or margarine, softened
One cup (four ounces) shredded

One-fourth cup water

Heat oven to 400 degrees.

Combine flour and seasonings; cut in butter or margarine and cheese. Stir in water; shape dough into a ball. Knead until dough holds together. Shape tablespoonfuls of dough into sticks one-half-inch thick and six-inches long; place on cookie sheet. Bake at 400 degrees for 20 minutes; remove sticks from cookie sheet immediately. Makes 24 sticks.

ANTIPASTO FRUIT SALAD

One head iceberg lettuce

One-half cup salad oil

One-fourth cup lemon juice
One tablespoon prepared mustard

One-half teaspoon salt
One-half teaspoon savory, crumbled
One-half teaspoon coarse black pepper

Two tangerines
One avocado
One banana

Core, rinse and thoroughly drain lettuce. Chill in disposable plastic bag or plastic crisper. Combine oil, lemon juice, mustard and seasonings in jar; cover and shake well. Peel and section tangerines.

Halve avocado; discard seed and skin and slice fruit into crescents. Peel and slice banana.

Place fruits in groups in shallow pan; pour dressing over. Cover closely and chill about one hour, basting fruit occasionally. Tear enough lettuce into bite-size pieces to yield four cups loosely packed; chill any remainder for use another time.

Turn torn lettuce into shallow bowl or platter. Spoon fruits onto lettuce in concentric circles. Pour any remaining dressing over all. Makes about six servings.

Keep Appliance Gleaming

Frost-free refrigerators mean less work in defrosting, but an occasional cleaning of the freezer compartment is necessary — and easy!

Start by turning off the unit. Remove frozen food and store in refrigerator or wrap in newspaper so it stays frozen. Empty ice cube trays and take out all removable parts. Wash and rinse in warm soaps.

Clean inside walls, door and gasket around the door with a solution of one tablespoon baking soda to one quart of water. This will keep the interior odor-free. Wash the exterior of the appliance. Dry the entire unit and parts thoroughly. Replace ice cube trays, parts and food. Turn the control on. Periodically, wash the interior of the refrigerator in the same way.

Brando Likes Simple Luxury

Q: What kind of lifestyle does Marlon Brando enjoy when he retreats to that island hideaway he has in the south Pacific? Is it simple or luxurious there? — G.H., Beacon, N.Y.

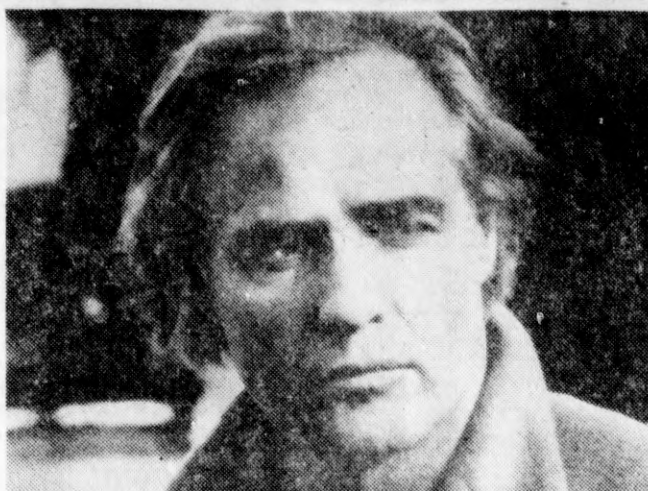

A: Simplicity is the keynote. However, we have heard two bits of information that make it clear Brando isn't living like a castaway. He has ordered six rickshaws for his paradise, and also rumor has it that Marlon has one of the biggest collections of Tony Bennett records and plays them constantly.

Q: Where did that adorable Ronnee Blakley, the girl who sang "My Idaho Home" in the film "Nashville," disappear to? I've been hoping to see her in another movie. — J.W., Denver, Colo.

A: Ronnee was supposed to do another film for Nashville director Robert Altman, but she got into a hassle with him over a record album, and he isn't speaking to her. She's been trying to get it together as a club singer and has been appearing in small night spots around the country this summer. It's tough work and she hasn't been having an easy time of it.

Q: You recently mentioned Ethel Kennedy as dating New York's Gov. Hugh Carey. I'd like to know about her sister-in-law, Pat Kennedy Lawford. Is there a man in her life? — G.G., Boston, Mass.

A: Pat Lawford, 51, has been seen on the Costa Esmeralda in Sardinia with Antonio D'Amico, a handsome shipping tycoon from Naples. What is it about these shipping fleet owners that makes them so attractive?

Q: What's this about Norman Mailer acting in a movie with porno star Marilyn Chambers? — D.D., Pawling, N.Y.

A: Actually Mailer had to withdraw from Nicholas Ray's film, "City Blues," because the starting date was delayed and ended up conflicting with the time he had promised to spend with his children. The movie, which features Marilyn and also Rip Torn, isn't a porno film. Marilyn wants to go straight, and Mailer has more sense than to go porno.

Q: Is Robert Shaw's 24-year-old daughter, Debbie Shaw, an actress? — H.A., Haverford, Pa.

A: Debbie, one of Shaw's nine children, has been working as an apprentice in the London Theater. She loves the entertainment business, but wants to be a director rather than an actress. One reason is that she watched the gradual decline of her stepmother, Mary Ure, who fell into a depression as she grew older and her career diminished.

QUESTION YOU NEVER ASKED What item was selling like the proverbial hot cakes at the Republican national convention? It was a can attractively packaged and labeled "Washington Hot Air." Two young men hoping to capitalize on a fad like Pet Rocks were selling the cans for $2 apiece and, surprisingly enough, were doing a good business among the delegates.

Q: Will Richard Burton make the movie version of "Equus" as soon as he finishes "The Heretic"? — M.M., Port Washington, N.Y.

A: Those were the plans. However, shooting of "The Heretic" has been delayed because John Boorman, the director, contracted a mysterious lung ailment. Also trouble in Ireland has caused producers to switch the film location of "Equus" to Canada.

Q: I saw some pictures of Brigitte Bardot with a pet baby seal she was keeping in her swimming pool. Does she still have it? — I. McB., Saratoga, Calif.

A: The seal got too big for the pool and too much for B.B. to handle, so she donated Chou-Chou to Marineland on the French Riviera. Unfortunately, the seal is spoiled, won't play with the other seals and will only eat fish soup and bottled milk. The Marineland

'Your Problems' By Ann Landers

He Likes Hairy Ladies

Dear Ann Landers: I was disturbed by your regressive and insipid advice to the hairy lady whose husband insisted she shave her legs and armpits before donning her swimsuit. Our culture is screwed up, not the lady. Hair removal is NOT the answer. Education is.

You have done a disservice to your readers by not pointing out that this practice of self-mutilation is not only demeaning, but downright anti-erotic.

I'm a middle-aged man, happily married, and unashamedly confess I am turned on by the unshaven good-looks of women. The females must be perpetuating this silly practice of hair removal because I have yet to meet a man who doesn't think a woman's hairy legs and armpits are sexy.

Shaving is a nuisance. It's up to each and every woman to decide for herself whether or not she wants to do it. For those who don't I hope this letter will give them the courage to combat criticism. — I Like Hair

Dear I.L.H.: American women with hairy armpits and legs will need more than courage. I can't imagine a less appetizing sight.

Sons No Help

Dear Ann: May I comment on the letter from the 62-year-old man who kept up the lawn, shoveled the snow and did errands for an 80-year-old neighbor lady? (She happened to be his mother-in-law.) Her own son lived right next door but he never lifted a finger to help. I figures.

Sons help their mothers-in-law while sons-in-law help their wives' mothers.

This works out just dandy, except for those of us who didn't happen to give birth to daughters — like me.

I raised five boys and every single one has turned his back on me and taken up with his in-laws. Count me among the 70 per cent who, if they had it to do over again, would NOT have had children. — Ignored In San Jose

Dear Ignored: The situation you describe is not uncommon, although it sometimes works in reverse.

Here's a poem I learned from my mother many years ago (she had four daughters):

A son is a son until he takes a wife.

ANN LANDERS

A daughter is a daughter all of her life.

Be Serious

Dear Ann Landers: This isn't a problem. It's a statement to all you dieters out there.

When I entertain I will gladly provide for people who are serious about following diabetic, low-sodium, low-cal, high-fiber, low-cholesterol or high-protein diets. But for you chronic weight-watchers who have been yo-yoing up and down for 20 years — lost and put back hundreds of pounds — please don't accept an invitation to my home for dinner and tell me the reason you aren't hungry is because you gorged yourself the day before on a lot of junk. — Cater Hater

Dear Cater: I don't know about your friends, but I pace myself. When I know I'm going to an elegant dinner party on Saturday, I go easy on Friday. The greatest compliment you can pay a hostess is to eat, eat, eat.

It's not always easy to recognize love, especially the first time around. Acquaint yourself with the guidelines. Read Ann Landers' booklet, "Love or Sex and How To Tell the Difference." For a copy, mail 30 cents in coin and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 1400, Elgin, Ill. 60120.

I was watching a situation comedy series the other night of a typical American family. This family laughed until they got sick.

Every time Daddy opened his mouth, he was a scream. The mother was a stitch. And the kids were absolute geniuses at spewing out hilarious retorts. I looked around at my group. My husband was deeply depressed over the paper. (He's looked like that since he let his GI insurance lapse.) One child was on the phone insisting, "I don't believe it" every minute and a half. Another was locked in his room with the stereo on and the other was staring morosely into the refrigerator waiting for something to embrace him.

"You know the trouble with this family? We're not funny. All the other families in the world are sitting around throwing away one-liners and having a barrel of laughs. 'Hawaii Five-O' gets more laughs than we do."

The next night as I heard my husband's car in the garage I shouted, "Hey gang, heeereeees Daddy!"

"Well," said our son, "if it isn't our father whose wallet is full of big bills... all unpaid."

"What's the matter with you?" asked my husband. "You're on your feet. Has your car been repossessed?"

"Dyyyyyooooommm!" said our youngest. (I almost fell off the chair.)

"Hey Mom!" said a son, "what do you get if you take a fender from a Chevy, the chrome from a Ford and the hubcaps from a Pontiac?" I shook my head. "Six months!"

"A rubber hose up your nose," I said amid laughter.

"So," said my husband, "I thought you were going to straighten up the hose."

"Why?" I asked. "Is it tilted?" (Group doubling over.)

"Incidentally, did you hear Mel just got a poodle for his wife?"

"I wish I could make a trade like that," he said.

"Hey dad," said our daughter, "the dog just ate Mom's meat loaf."

"Don't cry," he said, "I'll buy you another dog."

Mother poked her head in the door. "Got any coffee?"

We all slumped in our chairs exhausted. Thank God for commercials.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) You know what needs to be done today, but you'll expend only a portion of your talents in doing it. Consequently, your reward will be small.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Don't be upset with subordinates today because they're not producing as you feel they should. Possibly it will be because of your example.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Gambling on the unknown today will prove to be a costly folly. It's best to believe only what you can grasp in mind or hand.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Your spirit is willing today but the flesh is woefully weak. It's unlikely you'll exhibit the resolve to overcome a tough problem.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) You have a tendency today to start projects you're not apt to finish. A clutter-up workroom will probably result.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Don't expect too much from people you know only as passing acquaintances today. There's no substitute for tested friends.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) There is apt to be friction in your household today, but don't seek to place the blame on others. It could be your car that's troubling the waters.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 22) Crystal gazing for trouble that might happen is the way of fortune tellers. Keep your cool. Attack problems when they occur.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Don't seek scapegoats today for foul-ups that can be directly attributed to you. Everyone will know who the real culprit is.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) The least effective weapon you could use today is intimidation of underlings. Just remember: Every dog has his day.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) If you're disturbed about something today, don't stew about it silently. The only way to get relief is to bring the matter into the open.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Try not to badger pals over picayune issues today. It's far better to strengthen bonds of friendship than to weaken them.

It isn't hard to get to a slam with today's hand. South has a sound opening bid and North is looking at 17 good high-card points.

North wanted to bid six notrump. He had a notrump-type hand and everyone wants to be declarer, but finally North settled for six hearts.

It was a wise decision indeed. Six notrump is doomed to failure. In fact, six notrump might well go down two tricks.

South wasn't too happy with his six-heart contract. He studied the hand for some time and then played dummy's king of clubs. He wanted to retain the ace of clubs as an entry to his own hand. Then South went after diamonds. He cashed dummy's king of trumps, came to his hand with the ace of clubs, played his ace and queen of trumps, conceded a trump trick to West who had been unkind enough to hold four trumps and claimed the balance.

Suppose diamonds had broken badly. South would not have made his contract, but as stated earlier it was not a really good start.

ASK THE JACOBYs

A California reader asks the old question: "Is there any law that requires a player who opens with a forcing two bid to go on to game?"

The answer is "No!" There is no law and no reason not to stop if you don't think you can make game. However, if you do stop and game makes, your partner is likely to be angry.

(Do you have a question for the experts? Write "Ask the Jacobys" care of this newspaper. The Jacobys will answer individual questions if stamped, self-addressed envelopes are enclosed. The most interesting questions will be used in this column and will receive copies of JACOBY MODERN.)

collections and from public and private collections throughout the United States. The exhibition includes between 35 and 40 works of art and is part of the museum's Bicentennial celebration.

Entitled "Paintings by New England Provincial Artists: 1775-1800," the display will be at the museum until Oct. 17.

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The Michigan Supreme Court was expected to decide today whether two feuding factions of the American Independent Party can appear separately on the Nov. 2 ballot.

Last week the Court of Appeals ordered both sides be included on the general election ballot, since state law is not clear on how to deal with such party splits.

The party has a guaranteed spot on the ballot, but both sides sued the state when they were told that only one slate of candidates could appear.

Election officials will likely breathe a sigh of relief if the appeals court decision is overturned by the high court, since that would reduce the number of parties for the ballot to 10.

Voting machines used by most Michigan voters can handle 10 parties this year, but more than 10 could force the state to use expensive paper ballots or redesign the ballot itself, election officials say.

Today was the deadline for a final resolution of the matter, according to election officials, since candidates for all parties that will appear on the Nov. 2 ballot must be certified by Thursday.

Earlier this year the Secretary of State's office told the party that only one of its two slates could appear on the ballot.

But Southfield attorney James Welis, an already-certified candidate for the Michigan Supreme court, maintained that 19th-century state Supreme Court decisions set a precedent for allowing both slates on the ballot.

Last spring the state attorney general's office said so much time has passed since those court decisions that it's not clear whether they still apply, especially since more recent decisions in other states' courts allow only one slate.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger will try to promote elections in Namibia and a political role there for a black militant group when he meets this weekend in Zurich, Switzerland, with Prime Minister John Vorster of South Africa.

U.S. officials say he will also urge Vorster to withdraw South African troops from the territory and to take steps respecting the human rights of Namibia's 800,000 black inhabitants.

MOUNT PLEASANT, Mich. (AP) — An anonymous caller with a guilty conscience told police to check the men's room at the Mount Pleasant Municipal Building Tuesday.

They did, and found a citizen's hand radio which may have been stolen.

The caller, who refused to identify himself, told police he woke up with a hangover and a CB radio on the pillow next to his head.

The caller said he couldn't quite remember what had happened the night before, but he believed he stole the radio from a pickup truck while he was drunk.

ing the legislative appropriation bill today to deny funds for the pay raise that otherwise will come automatically Oct. 1.

For two years, the pay of members of Congress has been tied to the over-all government formula that provides for cost-of-living increases. If it is allowed to go into effect, the 1976 raise will increase members' salaries from $44,600 to about $46,730.

While key Democrats and Republicans agreed on the principle of foregoing the pay hike, they squared away for a rough partisan fight on other proposals that the GOP minority is pushing in the name of congressional reform.

Limiting perquisites and tightening House fiscal practices has been a prime political issue in the wake of the sex-payroll scandals that mostly involved accusations against Democrats.

At the behest of the House Democratic caucus, the Democratic majority on the Rules Committee authorized floor consideration of amendments that would bar any pay raise through Sept. 30, 1977. The committee turned down

Republican demands that the appropriations bill be opened up for a variety of other amendments.

The Republican Policy Committee said that if the Democratic majority refuses to Let other amendments come to a vote, "then charges will be justified that the House remains a semi-secret club, self-perpetuating itself with generous allowances and benefiting from hiring practices, perquisites

Besides barring the pay raises, the Democratic caucus-sponsored amendments would give statutory backing to the Review Commission and to a resolution trimming the authority of the House Administration Committee, formerly headed by Rep. Wayne L. Hays, D-Ohio, to increase members' allowances without a vote of the whole House.

A black and white portrait of a woman with short, curly hair, smiling and resting her chin on her hand. The image is high-contrast and grainy, typical of a photocopy.

The Ann Person Method is my very own revolutionary new method of sewing that allows every woman to sew beautiful clothes in a fraction of the time of ordinary sewing. I have always believed that women who sew should have the material and techniques available to sew quality clothes—I mean clothes that you cannot tell from designer-made. I know, because I am a home sewer, that women who sew at home are fashion-conscious.

This is not ordinary sewing.

The Ann Person Method gives a woman the ability to create her special look with her own absolute custom-fit. No woman's body is just like any other's, and very few of us have perfect figures. That's why Stretch & Sew has several sizes in each pattern, insuring ease in adjustment to make perfect-fitting garments every time.

FBI's Kelley Should Be Fired For Taking Gifts, Prober Says

By MARGARET GENTRY
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Justice Department investigation probing charges against FBI officials says FBI Director Clarence M. Kelley should be fired for accepting gifts from his subordinates, according to an informed source.

The source said the recommendation that Kelley be fired as FBI director was one of two suggestions placed before Atty. Gen. Edward Levi three weeks ago. Levi, who has been on vacation, has taken no action on the recommendations.

The second Justice Department recommendation disagrees with the first recommendation and proposes a public reprimand for Kelley instead of dismissal, the source said.

Both recommendations came after Kelley admitted to a Justice Department task force investigating allegations against bureau officials that he accepted gifts from subordinates. Among the gifts listed were a $200 walnut table, a $250 clock, a $250 easy chair and a handmade teak and mahogany jewelry box, the source said.

John M. Dowd, who heads the Justice Department probe into charges of misconduct by FBI officials, was the official who called for firing Kelley, according to the source.

The Washington Post reported today that Dowd's reasoning was that Kelley could not properly control subordinates after they had given him expensive presents. This could not be immediately confirmed.

Michael E. Shaheen Jr., who heads the department's Office of Professional Responsibility, disagreed with Dowd's recommendation and suggested the public reprimand, the source said. Shaheen is Dowd's immediate superior.

Kelley issued a statement Tuesday acknowledging that he had received Christmas and anniversary gifts from his office staff and from senior FBI officials. He said he was "prepared to make restitution for any of such gifts which are not clearly permitted" by federal law.

Kelley issued the statement after the Washington Star reported that FBI workers installed drapery valances in his apartment shortly after he took office in mid-1973.

Reform School Staffer Suspended

WHITMORE LAKE, Mich. (AP) — A staff member at the state boys reformatory who released two Detroit delinquents under threat of an armed gang raid has been suspended, state officials said Tuesday.

The staff member, Larry Taylor, freed the 16-year-old delinquents Saturday after two other youths fired a pistol into a dormitory at the W.J. Maxey Boys Training School in an unsuccessful attempt to free the pair, officials said.

Two Green Oaks Township police officers returned the teen-agers to the reformatory three hours later.

Security at the reformatory, which houses some 300 youths, has been tightened since the incident and police now guard the institution's grounds at night, authorities said.

Meanwhile, the senior judge of the Wayne County Juvenile Court said Tuesday that security at the Wayne County Youth Home in Detroit must also be increased to deter attacks on that detention center.

Judge James Lincoln said youths in two cars threatened a Wayne County sheriff's deputy on Tuesday morning.

He told a hearing in Detroit that the youths pointed an object which looked like a shotgun at the deputy, who jumped behind a pillar to radio for help.

The youths then shouted, "We'll get you pigs next time," and sped away, Lincoln said.

Both Lincoln and Wayne County Sheriff William Lucas told the hearing that as few as four armed individuals could take over the youth home.

"My grandmother, God bless her, who has been dead since '36, could take that youth home," Lincoln said.

Lucas asked Wayne County commissioners to provide for six additional deputies for the complex. It is guarded by only one armed deputy at night, he said.

TO OPEN FESTIVAL
VAIL, Colo. (AP) — First lady Betty Ford, a one-time dancer herself, will fly to Chicago this weekend to open the Fifth Lithuanian Folk Dance Festival.

Debate Discussions Continue

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford and Jimmy Carter are sending their rival negotiators back to work to draft ground rules for the presidential campaign debates both candidates seek.

The major issue to be settled as negotiators return to work today apparently is the question of what the candidates will debate.

Republican Ford and Democrat Carter both have proposed that their personal campaign specialties be staked out as topics for the first debate, likely to be conducted during the third week of September.

Those proposals, like the issues of the number, duration and timing of the debates, may yield to compromise in order to get the show on before the national television audience.

Ford spoke to the conference of the National Guard Association today, praising increases in the defense budget. He didn't mention Carter, but the Democratic nominee has said that "improved management techniques" could cut $5 billion to $8 billion from Ford's record defense budget of more than $100 billion.

Ford also told the military audience he opposes efforts to cut U.S. troop strength abroad. Again he did not mention Carter, but Carter has said NATO member nations should take more responsibility for the defense of Europe and has suggested that most U.S. troops now in Korea, Thailand and the Philippines could be withdrawn.

The League of Women Voters got clearance on Monday from the Federal Election Commission to sponsor and finance the debates, which could cost $150,000.

But there remained a possibility that independent candidate Eugene J. McCarthy or former Georgia Gov. Lester Maddox, candidate of the American Independent party, might go to court in an effort to block televised debates matching only Ford and Carter.

While the debate talks were resumed, Carter returned to Plains, Ga., after a day of campaigning in Washington and New York.

In Washington, the presidents of 108 AFL-CIO unions promised a massive voter registration and turnout campaign in behalf of the Democratic ticket. Carter also met Tuesday with Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., who said he would actively campaign for the Carter ticket.

Carter met privately with the National Council of Catholic Bishops, and got a cooler reception there because he has declined to support a constitutional amendment to forbid abortion.

"We continue to be disappointed with the governor's position," said Bishop Joseph Bernardin, chairman of the council.

Carter also renewed his proposal that the terms of chairman of the Federal Reserve Board coincide with those of presidents. The board governs the nation's money supply, and its members are appointed to 14-year terms, with one member designated chairman.

Union Calls Pact Offer 'Insult To Ford Workers'

By OWEN ULLMANN
Associated Press Writer
DETROIT (AP) — The United Auto Workers debated whether to return to the bargaining table today after rejecting a Ford Motor Co. offer on a new contract as "regressive" and "an insult to Ford workers."

UAW President Leonard Woodcock warned after reviewing Tuesday's proposal that Ford has "one hell of a long way" to go to produce a settlement and avert a crippling nationwide strike by 167,000 workers before the current three-year pact expires at midnight Sept. 14.

The Ford proposal included an average 52½ cents an hour in new wages over three years, continued cost-of-living (COL) protection and a new health plan that would force workers to pay for some medical care.

The union was to decide whether to resume main table discussions today after it assesses the company offer and plans its next bargaining strategy. In the meantime, the union told Ford negotiators to be on "standby" for a resumption of talks.

The average Ford worker now makes $6.88 an hour in straight pay, of which $1.70 has come under the current pact — 56 cents in general hikes and $1.14 in COL money triggered by soaring inflation.

"This is the most regressive offer in all my years of bargaining in the auto industry," Woodcock declared. "They have put an impossible offer on the table and if they think we're going to chase them because we're leery of a strike, they've made a very bad guess."

The nation's No. 2 automaker, in its first economic proposal after six weeks of bargaining, also offered an unspecified additional wage hike for skilled tradesmen; improvements in life and disability insurance and parts of the pension plan, and a restructured benefits fund for laid-off workers to give high-seniority employees better protection from another round of massive layoffs which might exhaust the fund.

Woodcock said the package was "entirely unresponsive" to the union's 1976 priority demands for bolstering job and income security, including a shortening of work time and improved unemployment benefits for all laid off workers.

Woodcock also condemned the proposal as "a major takeover program which would cost the present Ford worker several hundred dollars a year." He referred to sections calling for:

—Employee "co-payments" for health care, now paid almost entirely by the automaker.

—Reduction in wage scales and benefits for new and rehired employees.

—Stiffer penalties reducing vacation days for chronically absent workers.

—Using portions of general or COL wage hikes to pay for additional benefits negotiated.

The UAW has made Ford its target for setting the industry pattern on new pacts covering some 700,000 auto workers. In 1967, the last time Ford was the target, the firm was struck for 86 days.

Ford's top bargainer, Vice President Sidney F. McKenna, said the union's reaction to the proposal has not reduced his optimism that an agreement could be reached before the strike deadline.

OFFERED AND REJECTED: Ford Motor Vice President Sidney F. McKenna (left) tells newsmen Tuesday about the company's new contract proposal while United Auto Workers President Leonard Woodcock termed the proposal "the most regressive offer in all my years of collective bargaining." 170,000 UAW workers will be affected by Sept. 14 strike deadline.

Austin, O'Hara: Flesh Willing But Heart Weak

By SUSAN AGER
Associated Press Writer
LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The two men who lost a chance at the U.S. Senate to Don Riegle say they will support his bid for the seat. But if they are behind him wholeheartedly, no one knows it.

Both are said to harbor some bitterness over the Flint

Congressman's surprise victory in the Aug. 3 primary, where he soundly beat frontrunner Secretary of State Richard Austin.

Neither Austin nor Congressman James O'Hara, the other loser, mentioned Riegle in speeches before the state Democratic convention last weekend in which they pledged support to the party ticket.

O'Hara, a lifelong Democrat, says he is still "kind of bothered" by Riegle, mainly because he has been a Democrat for only three years.

Riegle switched parties in 1973 in disgust with the Nixon administration and the Vietnam War.

Before the primary, O'Hara, 50, had called Riegle a "political transvestite." At the convention, when asked about the remark, he said of Riegle, "He's still a political transvestite but at least he's our political transvestite and not theirs."

Austin said Tuesday he is "100 per cent behind the Democratic ticket."

But when asked if he had any reservations about Riegle, he replied: "I'm promoting unity now, and I don't believe any expression of reservations would necessarily promote unity."

Riegle Gets Last Laugh Over Esch's Baloney Joke

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (AP) — Ann Arbor Congressman Marvin Esch's comment last weekend about Don Riegle, baloney sandwiches and a classy Michigan restaurant chain left Riegle chuckling this week.

Riegle, a Flint Congressman, is Esch's Democratic opponent for the U. S. Senate seat being vacated by retiring Democratic Sen. Philip Hart.

"Believe me, replacing Phil Hart in the Senate with Don Riegle would be akin to ordering a baloney sandwich at Win Schuler's," said Esch, a Republican, in a speech delivered to the party's state convention here.

Little did Esch know that Schuler had contributed $1,000 to Riegle's primary campaign, Riegle said Tuesday.

Esch's speech was changed from the advance text distributed before he spoke. In that version, he referred to the election of Riegle as ordering "a hot dog."

United Way Picks Petzel As Kick-Off Banquet MC

Stanley G. Petzel, president of Appliance Buyers Credit corporation, has been named master of ceremonies for the 1976 Blossomland United Way Kick-Off banquet, according to Dr. Walter Browne, general campaign chairman. The annual event is scheduled for Tuesday, Sept. 14, in the student union at Lake Michigan College.

STANLEY PETZEL, United Way Emcee

Petzel is a director of the Twin Cities Area Chamber of Commerce and serves on the United States Chamber of Commerce Committee on money, banking and fiscal affairs. He is chairman of the board of trustees of the National Foundation for Consumer Credit. Petzel holds a B.S.C. degree from Northwestern University.

DIANE HANSON, Appearing At Kickoff

Petzel will direct the activities at the public banquet which yearly recognizes the value of volunteers in the fund-raising effort. Bobby Knight, coach of the NCAA championship Indiana University basketball team, will challenge the BUW pledge seekers to score their biggest victory to date, $775,000. Reservations for the $7.50 prime rib dinner may be called to 983-6515.

Harold Andrus, 1976 BUW public relations committee chairman, urged prompt response to the invitation for the 6:30 p.m. dinner, indicating a full house is expected. Andrus is assisted by Sue Englehardt, Inter-City Bank and Karen Gilliam, Health company.

Although the public phase of the 1976 campaign starts one week earlier this year, Browne said many poster solicitation efforts are under way, or have been completed. Results of the early campaigns will be announced at the kick-off.

Browne announced that all report and rally luncheons are now scheduled for the St. Joseph Elks club. A revamped format will highlight the noon-time meetings to be held this year on Sept. 30, Oct. 14 and Oct. 21.

Niles Nursing Home Gets Addition Okay

LANSING — The operator of a Niles nursing home has been given approval to build an addition housing 60 beds for long term care patients, the state Department of Public Health has announced. A certificate of need for the expansion was issued to Como of Wisconsin Inc., owner of Michigan Skilled Care centers, 911 South Third street, Niles.

The approval came from the health department's division of health facility planning and construction. The health department said it received no comment on the expansion proposal from the health planning agency for southwestern Michigan, the Southwestern Michigan Health Systems agency. When the $800,000 project is completed next July, the facility will house a total of 180 beds. Of those, 108 will be basic care beds and 52 will be for skilled care.

Rusk Didn't Know

WILLIAMSBURG, Va. (AP) — Had he been aware of Central Intelligence Agency plots to kill foreign leaders, former Secretary of State Dean Rusk says he would not have told the Warren Commission it was doubtful any foreign government had a motive to assassinate President John F. Kennedy.

Officer Facing Dismissal

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (AP) — A police officer who shot a motorcyclist last Friday has been suspended and may be dismissed. Police Chief Robert Anderson said Tuesday. Anderson said officer Ron Stevens would be dismissed Sept. 8 unless he can show why he should be kept on the force at a hearing before the city manager. Anderson said Stevens shot 23-year-old James Hoogerhyde, of Kent City, in the shoulder as police pursued him for driving his motorcycle recklessly on Interstate 96. Anderson said department rules permit shooting only when an officer's life is endangered.

TUITION JOLT: Mrs. Sallie Engle of Sodus was jolted this year to learn that tuition for each of her two teenaged daughters at Eau Claire high school would jump from $240 to $1,059. She says she can't afford it, but will move out of Benton Harbor district rather than send the girls to Benton Harbor schools. (Staff photo)

WON'T SEND HER GIRLS TO BH SCHOOLS

Tuition Jumps: $240 To $1,059!

BY LARRY MacINTYRE
Staff Writer

Eau Claire — Mrs. Sallie Engle of Sodus, a working mother whose two teenaged daughters had expected to return to Eau Claire schools this fall, was recently jolted with some shocking news.

Tuition for the girls has jumped from $240 each to $1,059 each for the upcoming school year.

The girls, Susan, 16, and Karen, 14, are two of about 150 tuition students at Eau Claire facing the huge increase. The Engle family, of 2628 Hillandale road, Sodus, and the families of the other 150 must pay tuition because they live in the Benton Harbor school district.

"I want to send them back, but I can't afford it," said an angry Mrs. Engle yesterday. She works at the Fairplain branch of the First National Bank of Southwestern Michigan, Niles.

She said she will move out of the district rather than send her children to Benton Harbor schools where she feels discipline is too lax.

There also is a marked difference in the racial composition of the two districts. Last year almost 71 per cent of the students in Benton Harbor were black while less than 10 per cent of those in Eau Claire were black, according to officials of the two districts.

The tuition has shot up at Eau Claire because of a new school funding law recently passed by the state legislature. Under the law, the state will no longer pay aid money to a school system for its out-of-district students. The aid will instead be paid to the district of residency regardless of where the students go to school.

Consequently, the Eau Claire district will lose about $750 a head for its 150 students living in the Benton Harbor district.

Eau Claire Supt. William Horie said he has asked Benton Harbor school officials to reimburse the Eau Claire district for that money. The Benton Harbor school board is expected to act on the request in September, officials there said.

In the meantime, the Eau Claire district is required by law to set its tuition charges at the full cost of educating a student for one year. And that cost is $1,059, Horie said.

If the Benton Harbor board decides to reimburse Eau Claire for out-of-district students, the tuition cost for Benton Harbor district residents would drop, Horie said.

Last year, tuition at Eau Claire was $240 for secondary students and $150 for primary students.

About 7,000 tuition students throughout the state are affected by the new school funding law. Eau Claire is the only district in Berrien and Van Buren counties with more than a handful of tuition students.

The measure has prompted such an outcry that changes are now being sought when lawmakers return to session Sept. 13. A House appropriations subcommittee was scheduled to meet today in Lansing to draft new language that would allow the receiving school district collect state aid on tuition students for another year.

"I think we're going to have some turmoil around here in September," Horie said, noting that the legislature does not meet until five days after classes start at Eau Claire Sept. 8.

He said he suspects some parents of students from the Benton Harbor district will not enroll their children at Eau Claire again this fall.

Another 50 tuition students at

Eau Claire high school live in three nearby K-8 districts. Those districts — River and Riverside in Berrien county and Wood school in Van Buren county — are required to pay all the tuition for their high school students rather than the parents.

Those students are expected to continue at Eau Claire, Horie said.

Flying Glass Cuts Pedestrian

BUCHANAN — A LaPorte, Ind., man told state police from Niles he was cut by flying glass yesterday afternoon when a bottle was thrown from an auto as he walked along US-12 southwest of here.

Police said William Pletka, LaPorte, no age, sought his own treatment for cuts on the leg. Pletka told police he was walking near Dayton lake in Bertrand township when a soft drink bottle was thrown from a car traveling on US-12 about 1:30 p.m. The bottle shattered when it struck the pavement.

Brother Smooths Path For Sister

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Dave Cappaert's sister has been confined to a wheelchair for most of her life — and that's a rocky road to travel by just about any standard. But Cappaert got up early Tuesday to make the road a little bit smoother. He said his sister, Andy, enjoys going with friends to a restaurant on State Street, a few blocks from her home. But the sidewalk in front of the restaurant is so pitted and scarred she said the trip had become uncomfortable for her. So at 7 a.m., Cappaert and two of his friends piled out of his blue van and went to work with a wheelbarrow, bags of cement and enough trowels for all hands.

They had all the craters in the one-block stretch of sidewalk filled four hours later. "Nobody was warned about this," Cappaert said, mid-way through the project. "We just made a basic assumption about the city's apathy about taking care of this problem. We plan to finish unless we either run out of money or are arrested." The trio spent about $25 on cement. They already had the tools and one of the merchants on the block supplied the water to mix the cement.

Dressed in faded jeans and workshirts, they worked steadily, stopping only for a ginger snaps-and-yogurt break and to buy a second load of cement. Pedestrians politely walked around the barriers they set up, and some of the businessmen from shops along the sidewalk came outside to applaud their work. "I'm more than glad to see them out here," said barber shop owner Bill Stolberg. "The city inspectors came out here at the beginning of the summer and looked at the holes and haven't been back since."

Stolberg said the sidewalk is a hazard in its present condition. "I've seen at least six people fall flat on their faces after tripping in one of the holes," he said.

John Robbins, director of Ann Arbor's street, traffic and parking department, said property owners have the responsibility to maintain the sidewalks in front of their land. If the city receives complaints about a particular sidewalk, it will issue an order forcing the owner to fix it, Robbins said. He noted that before any work can be done on the sidewalk, a permit must be obtained from the city. "I suppose we will probably just leave what they have done — even though Dave failed to get the necessary permit," Robbins said Tuesday.

Andy Cappaert is in her mid 20s and has been in a wheelchair since she contracted polio as a young child — about a year before the Salk vaccine was ready for use. Beyond helping his sister, Cappaert said he hoped his actions would prode the city into taking better care of all the sidewalks because other people are in situations similar to his sister's.

Seney Firefighters Plan 35,000-Acre 'Back-Burn'

SENEY, Mich. (AP) — Firefighters will burn 35,000 acres of the Seney National Wildlife Refuge Thursday in an effort to starve a month-old blaze that has consumed 41,000 acres of state and federal land.

With a second Upper Peninsula fire raging out of control near Marquette Tuesday, Gov. William Milliken declared a fire emergency effective today in 48 Northern Michigan counties.

Under Milliken's order, all forms of open fires, ranging from campfires to cigarette and pipe smoking, are banned in and around forest land in 33 counties in northern lower Michigan and in all 15 Upper Peninsula counties.

Department of Natural Resources officials said a two-day-old fire atop Hogsback Mountain near Marquette was burning out of control Tuesday.

A DNR spokesman said an unattended campfire may have triggered that blaze. The DNR said no populated areas are threatened, although the Marquette skyline was blackened by clouds of smoke.

U.S. Rep. Philip Ruppe, R-Mich., called Tuesday for congressional hearings into federal fire management regulations that DNR officials say allowed the Seney fire to get out of control.

Ruppe said he would fly to the fire scene today, and demanded that the U.S. assistant interior secretary responsible for the Seney refuge accompany him.

Two northern Michigan legislators, Rep. Charles Varnum, R-Manistique, and Sen. Robert Davis, R-Gaylord, also criticized the so-called federal

"letburn" policy.

Federal regulations require that fires which start in "dedicated wilderness" areas be allowed to burn unless they threaten lives, property or the environment. The Seney blaze started more than a month ago when lightning hit in such a wilderness area.

Workers at the Seney fire, meanwhile, said they would set "back-burns" — controlled fires in the path of the existing blaze — which they hope will consume trees, brush and other fuel and help contain the fire.

Weather permitting, the firefighters will burn out some 35,000 acres Thursday along the north and west sides of the wildlife refuge.

"The fire that is deliberately set will burn into the existing fire and that will be end of fuel supply," a spokesman explained.

One fire official said the fire "is not progressing rapidly at this time. It is not a dangerous situation. The firefighters, therefore, have the ability to wait for favorable weather conditions."

Spokesmen anticipated favorable temperature, humidity and wind conditions on Thursday.

The fire will be contained once the burn-out is completed, officials said. But Arnold Hargigan, a spokesman for the Federal Interagency Fire Control Center in Boise, Idaho, said the fire will burn in peat bogs "for weeks and months."

Hays Negotiating Deal To Halt Probe

WASHINGTON (AP) — Lawyers for Rep. Wayne L. Hays and the House Ethics Committee are negotiating a deal for Hays to resign from Congress in return for a halt to the panel's investigation of payroll-sex charges against him.

The bargaining hit a snag late Tuesday on a question of timing. The Ethics Committee was reported to be considering a resolution that said Hays was resigning effective Sept. 8, that the committee's payroll-sex inquiry would be suspended immediately when Hays' letter of resignation was delivered but that the investigation would not completely terminate until he actually resigns.

The Hays' case also is being investigated by the Justice Department to determine whether the congressman should be prosecuted. Any Hays' resignation would have no impact on that investigation.

A reliable source said the Ohio Democrat had been expected Tuesday to deliver his resignation letter to Speaker Carl Albert and then to the Ethics Committee.

But sources later said Hays' representatives had not left the letter with the committee. The Hays' representatives indicated they objected to the committee's reluctance to guarantee that its inquiry will end until Hays actually leaves office.

The Ethics Committee adjourned Tuesday without taking any action on its resolution to terminate the payroll-sex investigation and Chairman John J.

HAYS MAY RESIGN: Rep. Wayne L. Hays, whose "personal relationship" with Elizabeth Ray sparked a capitol sex scandal, is resigning from Congress effective Sept. 8, reliable sources said Tuesday (AP Wirephoto)

Flynt scheduled another meeting today.

Judah Best, Hays' lawyer, and Hays' press secretary,

Carol Clawson, met with Flynt and Ethics Committee staff members for more than an hour after that.

Were it left to me to decide whether we should have government without newspapers or newspapers without government, I should not hesitate to prefer the latter. — Thomas Jefferson.

Medicaid No Showcase For More Health Care From The Government

For the past few years several states have probed into Medicaid's suspicious functioning.

Extensive efforts are under way in Massachusetts and Ohio to eliminate fraud and abuse, and recently The Chicago Tribune uncovered a similar queasy situation in Illinois.

Summarizing those investigations is a report filed a few days ago by a Senate Special Committee on Aging.

Senator Frank Moss, D., Utah, the chairman and six staff members disguised as unemployed laborers found widespread evidence of fraud, abuse, and over utilization. As to the quality of health care for the patients and the cost to the taxpayer, the staff members replied in the single word, "reprehensible."

The Moss panel targets New York City as the worst offender.

It discovered that 7 per cent of the Gotham physicians take in 50 per cent of the Medicaid payments and the upper 5 per cent are averaging $80,000 a year.

The most glaring example among those Medicaid mills are ones conducted by three chiropractors. Before Medicaid took effect in 1965, two of them had been driving taxis and the other worked as a butcher. Apparently Medicaid showed a rainbow to them because as licensed chiropractors each is raking in half a million annually from their Medicaid mills.

The Moss committee reports it has no firm figures on the number of Medicaid mills in the country, nor their income, but it projects annual receipts of $2.2 billion and that $1.5 billion of the total filters down to laboratories, pharmacies and other installations a step removed from the patient. The Tribune's probe indicates a close financial tie between the referring physician and those service installations.

Moss and his staffers experienced no trouble in receiving treatment for ailments faked by them and for others hatched out of the blue by the operators of the mills.

As one of them put it ever so succinctly to the Utah Senator, "Medicine is business today. Healing people is good medicine but poor business."

California, Michigan and New Jersey are other zones the Committee describes as medicating for profit, not for the patient.

Beyond the callous wasting of money the average taxpayer finds hard to come by, is the ripoff effect on legitimate medical service.

Medicaid throws a terrific strain on the nation's hospitals, yet it does not recompense adequately the cost of the care they are morally bound to furnish.

Medicaid pays what its administrators figure to be the costs of the hospitals used. But these costs are often considerably less than actual costs. In Michigan, this situation threatens to worsen with the recent adoption of a new law that will reduce still further Medicaid payments in many kinds of cases to many hospitals.

Just to rub some more salt into that wound, the paying agencies take their own time in reimbursing the hospitals. A 90-day wait is commonplace.

What can be done to pull the ripoff down to manageable proportions?

The Moss committee offers no solution other than an intensified attack upon the fraud.

Conservatives such as New York's Senator James Buckley wants a $1 billion cut in Medicaid's $15 billion budget.

The first suggestion is locking the barn after the horse is stolen.

The second punishes the innocent more than the guilty.

The major surgery has to be a revision in Medicaid itself.

Under present law the federal government's $15 billion budget supplies about half the cost of providing medical care to an estimated 25 million low income persons.

The Department of Health, Education and Welfare issues the guide lines on how the 50 states are to handle the program and the money.

These guide lines, at once complex and loose, actually depend for their day to day functioning on how the various state agencies chose to administer them.

The separate patterns woven between Washington and the state capitols are made to order for sharp minds to take advantage of a well intended, greatly needed program.

Cleaning up this administrative clutter and probably overhauling the basic statute behind it should be the first order of business for Congress, HEW and the state social agencies.

Until this is done, it would be folly beyond description to get into the comprehensive national health care plan being urged by Congressional liberals.

If Washington cannot handle a $15 billion mistake we shudder to think what the ripoff artists would do to total health care.

They Just Want To See How Bad Things Can Be

Perhaps French officials have their own version of the taxpayer-paid junk. No other explanation comes to mind for the visit of Parisian officials to New York City to learn firsthand how to run a large city.

It is true that Paris is going through a major transition from a city run by the national government to an independent metropolis in 1977, complete with its own elected mayor and all the accoutrements. Well, perhaps not all the accoutrements, but that is what is troubling about going to Mayor Beame's town for advice.

What French officials already have discovered in New York is a city retrenching its services as rapidly as it can so its checks will continue to clear the city treasury. Perhaps it is not such a bad idea at that. If the French visitors learning nothing else on their how-to-do-it trip, at least they are seeing what could happen to them if they don't do it right the first time.

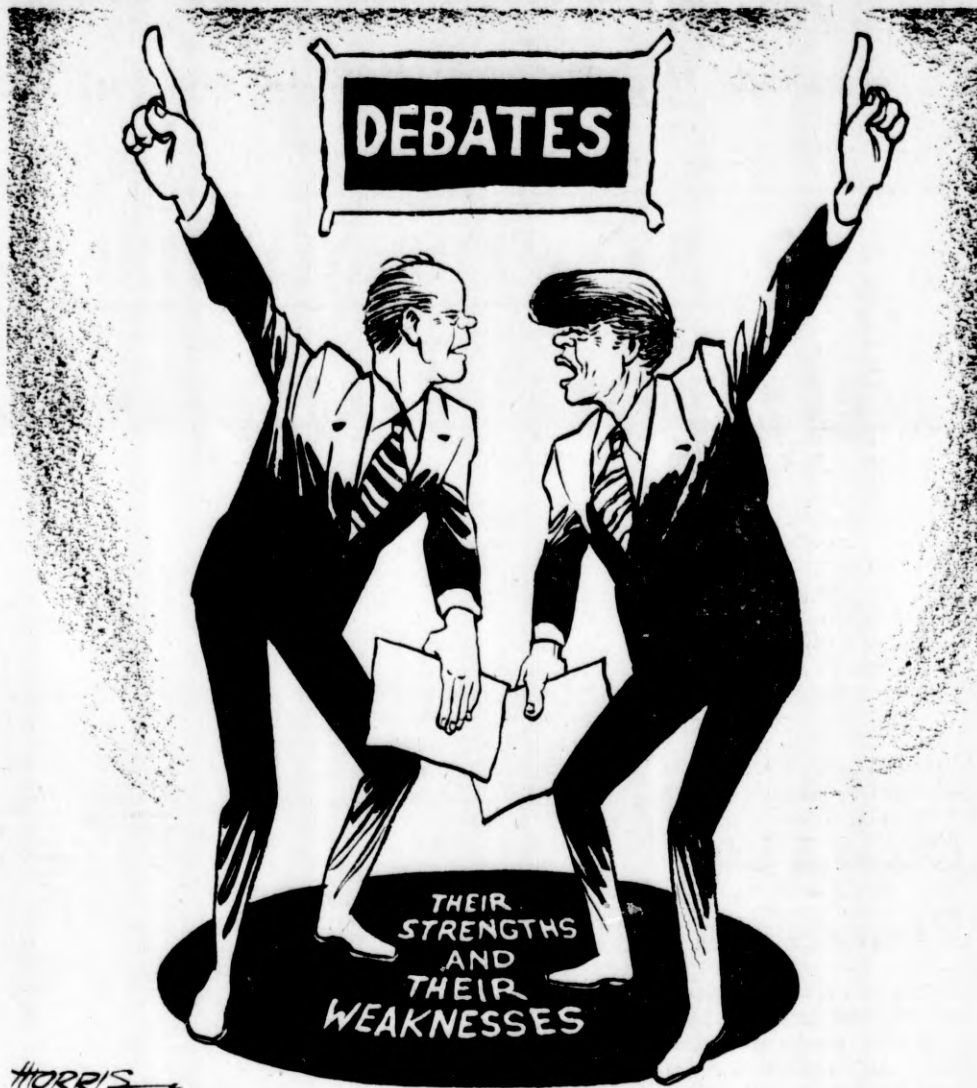

Mayor Beame and his aides might even start a mini-industry for their city by offering similar courses to municipal officials everywhere — for a fee, of course.

POLITICIANS HOLD THE POWER TO TAX

It's not surprising the Los Angeles residents are stunned by the outrageous increases in property tax and assessments.

Rudolph Yurice's taxes shot from $861 to $1,454 last year. He's been trying to stretch his $362 a month retirement income by looking for bargains in stores. He says this year a new increase leaves him only one alternative, to sell, but the question is, would anyone dare buy a home where assessments and taxes are incredibly increased yearly. Well maybe yes, a politician who has not only the money but the power to utilize the taxes for himself.

Until the Congressional rift off that keep recurring and flings at taxpayers' money are not stopped somehow then we can depend on being their paties as long as they hold office. So next election let's vote in a new breed.

To bring to our attention just some of the benefits lawmakers have bestowed upon themselves, representatives and senators voted themselves a pay hike, tied their salaries to the cost of living so future increases will be automatic. Can the taxpayer who depends only on Social Security have this privilege? Of course not, he must wait until they are prepared to give him an increase.

Despite all the pious talks of closing loopholes, the House voted to increase from $3,000 to $7,600 tax deduction members get for living expenses in Washington. They enjoy free medical care for themselves and families. They do pay for hospital stays, but costs are way below those paid by ordinary persons. Representatives are allowed free 26 round trips home a year, and up to 45 for senators.

Free gymnasiums, swimming pools, tennis courts and massages are only part of the good life. The first nine months last year, lawmakers, wives and staffers made approximately "200 free trips" on military planes to places all over the globe even to the fanciest resorts at a public cost of $1.3 million. The trips are said to be "official travel." Naturally, occasionally there is a public outcry usually short-lived.

When the fust dies down, lawmakers grin and make more repeats into the public till for more dips.

Still Trying For 5 Mills

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit board of education will make another attempt Nov. 2 to get voters to approve a five mill property tax increase to restore programs sliced from the city's schools. The board decided to put the issue on the ballot again, after its defeat Aug. 3. Voters were told before the August election that defeat of the millage would mean a reduction in school hours for nearly all Detroit students, along with elimination of high school sports and a number of other cutbacks. Boys' football and girls' basketball were salvaged by a last-minute, $146,000 gift from the Bank of the Commonwealth. But officials said all other planned cuts will be in effect when school opens this week.

Three Twisters Touch Down

Three tornadoes touched down in rural areas of central Michigan Tuesday night, knocking down power lines and trees and injuring at least three persons. Lake County sheriff's officials said the touchdowns occurred within an hour of each other during a severe storm around 9:30 p.m. that cut across the middle of the state.

Three persons were slightly injured when their car hit a tree fallen across a road near Reed City in Oshtemo County, a sheriff's spokesman said. There were no reports of building damage during the storm, officials said.

Platform Is Up To Congress

WASHINGTON — The split within the Republican Party was quite clear at its national convention in Kansas City.

Strong-minded GOP liberals say they will not work unless President Ford veers from their side of the fence. Strong-minded conservatives hint they will sit on their hands this fall unless the President hews closely to the Ronald Reagan line. Straddling this fence will be no easy task even for so amiable and conciliatory a candidate as Mr. Ford.

The Republican problem is all too clear. Jimmy Carter, however, faces party divisions less advertised but no less deep.

Take the Democratic platform. Unlike past documents, the 1976 edition was written precisely to conform to the candidate's own views and his promises. There were no Ford-Reagan-like compromises. The Carter convention position was so strong he was not forced to compromise on word or paragraph.

The ink has hardly dried on that Carter document. Yet the Democratic Congress majority, which most certainly will be the majority in the next Congress, has given up on passing what are undoubtedly the seven key planks in Carter's platform. The Democratic leadership has suggested opposition within its own ranks makes passage unlikely.

It is reported in fact that three fourths of the new breed of Democrats — the 81 Democratic freshmen — believe the Humphrey-Hawkins full-employment bill could hurt their chances of being re-elected. News accounts say they want it killed.

According to strong hints from its leadership, strong covert opposition within Carter's own party in Congress would likewise doom postcard voter registration so publicized by Carter, as well as national health insurance, thorough tax overhaul, control of handguns, reorganization of the food stamp program and legislation splitting the major oil companies. A spate of government reorganization proposals, aimed at efficiency, has died a quiet death. Apparently, so has zero budgeting and sunset proposals requiring agencies to be studied from the bottom up at specified intervals.

The Congressional investigation of corruption in the Senate and House has all but vanished.

This seems to mean that the Democratic majority has in effect stalled the bulk of what Carter is campaigning for — for now at least — as though it were a bag of hot potatoes.

Take these facts then add that in the Democratic primaries, 60 per cent of the votes went to Carter's opponents. It becomes clear Jimmy Carter and Sen. Walter Mondale face the same uphill fight as President Ford and Sen. Robert Dole.

The voter is thus faced with a dilemma. He knows so little of what Mr. Ford favors has gotten through an approval Congress. He sees, too, that the Carter programs have fared equally badly with the Senate and House majority.

Whatever promises are made, and however sincere each candidate may be, how is the voter thus to know whether Mr. Ford or Carter can be effective, given the splits in Congress and among their own workers?

The President can exert negative control through the veto and Mr. Ford has not done just that. But this is not the same as pushing through a program. What the situation thus promises at best, whoever is elected President, is a continuation of the status quo unless there's a mandate — a heavy vote for the winning Presidential candidate and significant defeat of Senators and Representatives who do not represent what the majority of Americans want.

Unfortunately, whatever happens in the presidential race, there's little evidence of a major change in the Congress this November.

Renee Richards' Existential Leap

The bizarre character of the situation in which Dr. Renee Richards finds herself tends to obscure the fact that the whole affair has important continuities with much that is central to modern existence.

Dr. Richards, formerly Dr. Richard Raskind, fits nicely into the important Revolt Against the Given.

When I first met Richard Raskind, he was playing a highly effective number one for the Yale varsity tennis team. After that, besides becoming a doctor, he went on to notable success as an eastern regional player, though he never achieved national or international stature. Well over six feet tall, and strongly built, he always played a powerful attacking game.

Now, after hormone therapy and surgery, the former Raskind has lost around 50 pounds and presents herself to the tennis world as Dr. Renee Richards, female, requesting admission to women's tournaments.

What effect the weight loss and therapy have had on her tennis capacity remains to be seen, but if Dr. Richards has retained even 50 per cent of Dr. Raskind's ability, she could raise hell in any women's tournament. Should she be allowed to compete?

The question, perhaps surprisingly, is not so easily answered. Here, as elsewhere, customary boundaries seem to be dissolving.

To an ever increasing extent, modern individuals do invent themselves. The circumstances of their parents is less and less decisive. That is one meaning of "opportunity." There exists a frontier today, but it tends to be psychological and social rather than geographical. Nevertheless, geography still plays a role. Dr. Richard Raskind of N.Y.C. "went West."

strange pioneer, becoming Dr. Renee Richards of Newport Beach, California.

In the past, biology itself seemed to be an unchangeable "given," but that too is under assault by the modern will to transform.

Organ transplants break down the boundaries of the biological being. It is possible, or at least soon will be, to control the sex of the embryo in the womb. The demand for abortion is one passionate cause, and it is one because it asserts the freedom of the individual will against the constraints of biology. Widespread contraception renders childbirth an act of free choice. In the future, perhaps, mutants will challenge the boundaries of the human as we understand them.

Existentialism, the distinctively modern philosophy, gives conceptual expression to all this. Life lived existentially is, for Sartre, a "project" in which the self continually defines itself under conditions of "freedom." Significantly enough, Sartre's psychoanalytic theory denies the existence of the Freudian "unconscious." Any submission to biological or social constraint constitutes "bad faith."

Should Dr. Richards play at Forest Hills as a woman? One of the given here is the fact that she still carries those male chromosome patterns. Not all experts, however, consider them definitive. Beyond that, should we accord the chromosome test absolute primacy?

No Teacher Pacts In 9 Area Districts

BY AL AREND
Staff Writer

Classes have started in several southwestern Michigan K-12 public school districts, but 29 per cent of the local teacher education associations have not yet ratified or reached tentative contract agreements with their school boards.

As of noon yesterday, nine of the 31 school districts contacted by this newspaper were still without a settlement and teachers in two districts, have started the school year Gobles and Berrien Springs without a contract.

Other education associations that have not ratified or reached tentative agreements include: Buchanan, New Buffalo, Bangor, Lawton, Dowagiac, Marcellus, and Saugatuck.

Lawton, which begins classes today, was reported "very close" to ratification. Buchanan teachers are expected to vote Thursday on ratification.

Teachers at Gobles and the board there apparently are not as close to ratification as in other districts, according to school officials.

The two have been negotiating since April and the school board has hired a professional negotiator, Atty. Douglas Paterson of Kalamazoo.

Yesterday morning Gobles

teachers reported to work without a contract, but Jerry Reed, chief negotiator for the Gobles Education association (GEA), said "the likelihood of withholding our (teachers) services increases as time goes by...right now were going to take a wait and see attitude."

Reed said the board's hired attorney "continued to keep progress at a snail's pace." Reed said too much time has been spent during negotiations on "repetition of redundant proposals."

Reed said one of the main issues is a board proposal to limit binding arbitration, "an issue that was completely sidestepped at Monday night's meeting." Other issues still pending, according to Reed, include teacher evaluations; class size; maintenance of clean classroom; salary and fringe benefits.

Reed said it appears "the board is saying they're not going to propose any salary until they get the contract language they want."

A brief summary of other districts without teaching contracts follows:

Berrien Springs — Teachers are working without a contract and no immediate settlement in sight. Main issues are economics and contract language.

Buchanan — Reported close to settlement, teachers to vote on proposal Thursday.

New Buffalo — Started renegotiating yesterday afternoon, after voter approval of key millage issue.

Bangor — Both sides have delayed further negotiations until after results of Sept. 9 millage issue.

Dowagiac — Supt. Lionel Stacey voiced guarded optimism saying "I think we're close to a tentative agreement." He said the only issue is money.

Marcellus and Saugatuck — Still negotiating with main issues being economics.

All other education associations have either ratified or reached tentative agreements on new contracts or are working on multi-year contracts.

Safety President Will Speak Here

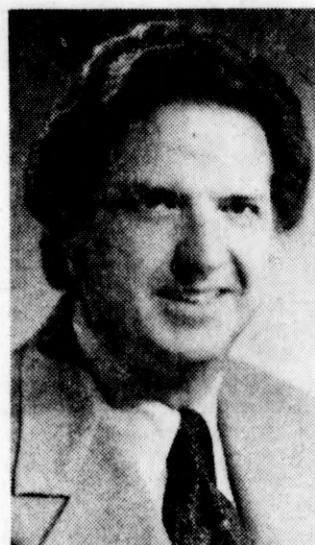

Vincent Tofany, president of the National Safety Council, will be the guest speaker at a dinner meeting of the Safety Council of Southwestern Michigan Sept. 28. Tofany will speak to industrial and business representatives about accident cost factors and their effects. Robert Primley, executive director of the southwestern Michigan chapter, announced. The meeting begins at 6:30 p.m. in the St. Joseph Holiday Inn.

Tofany, 49, was elected National Safety Council president in 1973. He is an attorney and a native of Rochester, N.Y.

Tofany served as commissioner of the New York State Department of Motor Vehicles for nearly seven years before assuming his duties as safety council president. He was appointed to the commissioner's post on Jan. 1, 1967, and while serving in that job he helped develop a model traffic safety program that included an experimental driver rehabilitation program and a program for the administrative adjudication of traffic violations.

Tofany is currently a member of the National Academy of Science's highway research board's committee on motor vehicles and traffic safety.

He is a graduate of St. Bonaventure University and the Albany, N.Y. Law School. The Safety Council of FEEDING SJ BEACH: Workmen from George Miller Sons, Inc., St. Joseph, spread sand along a stretch of the Lake Michigan beach from Park street south to the St. Joseph city water treatment plant. The work is being done for the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers and is part of their "beach nourishment" project started earlier this summer by the dredge Hains. Ross Kittleman, project engineer with the corps, explained placement of sand along the beach is intended to curb erosion caused by interference from the nearby federally maintained piers with natural deposits of sand by currents. The sand is being trucked from the Thunder mountain area in Van Buren county. About 60,000 tons or 45,000 to 50,000 cubic feet of sand will be deposited and spread at a cost of $131,200 according to Dave Miller of the contracting firm. (Staff photo)

Clark Builds Plant, Parts Depot

BUCHANAN — Clark Equipment Company has started construction of a multi-million dollar axle manufacturing plant in Statesville, N.C., and announced it will build a 160,000 square foot parts depot in Atlanta.

Groundbreaking was held Tuesday for the new axle plant, to be located on a 95-acre tract at the intersection of I-40 and I-77 near Statesville. The plant will include a 380,000 square foot manufacturing facility and 20,000 square foot office building.

Clark will manufacture a segment of their planetary drive and drive steer axle line at the new plant, which is scheduled for completion early in 1978. The facility is expected to increase Clark's U.S. axle manufacturing capacity by approximately 35 per cent.

Clark also has manufacturing facilities in two other North Carolina cities — Rockingham and Asheville.

The new parts depot in Georgia will be located in the Atlanta Southern Industrial Park at the junction of Georgia Highway 54 and I-75.

The new depot, which is scheduled for completion in 1977, will consist of 160,000 square foot warehouse base and 5,000 square foot of office area on a 25-acre site. Construction is scheduled to begin immediately. Architects and engineers for the facility are Ragnar-

Benson Inc., of Chicago, Ill. No cost estimates are being released.

Currently Clark supplies all its dealers parts needs from the division headquarters in Chicago. The Chicago facilities will continue to be the central point of all information regarding parts.

According to John J. Mlynski, president and general manager of the division, "Growth in all our product lines have necessitated the construction of the Atlanta depot. This major full line facility, when completed, will provide quick and full service to Clark industrial truck and construction machinery dealer outlets in the Southeastern area of the United States.

Whirlpool Puts 400 On Lay-Off

By MARK RODIN
Staff Writer

Whirlpool Corporation's St. Joseph division returned to production of automatic washers this week with 400 fewer employees than were working before a 14-week work stoppage caused by a lockout.

The 400 workers were notified last Friday they would be laid off indefinitely and eligible for unemployment compensation benefits, according to Jay Van Den Berg, director of industrial and community relations for the division.

The workers belong to Local 1918 International Association of Machinists. The union members were locked out of the plant after their contract with the division expired and they rejected a company offer May 7. The union voted Aug. 14 to accept a new contract, ending the company lockout.

Van Den Berg said the layoffs bring the total of union hourly employees at the division down to 1,250 from 1,650 in May.

Whirlpool's St. Joseph division manufactures standard size and compact washers. Parts for the washers and automatic dryers manufactured in Whirlpool's Marion, Ohio, plant are also produced by the St. Joseph division.

A combination of increased washer production at Whirlpool's Clyde, Ohio, plant and customer demand were responsible for the layoffs, Van Den Berg said.

"Our current schedules for automatic washers both here at the St. Joseph division and at Clyde are in line with the present demand for our products from our customers," Van Den Berg stated.

"There are no plans at present to recall (the laid-off workers)," he added. "According to the contract they could be on indefinite layoff for four years. A recall depends on consumer demand."

Whirlpool's contract with the union took effect with ratification Aug. 14 and expires May 6, 1979.

Van Den Berg said the 400 employees were laid off by means of a seniority list established in December, 1972. They were called into the plant to sign forms which make them eligible for unemployment compensation benefits through the Michigan Employment Security commission.

Union members were not eligible for unemployment compensation during the lockout.

"Right now there is nothing forecast in sales to my knowledge that would indicate we could bring them back to work," Van Den Berg said.

About 500 employees were recalled last week as start-up operations began.

Van Den Berg said these employees were mainly maintenance personnel and those who manufactured the washer and dryer parts.

The St. Joseph division employed 1,800 hourly workers in 1970.

Bright Lights Keep Business Booming In Las Vegas

By GARY K. PEDERSEN
Associated Press Writer
LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — There are men who ride around this city at night, looking for dim spots in the brilliant landmarks of the gambling capital of the world.

In their trucks they carry long ladders, lots of wire and thousands of light bulbs to keep the huge and famous casino and hotel signs bright. These men are the electric sign company workers, laboring daily in one of the largest businesses in Las Vegas.

Each year sign companies pop thousands of light bulbs into a myriad of signs. At the same time they put up new signs, tear down old ones and in the process pump millions of dollars into the Clark County economy.

Officials estimate there are five million light bulbs in the town's signs. They are quick to point out that there also is nearly 100 miles of neon tubing mixed in there somewhere.

The hotels and casinos have for years strived to outdo their competitors when it comes to signs. To have the tallest, the widest, the heaviest, the brightest, the most expensive or whatever was the rage. Out of that competition came signs nearly 200 feet tall, with sophisticated lighting gear operated by computers. Gaudy and unique, they loom on the Las Vegas skyline.

The sign owners once advertised about how the electricity to run their signs would keep a housing tract in power for days.

Then came the energy crisis. The famous signs of Las Vegas were dimmed. The sign companies which maintained them cringed, and so did the casino owners when they saw revenues dropping drastically.

"When they turned them back on after the energy crisis, business began booming again," said Van Tuyt, of Heath Co., a firm which services a number of Las Vegas signs.

"Signs are very important to Las Vegas. Clark County depends on gambling for its major revenue source. And for the gambling we depend on tourists. They come here to enjoy the carnival atmosphere of the city, that's what they are after and the bright lights contribute to it. Frankly, I don't think Las Vegas could survive without the signs."

Las Vegas has two distinct casino-hotel areas. There is famous "Glitter Gulch," named for its brightness at night in the downtown area, and the newer, famed Strip, a loose string of luxurious hotels which have casinos inside.

Tuyt said the gulch sidewalk-to-roof lighting was designed to keep nighttime as bright as the southern Nevada days.

"It was made that way to keep people in the casinos around the clock," he said.

Times changed, and casinos began moving southward on the Strip. Practically kept hotels from stringing millions of light bulbs on facades, so came the huge signs, which have become trademarks. Added to that in some cases, like the MGM Grand and Caesar's Palace, are exterior lights, which illuminate the hotels, making them visible for miles around.

But the real battle involves the signs.

Stardust Hotel officials say theirs is the tallest at 188 feet. It has more than 40,000 bulbs, 10,000 fluorescent tubes, operated by 27 lighting sequences. If that isn't enough, it is planted in 400 tons of concrete and is designed to withstand hurricane force winds.

Publicist Dee Spencer said the sign consumes enough energy to keep 1,500 homes going one day.

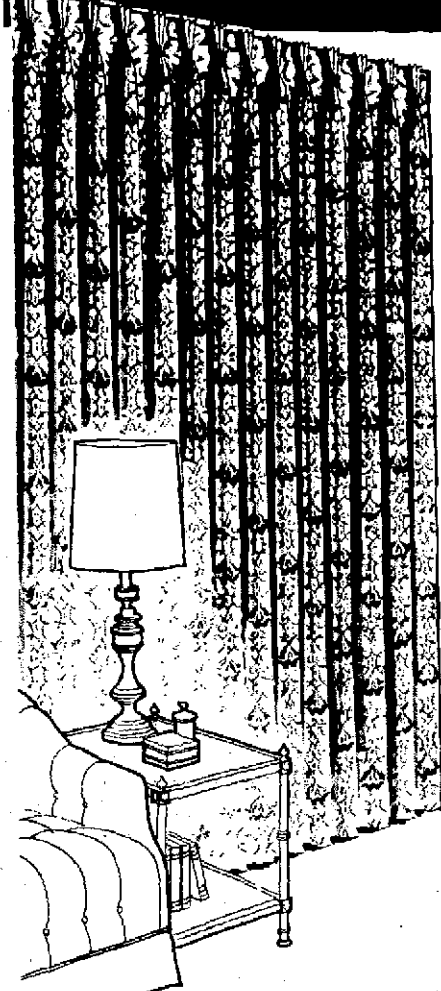

"When people come to this town, they want to see the lights," she said. "When we turned down the lights during the energy crisis, business dropped. With the loss of lights we lost some of the atmosphere. It was like going to a cocktail party where there were no cocktails."

The Dunes Hotel requires three full-time servicemen to watch over its 7,200 bulbs and several miles of neon tubing. The power bill is estimated at $300 per day.

Women Seeking Business Careers

NEW YORK — The number of college women planning careers in business has nearly quadrupled in the past decade, reports a joint study by University of California at Los Angeles and the American Council on Education.

One reason for this increased interest is new opportunities and another is purely financial, according to the September issue of Seventeen magazine. The average amount companies pay holders of a bachelor of arts in liberal arts is $9,000; a bachelor of science in business, $10,400; a master's in liberal arts, $10,800; and a master's in business administration (MBA), $15,000. After making it in business, the sky's the limit; many top executives earn upward of $100,000 a year.

Two especially promising business fields are banking and accounting.

Right Lock Deters Burglar

NEW YORK (AP) — Burglary doesn't always occur at the other person's home. Every 15 seconds a home is burglarized in this country and you could be next, warns the Insurance Information Institute.

Cylinder deadlocks on all entry doors can help deter potential burglars, says the institute.

Various types of deadlocks are available. For advice on the type that will do the best job for you, contact a qualified locksmith or the police.

On doors with glass panels, such as sliding glass doors, install double-cylinder deadlocks that lock from either side with a key, the institute advises. Burglars are thus prevented from breaking the glass and reaching in to unlock the door.

Another effective method of securing your sliding door is to place a metal or wooden rod, such as a broom handle, into the sliding jamb at the bottom of the door. For additional protection, the institute recommends drilling a hole through the top channel into the top portion of the door frame and inserting a pin or nail.

Do not overlook windows. They, too, must be securely latched. A stoplock is available which limits window openings to ventilation spaces too small to permit entry.

Although an alarm should not be relied on to take the place of proper locks, inexpensive battery-powered alarms are available which produce a loud, startling sound at any attempt to force open a door or window. The unexpected noise is often enough to scare away a burglar, and can also alert neighbors or police.

More sophisticated alarm systems are also available. Some involve electric eyes, and others are sound-activated.

Select Drapes Wisely

When ordering new drapes it is necessary to consider their effect on your comfort in winter. Drapes that block the warm air register will prevent sufficient heat from entering the room, warns the Better Heating-Cooling Council.

Each time the heat comes up, they will billow out and dance around, instead of staying gracefully in place, while the thermostat keeps calling for heat.

If there are electric heaters along the outside wall, the drapes must be cut to hang about six inches above the heater. Otherwise there is risk of charring certain fabrics.

Uncle Sam Looking For Your Ideas

By LOUISE COOK
Associated Press Writer
Uncle Sam wants your advice. The government is looking for consumers' opinions on everything from chicken hot dogs to air conditioners. Here are some of the proposals made by various federal agencies and information on how to make your views known:

POULTRY SAUSAGE

at the request of the poultry industry, is trying to work out standards for cooked sausage — hot dogs, Bologna and knockwurst — made out of chicken, turkey or other poultry. According to one survey cited by the government, there are 66 plants producing "turkey frankies," "chicken wieners" and the like.

The USDA's proposal would set a maximum amount of fat in the finished product — 25 per cent — and a minimum amount of protein — 12 per cent. It would require manufacturers who use substitutes to include this information on the label. A listing of the binders used, such as dried skim milk, soy protein concentrate and vegetable starch, also would be required on the label.

Oct. 25 is the deadline for comments. Write to Hearing Clerk, Agriculture Department, Washington, D.C., 20250.

AIR CONDITIONERS

The Federal Energy Administration has proposed a set of test procedures to measure the energy efficiency or energy consumption of room air conditioners. These test procedures, worked out with the National Bureau of Standards, will be used by still another agency, the Federal Trade Commission, in determining product labeling rules.

The proposed procedures measure cooling capacity in British thermal units (Btu's) per hour under certain conditions. The proposal also sets various formulas for figuring out estimated annual operating costs and energy consumption.

Sept. 10 is the deadline for comments. Write to Executive Communications, Room 3309, Federal Energy Administration, Box 18, Washington, D.C., 20461. Put "Room Air Conditioners — Proposed Test Procedures" on the label.

RECALLS

The Food and Drug Administration is describing — for the first time — the responsibilities of industry in dealing with products recalled under FDA jurisdiction. The list includes foods, prescription and over-the-counter drugs for humans and animals, cosmetics and medical devices.

Some of the practices spelled out in the regulations already are followed on an informal basis. Here are highlights of the formal guidelines:

—Manufacturers and distributors are expected to assume responsibility and expense for removing defective or harmful products from the market. The industry also is responsible for follow-up checks on the effectiveness of the recall.

—Companies should develop contingency plans for product recalls so they can put them into effect rapidly. They must notify the FDA as soon as they remove a product.

—Companies should keep records for use in tracing the distribution of a product and should use codes that identify specific batches of recalled products.

The original deadline for comment was Aug. 30, but it has been extended to Sept. 29 at the request of the American Bakers Association. Write to Hearing Clerk, Food and Drug Administration, 5600 Fishers Lane, Rockville, Md., 20852.

In another area, the FDA is imposing long-delayed labeling requirements for

"hypoallergenic" cosmetics. The rules originally were to take effect July 7, 1975. They were delayed pending court proceedings, but the agency says further delay is not in the public interest.

Starting Sept. 3, therefore, manufacturers of hypoallergenic drugs will be required to substantiate their claims or stop making those claims on cosmetic labels. The companies have two years in which to prove their products. The rules also specify the conditions such as dermatological testing under which a cosmetic may be labeled hypoallergenic.

Say Farewell To Summer On Labor Day Weekend

Well, this is it.

Before long, the grill will be cleaned and tucked away in a garage or basement corner, swimsuits will give way to shoulder pads, football spikes and cheerleading sweaters and summer will alas be gone.

Give summer a big send off with a special patio party for Labor Day.

Skewered Steak and Vegetables is much more special than ordinary cookout fare, yet no more difficult to prepare than hot dogs or burgers. The special trick to this recipe is the basting sauce which you quickly stir together with Worcestershire sauce for added zip.

Quick and Easy Potato Salad is a great accompaniment along with hot rolls, fresh peach shortcake and lemonade or iced tea.

SKEWERED STEAK AND VEGETABLES

One-fourth cup Worcestershire sauce
One-fourth cup catsup
One-fourth cup vinegar
Two tablespoons brown sugar
Two pounds sirloin or chuck steak

Green peppers and cherry tomatoes

Stir together Worcestershire sauce, catsup, vinegar and brown sugar. Cut steak into cubes; arrange on skewers and brush with sauce. Grill over hot coals, turning frequently and brushing with sauce until done. Alternate peppers and tomatoes on skewers, brush with sauce and grill a few minutes, until hot. Makes six servings.

QUICK AND EASY POTATO SALAD

One envelope (five servings) mashed potato granules
One cup chopped celery
Two or three slices process American cheese, diced
Two tablespoons minced onion

Letting
Prepare mashed potatoes following directions on package, except reduce water to one cup; cool. Stir in mayonnaise, celery, cheese and onion. Chill. Serve on lettuce. Makes six servings.

"But why do they call it Labor Day?" When the kids pop that irksome question, be ready with the answer.

Just before the turn of the century, the Knights of Labor paraded in New York City on the first Monday in September, demanding that day be set aside to honor workers and the labor movement. In 1894 Congress decreed that the first Monday in September be set aside to honor labor and so it became a nationwide legal holiday.

Now that we've established the why, here are some recipes to provide the answer to how to celebrate this Labor Day.

Hamburger Hoagies are a hearty hamburger sandwich for a casual backyard picnic. Invite the neighbors over since this recipe will feed eight hungry people.

HAMBURGER HOAGIES

Two pounds ground beef
One envelope (one and three-fourths ounce) chili mix
One-half cup water
Eight crusty rolls
Eight slices process American cheese
Two tomatoes, sliced
One onion, sliced

Combine ground beef, contents of chili mix envelope and water; shape eight patties to fit rolls. Grill over hot coals. Serve on rolls topped with cheese, tomato and onion.

BEAN AND CABBAGE SLAW

One-fourth cup oil
Two tablespoons prepared yellow mustard
One tablespoon sugar
Four cups shredded or chopped cabbage
One to two cups cooked chilled beans (or one-pound can, drained)

Briskly stir together oil, mustard, sugar and vinegar. Combine cabbage and beans in salad bowl; add dressing and toss lightly. Makes eight servings.

SPICY MID-EAST BARBECUE SAUCE

One can (fifteen-ounce) spaghetti sauce with meat
Three tablespoons cider vinegar
Three tablespoons orange juice
Two tablespoons raisins
Dash cinnamon
Dash nutmeg
Dash ginger
One tablespoon dehydrated onion

Combine all ingredients in small saucepan. Cover; simmer for 10 minutes. Let stand overnight.

SPICY SQUARE HAMBURGERS

One pound ground hamburger
Eight to twelve slices bread
Four to six slices American cheese

Combine ground hamburger with one-fourth cup Spicy Barbecue Sauce. Divide into four to six portions. Form into squares. Broil six-inches from charcoal, baste with spicy sauce. Toast bread on both sides; add slice of cheese. When hamburgers are finished, place on toasted cheese bread. Serves six to eight.

Giant Burgers does big things for that old stand by, the grilled hamburger. Season the ground beef with an envelope of hamburger seasoning mix and tomato juice, then tuck a cube of cheese inside each burger for an added taste surprise.

GIANT BURGERS

Relish Topping (recipe below)

One pound ground beef
One envelope (one-ounce) hamburger seasoning mix
One-fourth cup tomato juice
Four or five small cubes of cheese

Four or five hamburger rolls, split

Prepare relish topping as directed below. Stir together ground beef, contents of seasoning mix envelope and tomato juice; shape four or five patties, enclosing a cube of cheese in each. Grill over hot coals or broil 10 to 15 minutes, turning once, until done. Serve on rolls topped with relish. Makes four or five servings.

Relish Topping: Cut kernels from one ear of cooked corn (or use one-half cup drained canned corn). Combine with one cup finely chopped cabbage, one-fourth cup mayonnaise, one tablespoon each vinegar and chopped pimiento.

BAKED BEAN BONANZA

Two cans (one-pound each) pork and beans or baked beans
One cup miniature marshmallows

Three tablespoons prepared yellow mustard
Combine all ingredients in shallow casserole. Bake at 400 degrees for 20 to 30 minutes, until bubbling hot. Makes six servings.

A party menu that will be easy on you, but memorable for your guests, can be planned around turkey, cooked slowly to a golden brown on the backyard grill.

Accompanied with potato salad, zucchini squash and Italian bread sticks, the turkey can be cooking while you and your guests relax on the patio.

For easy outdoor cooking a self-basting bird takes the guesswork out of outdoor grilling.

To serve 10, a 12 to 14 pound unstuffed hen turkey is the right size and is suitable for outdoor cooking. You will need a large covered grill, a pan or piece of foil beneath the turkey to catch drippings and you must be sure to have a hot fire.

The turkey should be placed in the middle of the grill so it will cook evenly. To keep heat constant, coals must be added from time to time. Because of the variety of grills on the market, it is best to follow your grill manufacturer's instructions for cooking tips.

Use a meat thermometer to determine when the turkey is done. Insert the thermometer in the center of the thigh next to the body, but be careful not to touch a bone. The turkey must be cooked until an internal temperature of 180-185 degrees is reached.

To accompany the turkey, the following recipes for potato salad, zucchini squash and Italian bread sticks may be used.

PATIO POTATO SALAD

Twelve slices bacon, crisply cooked, crumbled
Six cups chopped cooked potatoes
Three hard-cooked eggs, chopped

Three-fourths cup salad dressing

One-half cup chopped celery
One-fourth cup chopped onion
One and one-half teaspoons salt

ZUCCHINI GRILL

Ten zucchini squash, cut lengthwise

One-half cup butter or margarine, melted

Grated Parmesan cheese

Place zucchini in boiling, salted water. Cook five minutes; drain. Combine butter or margarine and garlic powder; brush on cut surfaces. Sprinkle with cheese. Grill 10 minutes or until heated through. Makes 10 servings.

ITALIAN BREAD STICKS

One cup flour
One teaspoon oregano
One-half teaspoon salt
Dash of garlic powder
One-fourth cup butter or margarine, softened
One cup (four ounces) shredded

ded Mozzarella cheese
One-fourth cup water

Heat oven to 400 degrees. Combine flour and seasonings; cut in butter or margarine and cheese. Stir in water; shape dough into a ball. Knead until dough holds together. Shape tablespoonfuls of dough into sticks one-half-inch thick and six-inches long; place on cookie sheet. Bake at 400 degrees for 20 minutes; remove sticks from cookie sheet immediately. Makes 24 sticks.

ANTIPASTO FRUIT SALAD

One head iceberg lettuce

One-half cup salad oil
One-fourth cup lemon juice
One tablespoon prepared mustard

One-half teaspoon salt
One-half teaspoon savory, crumbled

One-half teaspoon coarse black pepper

Two tangerines
One avocado
One banana

Core, rinse and thoroughly drain lettuce. Chill in disposable plastic bag or plastic crisper. Combine oil, lemon juice, mustard and seasonings in jar; cover and shake well.

Peel and section tangerines. Place fruits in groups in shallow pan; pour dressing over. Cover closely and chill about one hour, basting fruit occasionally. Tear enough lettuce into bite-size pieces to yield four cups loosely packed; chill any remainder for use another time.

Halve avocado; discard seed and skin and slice fruit into crescents. Peel and slice banana.

Turn torn lettuce into shallow bowl or platter. Spoon fruits onto lettuce in concentric circles. Pour any remaining dressing over all. Makes about six servings.

Keep Appliance Gleaming

Frost-free refrigerator-freezers mean less work in defrosting, but an occasional cleaning of the freezer compartment is necessary — and easy!

Start by turning off the unit. Remove frozen food and store in refrigerator or wrap in newspaper so it stays frozen. Empty ice cube trays and take out all removable parts. Wash and rinse in warm suds.

Clean inside walls, door and gasket around the door with a solution of one tablespoon baking soda to one quart of water. This will keep the interior odor-free. Wash the exterior of the appliance. Dry the entire unit and parts thoroughly. Replace ice cube trays, parts and food. Turn the control on. Periodically, wash the interior of the refrigerator in the same way.

BH Schools Expecting 10,188 Students Tuesday

A downward trend in enrollment for Benton Harbor Area schools may be reversed next week when 10,188 students are expected for the start of classes

Tuesday. The anticipated enrollment is the most since 1973 when 10,615 were enrolled. The Benton Harbor district enrollment peaked at nearly 12,000 in 1966, but has since decreased every year. Last year's enrollment was 10,103.

Benton Harbor is Berrien county's largest school district. The district has nearly 550 teachers.

Supt. Richard Helsler said this year's expected enrollment breaks down to 5,730 elementary students; 368 special education; 140 preschool; 2,330 at Benton Harbor high; 290 at Hull Junior high; 590 at Fairplain Junior high; and 620 at Benton Harbor junior high.

Helsler said no changes have been made in daily operating schedules. High school students will report to school at 8 a.m., with dismissal for many students at 1:45 p.m. For those with sixth-hour classes, the senior high day will end at 2:40 p.m.

All three junior highs will operate on an 8:15 a.m. to 2:50 p.m. school day. Starting times for elementary schools vary according to location. Schools within the city limits of Benton Harbor operate from 8:30 a.m. to 2:35 p.m. They include Morton, King, Seely McCord, Columbus, Calvin Britain and Sterne Brunson. All other elementary schools start at 8:35 a.m. and end the school day at 3 p.m.

Lunches will be served in all schools beginning on the first day of school. This includes all 23 elementary schools, Benton Harbor high school, and the three junior highs. Lunch periods are adjusted at each school to handle the enrollment and facilities.

Punch tickets will be sold for the first week of school (4 days) at a cost of $2. School lunch prices have not been increased this year, so a regular lunch ticket for a full week (5 days) will cost $2.50, or 50 cents daily.

One-half pint milk is included with all lunches. Students who bring lunches from home or who wish to purchase additional milk can buy milk tickets for 50 cents, good for 10 half-pints.

The federally-funded pilot breakfast program at Bard, Calvin Britain, and Columbus schools will begin Sept. 13.

Principals will be sending home information to parents on this program.

Principals in each school also have information about qualifications for both reduced-price and free school lunches. The federal government sponsors a program which allows either reduced-price or free lunches for some school children depending on income levels and number of dependents.

Registration for students new to the area have been continuing since mid-August. Parents interested in obtaining information about school registrations should visit the nearest neighborhood school or call 936-1141 during normal business hours.

SAWMILL DESTROYED: Fire yesterday afternoon completely destroyed Synder Sales Sawmill, North Branch road, Bainbridge township, Coloma township firemen said 25 by 80 foot structure was flattened in a matter of minutes by blaze believed to have started in sawdust pile. Mill's primary business was making wood pallets. Owner Harold Synder estimated loss at $43,000 and said there was no insurance on building or its contents. Coloma township firemen were assisted by units from Watervliet and Sister Lakes. (Tom Gear photo)

Coloma Hires New Firm To Fix Gym Floor

COLOMA — The Coloma school board yesterday in a special meeting hired a new firm for repair work at the water-damaged Alwood gymnasium after the low bidder declined to accept the job. The board awarded the project to the Pearson Construction Co., Benton Harbor. The firm had bid $4,900 to remove the existing damaged floor and bid $9,800 to pour a cement slab for a new basketball floor.

Pearson's bids were $2,890 higher than the low bids for the work submitted by the J. Bauer Corp., Detroit.

The board had awarded the project to Bauer Aug. 23.

In a letter to the board, the firm said it was refusing to accept the project because the board would not purchase the new gym floor material from it.

Bauer had bid $29,000 on the flooring. Another firm, the Foster Flooring Corp., Wixom, Mich., had bid the flooring at $27,820 and won the contract.

In its letter, Bauer said it had intended that its three bids be considered as an offer to do the entire project only.

The existing gym floor buckled after storm water seeped under the doors during a July 20 rainstorm.

The board yesterday rejected a bid from another firm, Williams Construction, Benton Harbor, which had offered to remove the cement floor for $4,850.

In a related matter, the board voted to request state approval to pay for the work from $90,000 in the 1971 building and site fund.

Condition Of Victims 'Good'

RICHLAND, Wash. (AP) — Two workmen still receiving antiradiation treatments after a chemical explosion at a nuclear plant are in "generally good condition," a federal official says.

But Tom Bauman, a spokesman for the federal Energy Research and Development Administration, declined comment when asked Tuesday how much radiation they absorbed or whether it could impair their health.

New Buffalo Rehiring Teachers

NEW BUFFALO — In the wake of a successful millage election, the New Buffalo school board last night voted to rehire 11 of the 17 teachers it had laid off last March.

Last night's special meeting came one day after voters approved a 16.812-mill property tax levy for three years. If the additional millage had not passed, board members said they would have been meeting last night to lay off more teachers.

Supt. Walter Schwarz said another two of the remaining six laid off teachers are still waiting to see if jobs become available this school year.

He said board members were to review the 1976-77 budget soon to see if the positions could be staffed. The other four teachers will not return, he said.

The 17 were laid off last March on the chance there might not have been enough money this fall to rehire them.

In a related matter, the board hired four teachers who will be at least partially paid from special state and federal programs.

Schwarz said there are now 63 full-time teachers and six special education teachers ready to start classes this fall. He said he expects that with an estimated enrollment of 1,400 students, the average class size will be 25 pupils.

In other matters, the board voted to borrow $200,000 from the Michigan National Bank of Michigan, Cassopolis. The bank's offer of 3.64 per cent interest was the lowest of two bids. The money is being borrowed in anticipation of local taxes.

'Your Problems' By Ann Landers

He Likes Hairy Ladies

Dear Ann Landers: I was disturbed by your regressive and insipid advice to the hairy lady whose husband insisted she shave her legs and armpits before donning her swimsuit. Our culture is screwed up, not the lady. Hair removal is NOT the answer. Education is.

You have done a disservice to your readers by not pointing out that this practice of self-mutilation is not only demeaning but downright anti-erotic.

I'm a middle-aged man, happily married, and unashamedly confess I am turned on by the unshaven good-looks of women. The females must be perpetuating this silly practice of hair removal because I have yet to meet a man who doesn't think a woman's hairy legs and armpits are sexy.

Shaving is a nuisance. It's up to each and every woman to decide for herself whether or not she wants to do it. For those who don't I hope this letter will give them the courage to combat criticism. — I Like Hair

Dear L.L.H.: American women with hairy armpits and legs will need more than courage. I can't imagine a less appetizing sight.

Sons No Help

Dear Ann: May I comment on the letter from the 62-year-old man who kept up the lawn, shoveled the snow and did errands for an 80-year-old neighbor lady? (She happened to be his mother-in-law.) Her own son lived right next door but he never lifted a finger to help. It figures.

Sons help their mothers-in-law while sons-in-law help their wives' mothers.

This works out just dandy, except for those of us who didn't happen to give birth to daughters — like me.

I raised five boys and every single one has turned his back on me and taken up with his in-laws. Count me among the 70 per cent who, if they had it to do over again, would NOT have had children. — Ignored In San Jose

Dear Ignored: The situation you describe is not uncommon, although it sometimes works in reverse.

Here's a poem I learned from my mother many years ago (she had four daughters):

A son is a son until he takes a wife.

ANN LANDERS

A daughter is a daughter all of her life.

Be Serious

Dear Ann Landers: This isn't a problem. It's a statement to all you dieters out there:

When I entertain I will gladly provide for people who are serious about following diabetic, low-sodium, low-cal, high-fiber, low-cholesterol or high-protein diets. But for you chronic weight-watchers who have been yo-yoing up and down for 20 years — lost and put back hundreds of pounds — please don't accept an invitation to my home for dinner and tell me the reason you aren't hungry is because you gorged yourself the day before on a lot of junk. — Cater Hater

Dear Cater: I don't know about your friends, but I pace myself. When I know I'm going to an elegant dinner party on Saturday, I go easy on Friday. The greatest compliment you can pay a hostess is to eat, eat, eat.

It's not always easy to recognize love, especially the first time around. Acquaint yourself with the guidelines. Read Ann Landers' booklet, "Love or Sex and How To Tell the Difference." For a copy, mail 50 cents in coin and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 1400, Elgin, Ill. 60120.

Barrel Of Laughs

I was watching a situation comedy series the other night of a typical American family. This family laughed until they got sick.

Every time Daddy opened his mouth, he was a scream. The mother was a stich. And the kids were absolute geniuses at spewing out hilarious retorts. I looked around at our group. My husband was deeply depressed over the paper. (He's looked like that since he let his GI insurance lapse.) One child was on the phone insisting, "I don't believe it" every minute and a half. Another was locked in his room with the stereo on and the other was staring morosely into the refrigerator waiting for something to embrace him.

"You know the trouble with this family? We're not funny. All the other families in the world are sitting around throwing away one-liners and having a barrel of laughs. 'Hawaii Five-O' gets more laughs than we do."

The next night as I heard my husband's car in the garage I shouted, "Hey gang, heeereeeeee Daddy!"

"Well," said our son, "if it isn't our father whose wallet is full of big bills... all unpaid."

"What's the matter with you?" asked my husband. "You're on your feet. Has your car been repossessed?"

"Dyynnoooooomite!" said our youngest. (I almost fell off the chair.)

"Hey Mom!" said a son, "what do you get if you take a fender from a Chevy, the chrome from a Ford and the hubcaps from a Pontiac?" I shook my head. "Six months!"

"A rubber hose up your nose," I said amid laughter.

"So," said my husband, "I thought you were going to straighten up the hose."

"Why?" I asked, "Is it tilted?" (Group doubling over.)

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Gambling on the unknown today will prove to be a costly folly. It's best to believe only what you can grasp in mind or hand.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Your spirit is willing today but the flesh is woefully weak. It's unlikely you'll exhibit the resolve to overcome a tough problem.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) You have a tendency today to start projects you're not apt to finish. A clutter-up workroom will probably result.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Don't expect too much from people you know only as passing acquaintances today. There's no substitute for tested friends.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) There is apt to be friction in your household today, but don't seek to place the blame on others. It could be your ear that's troubling the waters.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Crystal gazing for trouble that might happen is the way of fortune tellers. Keep your cool. Attack problems when they occur.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Don't seek scapegoats today for foul-ups that can be directly attributed to you. Everyone will know who the real culprit is.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) The least effective weapon you could use today is intimidation of underlings. Just remember: Every dog has his day.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) If you're disturbed about something today, don't stew about it silently. The only way to get relief is to bring the matter into the open.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Try not to badger pals over playmate issues today. It's far better to strengthen bonds of friendship than to weaken them.

It isn't hard to get to a slam with today's hand. South has a sound opening bid and North is looking at 17 good high-card points.

North wanted to bid six no-trump. He had a notrump-type hand and everyone wants to be declarer, but finally North settled for six hearts.

It was a wise decision indeed. Six no-trump is doomed to failure. In fact, six no-trump might well go down two tricks.

South wasn't too happy with his six-heart contract. He

My husband and I and our two grown boys are sun worshippers. We constantly hear about the dangers of cancer of the skin from the sun. So far, none of us has been dissuaded from enjoying the sun. Just how dangerous is this pastime? — Mrs. M.W., Nev.

Dear Mrs. W.:

Dermatologists (specialists in skin disease) generally acknowledge that there seems to be a relationship between overexposure to sunlight and certain types of skin cancer.

Why some people should be more susceptible than others is known. It may be related to the amount of protective pigment that lies in the skin of some people.

A recent survey showed that there were more than 250,000 new cases of skin cancer during the last year. Some of these may be attributed to a very special series of circumstances.

About 25 years ago, X-ray radiation was used in some cases of acne and excess hair on the face, and even to reduce the amount of sweating caused by the glands in the armpits.

Unfortunately, we are today paying a penalty for the overuse of X-ray therapy during that period. It is believed that many of the reported cancers of the skin can be attributed to that radiation rather than to sunlight.

Perhaps it is a combination of both sunlight and X-ray radiation that may be a factor. There may even be a relationship with the disturbances of the protection ozone layer between us and the sun.

At any rate, speculation is not nearly as important as following the advice of the doctors who believe that since skin cancers can be caused by too much exposure to sun, it would be wise for your family to do your sunbathing with moderation.

A lot of people in our community use water softeners. I've heard that soft water may be dangerous to health. Please clarify. — Mrs. J.U.L., Penn.

Dear Mrs. L.:

Public Health officials have given a great deal of concentrated thought and research to this problem.

In general, there seems to be an attitude that soft water may be more dangerous to the heart and vascular system than hard water.

Yet there are so many other factors involved in the equation of health and disease that no one should become terrified because they are drinking one type of water or another.

An additional consideration deserves mention. Water softeners seem to increase the amount of sodium in the water. For those people who are on a restricted sodium diet, converting to soft water may be unwise. If sodium retention is a medical problem in your family, it should be considered by you and your doctor before making the purchase.

South Haven Hospital To Seek Millage

By TOM BENNER
South Haven Correspondent

SOUTH HAVEN — Members of the board of the South Haven Community hospital authority last night voted to ask its member governmental units for permission to place a millage question on the Nov. 2 election. The hospital is seeking one mill for three years to finance a $1.2 million building improvement program.

Hospital attorney William Verdonk told the board that each of the hospital's nine member units must authorize placing the question on the ballot prior to Sept. 15.

Verdonk said recent court rulings have determined that hospital authorities are not independent political subdivisions, thus the need for authorization by each member township board or city council. Previously the hospital could place questions on the ballot on its own.

The authority is comprised of the cities of Bangor and South Haven and the townships of Arlington, Bangor, Casco, Columbia, Covert, Geneva and South Haven. All of the units must authorize placing the proposition on the ballot. On the day of the election a cumulative vote from all of the units will determine passage.

In recent weeks the hospital board has held two information meetings for local officials to explain the issue. Some officials warned the hospital board of anti-tax sentiments. Last night Administrator Wayne Eagleson indicated that he believed the units are "reasonably aware of our needs and willing to proceed to place it on the ballot."

The issue could receive its toughest test tonight during the regular monthly meeting of the South Haven township board. One of the most outspoken critics at the information meetings was South Haven township supervisor James Schuake who went as far as to encourage the sale of the hospital to private enterprise.

If placed on the ballot, the one mill would be levied against the state equalized valuation of property. The mill is expected to generate $137,000 a year based on the authority's current valuation. The proposed building program has been designed to upgrade and enlarge the hospital's emergency, out-patient and therapeutic facilities. The number of patient beds would be reduced from 90 to 82.

The hospital has been experiencing a decline in patient census recently, while the out-patient care cases have been steadily growing. The financing plan for the project includes the use of approximately $453,000 in accumulated hospital reserves, assessing the elected one mill over a three-year period and committing four-tenths of a mill that is currently being assessed for 25 years to the project.

Police Report Oscar Gillespie Death Accidental

A report in Monday's Herald-Palladium about the death in Chicago of Oscar Gillespie, 33, formerly of Benton Harbor, was in error in stating that a Chicago police department investigation indicated his death on Aug. 25 was a suicide.

A Chicago police department official told this newspaper today there was nothing in the investigator's report of the death to indicate suicide.

Funeral services for Mr. Gillespie, who had lived in Chicago several years, will be held at 1 p.m. Friday at New Paradise Baptist church in Benton Harbor. Burial will be in Crystal Springs cemetery.

Friends may call at Robbins Brothers funeral home, Benton Harbor, beginning Thursday.

Sgt. John Fitzgerald of Area 1 Homicide division, Chicago police department, said the department's report said Mr. Gillespie fell from an elevated train platform onto the tracks and was struck and killed by a train. The mishap occurred at 22nd street and Cermak road in Chicago.

The report, filed by Investigator Gerald F. Liberty, of Area 1 Homicide division, said it appeared Gillespie leaned too far over the platform edge and fell.

Sgt. Fitzgerald said the official determination of the cause of death will be made by a coroner's inquest. He added that no date for the inquest had been set yet this morning. He explained that a coroner's inquest is held in connection with all deaths in Chicago, except those in which a doctor's certificate of death is rendered.

Chris Morris of the Cook county morgue staff, said the inquest in Mr. Gillespie's death won't be scheduled until some four to six weeks from now.

OTIS YOUNG

TERRY BRADLEY
Named in warrant

Benton Harbor police detectives said they were to pick up this morning in Flint two men wanted on open murder warrants in the death of Theotis Bowman, 19, who died after being struck on the head apparently with a piece of concrete Aug. 14.

Det. Tom Schadler identified the two as Otis Young, 17, and Terry Bradley, 19, both of Benton Harbor. Police said both had several Benton Harbor addresses. Flint police apprehended them yesterday, but details were not known yet.

Bowman, 162 Vashti court, Benton township, died Aug. 16 in a Kalamazoo hospital of the head injury — two days after he was found in a grassy area near the city fire station. Bowman's death was the sixth homicide of the year in Benton Harbor.

Warrants charging assault to commit murder were issued the day after the attack. Those warrants were replaced with open murder warrants after Bowman died. Schadler said police had received information that the two had gone to the Flint area and copies of the warrant had been sent to Flint police.

Two Sewer Workers Die

DETROIT (AP) — City and medical authorities are investigating the deaths Tuesday of two Detroit sewer workers whose bodies were found in a municipal water meter manhole in Allen Park. Police said they believe the men were overcome by gas fumes and died of asphyxiation. Dead are William Purdy, 48, and Fred Skiles Jr., 47, both of Detroit. The bodies were discovered by an area resident, who called firemen.

New Obscenity Law Urged

KALAMAZOO, Mich. (AP) — City commissioners in Kalamazoo have adopted a resolution urging state legislators to draft a new law defining obscenity and how to deal with it. The resolution was prompted by petitions containing more than 7,000 signatures asking city officials to remove an adult theater, adult book store, topless shoe shine and topless billiards parlor from the Washington Square area. But the city attorney said there is little local authorities can do under current state law. The resolution implored the legislature to give immediate and serious attention to drafting new laws against obscenity.

Classroom Construction Down

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A drop in school enrollment across the state is being reflected in reduced school building and classroom construction, the state superintendent of public instruction said. John Porter said that during the 1975-1976 school year, public and nonpublic schools began construction of 1,254 classrooms, down from 1,966 the previous year. Construction of new schools was also down. Porter said work was begun on 23 buildings compared to 39 in 1974-1975. One result, he said, is that many school districts and nonpublic school authorities are concentrating on improving existing buildings rather than constructing new facilities. He said that declining school enrollments are a result of a declining Michigan birth rate, a trend that began in the late 1950s.

Search Is On Via CB

South Haven Fires Banned

SOUTH HAVEN — Fire Chief Leslie Olmstead has ordered a ban on all outside burning in the South Haven fire protection district until further notice due to dry conditions. The South Haven fire department protects all of the city and township of South Haven and part of Geneva township. Olmstead said he was issuing the ban as a preventive measure, noting that his department has not had an increase in grass or brush-type fires. He said the ban would continue indefinitely because a large amount of rainfall will be needed to reduce the fire threat.

No Inspections Yet

WASHINGTON (AP) — Four years after hundreds of persons died when two dams collapsed, not a single dam has been inspected for safety under a law rushed through Congress in response to the disasters. The inspection program remains unfunded, basically because of disagreement over who should inspect or pay for the inspections of the more than 49,000 nonfederal dams covered by the law. Congress hasn't appropriated any money to pay for federal inspections, the White House hasn't asked for any such money and the states say they can't afford to pay for the inspections. Like the two dams that prompted enactment of the federal law, these nonfederal dams were built by states, local governments and private companies. The Army Corps of Engineers has estimated that it would cost $7.5 million to inspect the dams.

Mars Gas Still Bubbling

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — The Viking 1 lander, about to leave center stage on Mars to its arriving sister, Viking 2, has notified scientists that unexplained gas activity is still occurring inside its life-search laboratory. Dr. Harold Klein, the project's head biologist, said Tuesday that latest reports reduced from Mars showed continuing signs of carbon dioxide in an experiment that detects gases issuing from a soil sample. He said it would be Friday — the day Viking 2 lands on the other side of Mars — before the data could be interpreted. The test Klein mentioned is the only one of three biology experiments that has been testing the same soil sample since the beginning of the life search last month. The other two tests obtained inconclusive results and are being repeated with new samples.

Aiming For The Source

DETROIT (AP) — Police said 16 people would face arraignment today on drug conspiracy charges, after a Tuesday morning raid of nine west side Detroit homes netted a small-scale arsenal and a pound of heroin. Officers confiscated some 30 guns. Police said the raid was aimed at breaking up the primary source of heroin for the city's west side.

Congress May Pass Up '76 Pay Raise

By EDMOND LEBRETON
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The House of Representatives faces a ticklish decision on whether to accept a pay raise this election year.

There is strong sentiment in both parties in favor of amending the legislative appropriation bill today to deny funds for the pay raise that otherwise will come automatically Oct. 1.

For two years, the pay of members of Congress has been tied to the over-all government formula that provides for cost-of-living increases. If it is allowed to go into effect, the 1976 raise will increase members' salaries from $44,600 to about $46,740.

While key Democrats and Republicans agreed on the principle of foregoing the pay hike, they squared away for a rough partisan fight on other proposals that the GOP majority is pushing in the name of congressional reform.

Limiting perquisites and tightening House fiscal practices has been a prime political issue in the wake of the sex-payroll scandals that mostly involved accusations against Democrats.

At the behest of the House Democratic caucus, the Democratic majority on the Rules Committee authorized floor consideration of amendments that would bar any pay raise through Sept. 30, 1977. The committee turned down

Republican demands that the appropriations bill be opened up for a variety of other amendments.

The Republican Policy Committee said that if the Democratic majority refuses to let other amendments come to a vote, "then charges will be justified that the House remains a semi-secret club, self-perpetuating itself with generous allowances and benefiting from hiring practices, perquisites and automatic inflation-triggered pay raises."

Besides barring the pay raises, the Democratic caucus-sponsored amendments would give statutory backing to the Review Commission and to a resolution trimming the authority of the House Administration Committee, formerly headed by Rep. Wayne L. Hays, D-Ohio, to increase members' allowances without a vote of the whole House.

AIP Factions Await Decision

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The Michigan Supreme Court was expected to decide today whether two feuding factions of the American Independent Party can appear separately on the Nov. 2 ballot.

Last week the Court of Appeals ordered both sides be included on the general election ballot, since state law is not clear on how to deal with such party splits.

The party has a guaranteed spot on the ballot, but both sides sued the state when they were told that only one slate of candidates could appear.

Elections officials will likely breathe a sigh of relief if the appeals court decision is overturned by the high court, since that would reduce the number of parties for the ballot to 10.

Voting machines used by most Michigan voters can handle 10 parties this year, but more than 10 could force the state to use expensive paper ballots or redesign the ballot itself, election officials say.

Today was the deadline for a final resolution of the matter, according to election officials, since candidates for all parties that will appear on the Nov. 2 ballot must be certified by Thursday.

Earlier this year the Secretary of State's office told the party that only one of its two slates could appear on the ballot.

But Southfield attorney James Wells, an already-certified candidate for the Michigan Supreme court, maintained that 19th-century state Supreme Court decisions set a precedent for allowing both slates on the ballot.

Last spring the state attorney general's office said so much time has passed since those court decisions that it's not clear whether they still apply, especially since more recent decisions in other states' courts allow only one slate.

Henry To Urge Namibia Vote

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger will try to promote elections in Namibia and a political role there for a black militant group when he meets this weekend in Zurich, Switzerland, with Prime Minister John Vorster of South Africa.

U.S. officials say he will also urge Vorster to withdraw South African troops from the territory and to take steps respecting the human rights of Namibia's 800,000 black inhabitants.

Accept Pay Cut

NEW YORK (AP) — Radio City Music Hall musicians have agreed to a weekly pay cut of about $40, virtually guaranteeing that New York's famed but financially ailing entertainment landmark will stay in business for another year.

Phone Tip

MOUNT PLEASANT, Mich. (AP) — An anonymous caller with a guilty conscience told police to check the men's room at the Mount Pleasant Municipal Building Tuesday.

They did, and found a citizen's band radio which may have been stolen.

The caller, who refused to identify himself, told police he woke up with a hangover and a CB radio on the pillow next to his head.

The caller said he couldn't quite remember what had happened the night before, but he believed he stole the radio from a pickup truck while he was drunk.

Introducing Ann Person Introducing Super Sewing

The Ann Person Method is my very own revolutionary new method of sewing that allows every woman to sew beautiful clothes in a fraction of the time of ordinary sewing. I have always believed that women who sew should have the material and techniques available to sew quality clothes—I mean clothes that you cannot tell from designer-made. I know, because I am a home sewer, that women who sew at home are fashion-conscious.

This is not ordinary sewing.

The Ann Person Method gives a woman the ability to create her special look with her own absolute custom-fit. No woman's body is just like any other's, and very few of us have perfect figures. That's why Stretch & Sew has several sizes in each pattern, insuring ease in adjustment to make perfect-fitting garments every time.

GROWING COMPLEX: Nearly $5 million worth of new facilities are ready for Covert school district students when classes begin Sept. 7-8. Site of old high school (1) will be made into parking lot and administrative offices (yet to be built), while construction of new junior-senior high school is completed. Front section (2) houses classrooms, with back section (3) containing gymnasium, swimming pool, auditorium, band room, and shop area. Voters in 1974 approved $4,795,000 bond issue to finance construction project which included five-classroom addition (4) to elementary wing and hallway connecting it to new junior-senior high. Old gym (center) built in 1958 will be used as elementary gym. Work is also progressing (upper left) on football field and track, baseball and softball diamonds and tennis courts. Portable buildings, formerly above elementary wing, have been removed. Sewage lagoons are at top of photo. (Adolph Hann aerial photo)

FBI's Kelley Should Be Fired For Taking Gifts, Prober Says

By MARGARET GENTRY
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Justice Department investigator probing charges against FBI officials says FBI Director Clarence M. Kelley should be fired for accepting gifts from his subordinates, according to an informed source.

The source said the recommendation that Kelley be fired as FBI director was one of two suggestions placed before Atty. Gen. Edward Levi three weeks ago. Levi, who has been on vacation, has taken no action on the recommendations.

The second Justice Department recommendation disagrees with the first recommendation and proposes a public reprimand for Kelley instead of dismissal, the source said.

Both recommendations came after Kelley admitted to a Justice Department task force investigating allegations against bureau officials that he accepted gifts from subordinates. Among the gifts listed were a $200 walnut table, a $250 clock, a $250 easy chair and a handmade teak and mahogany jewelry box, the source said.

John M. Dowd, who heads the Justice Department probe into charges of misconduct by FBI officials, was the official who called for firing Kelley, according to the source.

The Washington Post reported today that Dowd's reasoning was that Kelley could not properly control subordinates after they had given him expensive presents. This could not be immediately confirmed.

Michael E. Shaheen Jr., who heads the department's Office of Professional Responsibility, disagreed with Dowd's recommendation and suggested the public reprimand, the source said. Shaheen is Dowd's immediate superior.

Kelley issued a statement Tuesday acknowledging that he had received Christmas and anniversary gifts from his office staff and from senior FBI officials. He said he was "prepared to make restitution for any of such gifts which are not clearly permitted" by federal law.

Kelley issued the statement after the Washington Star reported that FBI workers installed drapery valances in his apartment shortly after he took office in mid-1973.

Reform School Staffer Suspended

WHITMORE LAKE, Mich. (AP) — A staff member at the state boys reformatory who released two Detroit delinquents under threat of an armed gang raid has been suspended, state officials said Tuesday.

The staff member, Larry Taylor, freed the 16-year-old delinquents Saturday after two other youths fired a pistol into a dormitory at the W.J. Maxey Boys Training School in an unsuccessful attempt to free the pair, officials said.

Two Green Oaks Township police officers returned the teen-agers to the reformatory three hours later.

Security at the reformatory, which houses some 360 youths, has been tightened since the incident and police now guard the institution's grounds at night, authorities said.

Meanwhile, the senior judge of the Wayne County Juvenile Court said Tuesday that security at the Wayne County Youth Home in Detroit must also be increased to deter attacks on that detention center.

Judge James Lincoln said youths in two cars threatened a Wayne County sheriff's deputy on Tuesday morning.

He told a hearing in Detroit that the youths pointed an object which looked like a shotgun at the deputy, who jumped behind a pillar to radio for help.

The youths then shouted, "We'll get you pigs next time," and sped away, Lincoln said.

Both Lincoln and Wayne County Sheriff William Lucas told the hearing that as few as four armed individuals could take over the youth home.

"My grandmother, God bless her, who has been dead since '39, could take that youth home," Lincoln said.

Lucas asked Wayne County commissioners to provide for six additional deputies for the complex. It is guarded by only one armed deputy at night, he said.

TO OPEN FESTIVAL

Debate Discussions Continue

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford and Jimmy Carter are sending their rival negotiators back to work to draft ground rules for the presidential campaign debates both candidates seek.

The major issue to be settled as negotiators return to work today apparently is the question of what the candidates will debate.

Republican Ford and Democrat Carter both have proposed that their personal campaign specialties be staked out as topics for the first debate, likely to be conducted during the third week of September.

Those proposals, like the issues of the number, duration and timing of the debates, may yield to compromise in order to get the show on before the national television audience.

Ford spoke to the conference of the National Guard Association today, praising increases in the defense budget. He didn't mention Carter, but the Democratic nominee has said that "improved management techniques" could cut $5 billion to $8 billion from Ford's record defense budget of more than $100 billion.

Ford also told the military audience he opposes efforts to cut U.S. troop strength abroad. Again he did not mention Carter, but Carter has said NATO member nations should take more responsibility for the defense of Europe and has suggested that most U.S. troops now in Korea, Thailand and The Philippines could be withdrawn.

The League of Women Voters got clearance on Monday from the Federal Election Commission to sponsor and finance the debates, which could cost $150,000.

But there remained a possibility that independent candidate Eugene J. McCarthy or former Georgia Gov. Lester Maddox, candidate of the American Independent party, might go to court in an effort to block televised debates matching only Ford and Carter.

While the debate talks were resumed, Carter returned to Plains, Ga., after a day of campaigning in Washington and New York.

In Washington, the presidents of 109 AFL-CIO unions promised a massive voter registration and turnout campaign in behalf of the Democratic ticket. Carter also met Tuesday with Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., who said he would actively campaign for the Carter ticket.

Carter met privately with the National Council of Catholic Bishops, and got a cooler reception there because he has declined to support a constitutional amendment to forbid abortion.

"We continue to be disappointed with the governor's position," said Bishop Joseph Bernardin, chairman of the council.

Carter also renewed his proposal that the terms of chairman of the Federal Reserve Board coincide with those of presidents. The board governs the nation's money supply, and its members are appointed to 14-year terms, with one member designated chairman.

NFL Players Reject New Contract Offer

Rift Remains After 11 Hours Of Meetings

CHECKING PROPOSAL: Alan Page of the Minnesota Vikings reads through a proposed agreement prior to Tuesday's meeting of the National Football League Players Association in Chicago. The proposal which could have ended a 2½ year disagreement between the players and the owners was turned down. CHICAGO (AP) — National Football League player representatives have rejected the contract offer by team owners that sparked a fierce internal battle between their controversial executive director and their union president.

The action Tuesday, after 11 hours of secret meetings, continues the rift between owners and players which in the last 2½ years has triggered one pre-season walkout, one wildcat strike and harsh feeling on both sides.

"I honestly don't know where we go from here," said a disconsolate Dick Anderson, the injured safety for the Miami Dolphins who as president of the NFL Players Association had worked out the proposal with owners last week.

"Sometimes you win, sometimes you lose, sometimes you get rained out. The game will go on," Anderson said.

He and three other members of the seven-man NFLPA

Executive Committee supported acceptance of the offer. They were opposed by Ed Garvey, executive director of the players' union who some members would like to see ousted.

"It was a plan I felt was good and tried to sell," said Anderson. "Yeah, I'm disappointed, I feel at this point it's the best offer we're going to get."

Garvey has withheld public comment regarding his personal feeling on the offer, but a source close to him said he feared acceptance would negate players' rights already won in the courts.

Nevertheless, at a brief news conference following the marathon session, Garvey said no single point of the 70-page offer was the decisive factor in rejection. Rather, he said, it was the package as a whole.

By a majority vote, the Executive Committee summoned each of the 28 NFL teams' representatives to grapple with the proposal and decide whether to submit it to a vote of all the NFLPA players.

But the question never got that far.

After procedural haggling and a point-by-point debate, the representatives instead approved a motion "to table discussion" of the offer "pending further negotiations and clarifications."

In effect, Garvey said later, the vote meant rejection. A spokesman for the NFL Management Council, bargaining arm of the NFL owners, said his group reserved comment on the development until further information could be obtained as to what transpired at the meeting.

Details of the offer were not made public. The Associated Press learned, however, that among the 30 provisions the owners proposed:

—A 43-man squad limit with a four-man taxi squad, each member of which would be paid $300 a week.

—A raise in salaries for pre-season and post-season play as well as minimum salary limits.

—An important article concerning the controversial reserve clause.

That article would have permitted a player to move to another team after a specified number of years. The club obtaining a free agent would surrender two No. 1 draft choices for a top-notch player and a correspondingly lower compensation for a player of lesser ability.

The "final determination" would be made by a special board. In the past, NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle determined the compensation a team must pay after obtaining a player who jumps clubs.

A source close to Garvey said he feared approval of the measure would, in effect, reinstate the Rozelle Rule though it already has been knocked down by the courts.

Garvey thought the proposal placed an "unreasonable restraint" on player movement, the source said.

Garvey said there was no talk of a possible strike at the meeting.

The Players Association has been without a basic agreement since January 1974. A pre-season strike later that year collapsed. The dispute also sparked a wildcat strike last year by the New England Patriots.

Kuiper Lifts Indians Past White Sox

Ryan Fans 2,000th Batter

From ASSOCIATED PRESS

Noah Ryan is not a man to worry about strikeout statistics. The California Angels' hardthrowing right-hander passed a milestone Tuesday night, and it almost slipped right passed him.

Detroit leadoff man Ron LeFlore had just struck out swinging to open the game, and Ryan was getting set to pitch to the Tigers' No. 2 man, Dan Meyer.

Suddenly, some folks in the crowd of 8,532 at Anaheim Stadium began to applaud. The cheers continued to build, finally turning into a standing ovation.

"I didn't know what it was," said Ryan. "Then I turned around and saw it on message board."

The board told the fans — and the pitcher — that LeFlore was the 2,000th strikeout of Ryan's career. He is only the 29th major league pitcher ever to reach that plateau.

Ryan went on to strike out 11 Tigers as he pitched the Angels to a 6-3 victory, scattering eight hits.

Ryan's teammates supported him with 12 hits. Dave Collins contributed a double and two singles. Tony Solaita homered and singled and Jerry Humphrey and Rusty Torres each drove in a pair of runs in the sixth inning when the Angels erased a 3-2 deficit.

Elsewhere in the American League, the Baltimore Orioles beat the Kansas City Royals 4-3, the New York Yankees edged the Oakland A's 2-1, the Texas Rangers beat the Boston Red Sox 8-3, the Cleveland Indians topped the Chicago White Sox 4-2 in 10 innings and the Minnesota Twins and Milwaukee Brewers split a doubleheader, the Twins winning the opener 4-0 and the Brewers taking the nightcap 6-3.

Jim Palmer, the winningest pitcher in the AL, raised his record to 19-11 with relief help from Dyer Miller. Two months ago Palmer had a 6-7 record, but since then he's won 13 of 17 decisions and lowered his earned run average to an impressive 2.59.

Ken Singleton drove in two runs for the Orioles, and Al Burney scored three times.

Dave Goltz pitched no-hit ball for 6 1-3 innings and finished with a two-hitter and also struck out a career-high 11 batters for Minnesota in the opener. Steve Bove backed him with a three-run homer.

Van Joshua's two-run single in the seventh inning snapped a 3-3 tie in the nightcap for Milwaukee.

Graig Nettles' two-run homer in the seventh inning bucked the three-hit pitching of Doyle Alexander and kept the firstplace Yankees 11½ games ahead of Baltimore in the AL East. Oakland, by losing, missed an opportunity to gain ground on front-running Kansas City in the West and remained eight games back.

Duane Kuiper's fourth consecutive single keyed a three-run rally in the 10th inning that lifted the Indians over the White Sox.

Roy Howell drove in three runs and Tom Grieve hit a two-run homer to power Texas past Boston. Nelson Briles, 9-8, got the victory with relief help from Steve Foucault.

Injured Kilmer Receives Award

WASHINGTON (AP) — It just wouldn't be another National Football League season if Bill Kilmer were healthy.

The Washington Redskins quarterback played last season despite a right shoulder separation and a bone fracture in his left foot.

Even before that, he overcame a near-fatal automobile accident in 1962 while playing for the San Francisco 49ers and he played while injured when he was with the New Orleans Saints.

In 1973 Kilmer led the Washington Redskins to the playoffs despite recurring attacks of gastroenteritis that required post-season surgery to correct.

It is only fitting then that Kilmer, who has a possible cracked rib, will receive the George Hulas Award today as the National Football League's most courageous player.

"I haven't had the rib x-rayed and I'm not going to," said Kilmer, who will be 37 on Sunday, before receiving the award at the Redskins annual Welcome Home Luncheon sponsored by the Touchdown Club.

"Hell, what good is that?" "If I find out it's cracked, I've still got to play with it. It's probably not cracked anyway. It's not bothering my passing motion. The only time it bothers me is when I breathe real hard."

Typically gritty, Kilmer will put a bandage on his chest for a week or two and continue in the final preseason game against Chicago Friday night and the start of the season against the New York Giants the following weekend.

Earlier in the year, Kilmer, who now is in his 14th season, set a personal goal to make All-Pro and a team goal to win the NFC East division championship and go on from there.

"Sure, I'd love to be All-Pro this season. I'm striving for that individually, but I'm not going to sacrifice team goals for it. First of all, I want to win the division and make the playoffs. If that means sacrificing some percentage on my passes, I'm willing. All I want to do is be the best quarterback I can possibly be on a team that wins the division."

Kilmer has made the Pro Bowl team only once in his 14-year career. In 1972, when the Redskins made it to the Super Bowl.

NO MORE FOOTBALL: Sally Allen, a 16-year-old senior at Millwood high school, Oklahoma City, takes a football stance for the final time. The 5-foot-5, 134-pound senior had hoped to be the first girl player on a regular football team in Oklahoma, but after a week of practice decided to play the sax in the band instead. (AP Wirephoto)

Union Calls Pact Offer 'Insult To Ford Workers'

By OWEN ULLMANN
Associated Press Writer
DETROIT (AP) — The United Auto Workers debated whether to return to the bargaining table today after rejecting a Ford Motor Co. offer on a new contract as "regressive" and "an insult to Ford workers."

UAW President Leonard Woodcock warned after reviewing Tuesday's proposal that Ford has "one hell of a long way" to go to produce a settlement and avert a crippling nationwide strike by 167,000 workers before the current three-year pact expires at mid-Sept. 14.

The Ford proposal included an average 52½ cents an hour in new wages over three years, continued cost-of-living (COL) protection and a new health plan that would force workers to pay for some medical care.

The union was to decide whether to resume main table discussions today after it assesses the company offer and plans its next bargaining strategy. In the meantime, the union told Ford negotiators to be on "standby" for a resumption of talks.

The average Ford worker now makes $6.88 an hour in straight pay, of which $1.70 has come under the current pact — 56 cents in general hikes and $1.14 in COL money triggered by soaring inflation.

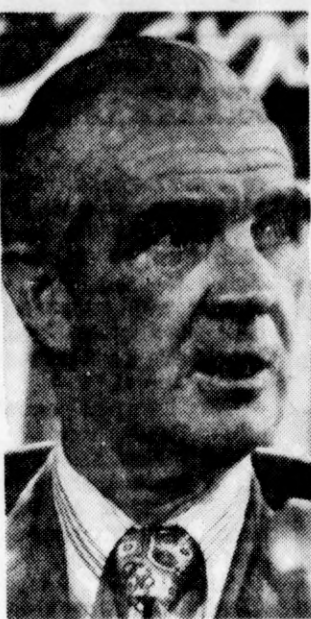

"This is the most regressive offer in all my years of bargaining in the auto industry," Woodcock declared. "They have put an impossible offer on the table and if they think we're going to chase them because we're leery of a strike, they've made a very bad guess."

The nation's No. 2 automaker, in its first economic proposal after six weeks of bargaining, also offered an unspecified additional wage hike for skilled tradesmen; improvements in life and disability insurance and parts of the pension plan, and a restructured benefits fund for laid-off workers to give high-seniority employees better protection from another round of massive furloughs which might exhaust the fund.

Woodcock said the package was "entirely unresponsive" to the union's 1976 priority demands for bolstering job and income security, including a shortening of work time and improved unemployment benefits for all laid off workers.

Woodcock also condemned the proposal as "a major take-away program which would cost the present Ford worker several hundred dollars a year." He referred to sections calling for:

- Employee "co-payments" for health care, now paid almost entirely by the automaker.
- Reduction in wage scales and benefits for new and rehired

McKenna (left) tells newsmen Tuesday about the company's new contract proposal while United Auto Workers President Leonard Woodcock termed the proposal "the most regressive offer in all my years of collective bargaining." 170,000 UAW workers will be affected by Sept. 14 strike deadline. employees.

- Stiffer penalties reducing vacation days for chronically absent workers.
- Using portions of general or COL wage hikes to pay for additional benefits negotiated.

The UAW has made Ford its target for setting the industry pattern on new pacts covering some 700,000 auto workers. In 1967, the last time Ford was the target, the firm was struck for 66 days.

Ford's top bargainer, Vice

President Sidney F. McKenna, said the union's reaction to the proposal has not reduced his optimism that an agreement could be reached before the strike deadline.

Austin, O'Hara: Flesh Willing But Heart Weak

By SUSAN AGER
Associated Press Writer
LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The two men who lost a chance at the U.S. Senate to Don Riegle say they will support his bid for the seat. But if they are behind him wholeheartedly, no one knows it.

Both are said to harbor some bitterness over the Flint

Congressman's surprise victory in the Aug. 3 primary, where he soundly beat frontrunner Secretary of State Richard Austin.

Neither Austin nor Congressman James O'Hara, the other loser, mentioned Riegle in speeches before the state Democratic convention last weekend in which they pledged support to the party ticket.

O'Hara, a lifelong Democrat, says he is still "kind of bothered" by Riegle, mainly because he has been a Democrat for only three years.

Riegle switched parties in 1973 in disgust with the Nixon administration and the Vietnam War.

Before the primary, O'Hara, 50, had called Riegle a "political transvestite." At the convention, when asked about the remark, he said of Riegle, "He's still a political transvestite but at least he's our political transvestite and not theirs."

Austin said Tuesday he is "100 per cent behind the Democratic ticket."

But when asked if he had any reservations about Riegle, he replied: "I'm promoting unity now, and I don't believe any expression of reservations would necessarily promote unity."

Riegle Gets Last Laugh Over Esch's Baloney Joke

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (AP) — Ann Arbor Congressman Marvin Esch's comment last weekend about Don Riegle, baloney sandwiches and a classy Michigan restaurant chain left Riegle chuckling this week.

Riegle, a Flint Congressman, is Esch's Democratic opponent for the U. S. Senate seat being vacated by retiring Democratic Sen. Philip Hart.

"Believe me, replacing Phil Hart in the Senate with Don Riegle would be akin to ordering a baloney sandwich at Win Schuler's," said Esch, a Republican, in a speech delivered to the party's state convention here.

Little did Esch know that Schuler had contributed $1,000 to Riegle's primary campaign, Riegle said Tuesday.

Esch's speech was changed from the advance text distributed before he spoke. In that version, he referred to the election of Riegle as ordering "a hot dog."

LaCorte Clips Cubs Relief Ace Saves Reds, Ends Skid

From ASSOCIATED PRESS
Rawley Eastwick was rested. After all, he had a day off. "I was ready for work," the Cincinnati Reds' relief ace said Tuesday. "I had last night off. I was getting itchy sitting around."

Cardinals 6-5.
"I didn't want to use him," Cincinnati Manager Sparky Anderson said, "but I didn't want to lose."

The Reds rallied for five runs in the seventh inning to post their come-from-behind victory and snap a three-game losing streak against St. Louis. Cards starter Pete Fikene, 11-12, was sailing along with a no-hitter until Pete Rose slapped a two-out single in the sixth. Ken Griffey walked and Joe Morgan singled to drive in Rose and narrow St. Louis' lead to 3-1.

In other National League games Tuesday, Atlanta stopped Chicago 5-3, Pittsburgh blanked San Diego 3-0, Los Angeles defeated Montreal 5-1 and Houston edged Philadelphia 3-2.

Right-hander Frank LaCorte hurled his second victory of the season as Atlanta topped the Chicago Cubs. "LaCorte had the best changeup he has had all year," said Braves Manager Dave Bristol. "It's possible he could have finished the game."

Jerry Royster scored the Braves' first run when he led off the game with a single, advanced to third on Rod Gilbreath's hit and scored on a sacrifice fly by Rowland Office. Atlanta added three more runs in the sixth on Ken Henderson's two-run double and Jim Wynn's sacrifice fly to ensure the victory.

Dave Parker drove in all three Pittsburgh runs with a homer and sacrifice fly and Jerry Reuss blanked San Diego, outdueling Randy Jones. Parker's sacrifice fly drove in the only run off Jones, who was going after his 21st victory, high in the majors.

J.R. Richard's six-hitter was backed up by Bob Watson pair of RBI singles as Houston topped Philadelphia. It was the Astros' sixth straight victory and the fifth straight loss for Philadelphia, which leads the NL East Division by 10 1/2 games.

Seven-hit pitching by starter Doug Rau and reliever Charlie Hough led Los Angeles past Montreal. Rau increased his record to 13-10, going seven innings and giving up six Montreal hits, including a pinch hit home run by Andre Thornton, his 11th of the year.

The Dodgers jumped off to a quick lead in the first on a two-run double by Bill Russell. In the eighth, a pinch hit single by Reggie Smith scored Lee Lacy from second, and Los Angeles added two more runs in the ninth.

Light-hitting Roy Staiger singled and scored the tying run in the seventh inning, then singled home the winning run in the eighth as the New York Mets defeated San Francisco.

Reliever Skip Lockwood gained the victory to level his record at 7-7. For Ed Halicki, 11-14, it was his first loss in five lifetime decisions against the Mets.

Duke Denies MSU Penalty Statement

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Big 10 Commissioner Wayne Duke has denied saying that Michigan State University would be informed of the conference's penalties against its football team within the next three weeks.

And Duke hedged on when he will have a decision on the 18-month-old conference probe into the Spartan football recruiting program.

"Our procedure is entirely different from the NCAA (National Collegiate Athletic Association) and it all depends on what transpires in the meantime, whether or not a final decision will be reached within three weeks," Duke said Tuesday.

The NCAA, after a year-long investigation, put MSU on a three-year probation, ruled seven players ineligible for varying lengths of time and banned the school from television appearances during its probation period.

Duke laid part of the blame for the Big 10 ruling delay on MSU itself, saying the school had "twice requested a delay." MSU officials filed their final formal response to a second set of allegations last week. A 250-page response was to the original violation charges was filed in April.

Duke added that the conference has initiated an investigation into charges of wrongdoing at MSU's arch-rival, Ohio State. Those charges were prompted by a MSU student newspaper report that OSU also had violated recruiting rules.

The two schools, which have been leveling charges and counter-charges at each other for two years, will face each other in the 1976 season opener at Columbus Sept. 11.

Michigan's Lewis Hurts Back In Football Drills

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Kirk Lewis, the University of Michigan offensive guard who sat out all of last season with a broken arm, injured his back this week and is being kept out of contact drills.

The injury is not considered serious, Coach Bo Schembechler said, and Lewis is expected to be back in the ranks when the Wolverines open their 1976 season at home Sept. 11 against Wisconsin.

Lewis and tailback Bob Lytle, who missed Saturday's scrimmage with a minor knee injury, are the only team members with injury problems so far.

Lytle is still the Wolverines' No. 1 tailback. Sophomore Russell Davis is in the fullback spot, and Jim Smith is the wingback in the backfield with sophomore quarterback Rick Leach.

One of the big jobs Schembechler has faced getting his team ready for the season is replacing 1975 graduate middle guard Tim Davis. A number of players, including senior Bob Lang, are up for the spot.

Two Wolverine guards (against Wake Forest and Michigan State) already have sold out, an athletic department spokesman said. He estimated at least $4,000 fans will be on hand for the season opener.

Wilson Named Rockies Coach

DENVER (AP) — Former Detroit Red Wings coach John Wilson was named Tuesday to coach the National Hockey League's Colorado Rockies. General Manager Ray Miron announced.

Wilson coached the Cleveland Crusaders of the World Hockey Association last season. He was with the NHL Red Wings from 1970 through 1972, before moving on to a one-year stint as assistant to the general manager of the Atlanta Flames.

He then moved on to the WHA's Michigan Stars and followed the club to Baltimore. In 1975-76 he moved to the helm of the Crusaders.

Slow U.S. Open Surface To Help Some Players

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP) — Horses for courses applies to tennis players as well as thoroughbred racers. Some competitors in the $46,800 U.S. Open Tennis Championships will be helped — and others will be hurt — by the slow, clay-like artificial surface at the West Side Tennis Club courts.

First-round men's singles action was scheduled for this afternoon and this evening in this richest of all tennis events, while women's play begins Thursday. Both men and women are aiming for $30,000 first prizes.

The baseliners, the moonshot artists who lay back and return everything hit their way, should benefit the most from the Har-Tru surface, which allows them to reach more shots than they would on a faster grass court. The hard servers who rely on a power game, however, will be at a disadvantage.

Among the men, Bjorn Borg of Sweden, defending champion Manuel Orantes of Spain, Adriano Panatta of Italy and the American "Bagel Twins," Harold Solomon and Eddie Dibbs, all play particularly well on clay, so their stock must rise in this event.

Borg, who won Wimbledon and WCT earlier this year, captured the U.S. Pro title on clay Monday night and rates as co-favorite with top-seeded Jimmy Connors. The ever-dangerous Connors won the last U.S. Open played on grass, in 1974, and lost to Orantes in last year's finals.

Panatta took the French and Italian crowns this spring — both on clay. Solomon made it to the finals of the French and U.S. Pro tournaments — both on clay. And Dibbs rates with Solomon among the brightest young baseliners in the game.

Behind Connors and Borg, the men's seedings have Guillermo Vilas of Argentina rated No. 3 followed by Panatta; fiery Ilie

Nastase of Romania; Orantes; veteran American Arthur Ashe, and Raul Ramirez of Mexico. Vilas, Nastase and Ashe figure to be among those hampered by the slow surface.

On the distaff side, the surface should help defending queen Chris Evert, who hardly needs the assistance. Miss Evert has won her last 85 matches on clay, and she breezed through the women's draw in last year's U.S. Open, the first played on the Har-Tru courts.

Miss Evert's likely final opponent is Evonne Goolagong, the Australian who has won virtually every major crown except this one. She bowed to Miss Evert in last year's title match, and has lost nine of their last 11 head-to-head encounters.

Also with a bye was defending champion Fred Ridley of Winter Haven, Fla., who opens his defense against Mike Stoll of Beaverton, Ore., a 2-1 winner over Mark Currett of Coatsville, Pa.

"I played this course on Sunday and Monday, so, in a way, I was happy to play in the first round and not have a bye," said Cowan referring to the added experience. Asked why he hadn't played in recent U.S. Amateurs, he answered: "In 1971, I decided to spend more time with the family and business and I did it."

Cowan Seeking Third Crown Opens With Easy Win In U.S. Amateur

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "It's an overworked word, but 'experience' is going to have an awful lot to do with who wins here," says Canadian Gary Cowan, embarking on a quest for a third U.S. Amateur Golf Championship.

Cowan, 37, from Kitchener, Ontario, captured the U.S. National Championship in both 1966 and 1972 and became the first foreigner to win the title since his countryman Sandy Somerville did it in 1932.

He admits he'd prefer it if the U.S. Amateur were still a medal play tournament as it was when he won, but after winning his opening match without losing a hole, he said, "I probably have a better chance of winning on this type of golf course."

Bel-Air, scene of this 76th championship event, proved itself demanding on opening day and will continue to do so through the 36-hole finals on Sunday.

"This is what you call a thinking golf course, you can't just go out and whack the ball," Cowan said Tuesday after whipping Dave Richards of Chambersburg, Pa., 7 and 6 in their 18-hole match.

Today he meets O. Gordon Brewer of Huntington Valley, Pa., who was one of 56 among the 290 qualifiers to draw an opening-round bye.

Also with a bye was defending champion Fred Ridley of Winter Haven, Fla., who opens his defense against Mike Stoll of Beaverton, Ore., a 2-1 winner over Mark Currett of Coatsville, Pa.

"I played this course on Sunday and Monday, so, in a way, I was happy to play in the first round and not have a bye," said Cowan referring to the added experience. Asked why he hadn't played in recent U.S. Amateurs, he answered: "In 1971, I decided to spend more time with the family and business and I did it."

degrees and more hot weather can be expected the rest of the week. British Amateur champion Dick Siderow of Westport, Conn., hopes his own game heats up.

He shut only an 82 but eliminated Mark Barge of Fargo, N.D., 1-up with a par 4 on the day's final hole. A triple bogey and double bogey showed on Siderow's card.

"I was pretty lucky to get away," he admitted readily. "You hit your ball into the bush on this course and you just can't get to the green in par. You might get just one round like I had and then either you'll be going home or playing better."

Today in one of the feature matches, he meets Julius Boros Jr., of Miami Beach, son of the two-time U.S. Open champion.

In the opening day's biggest upset, Vinny Gilles of Richmond, Va., a seasoned amateur, bowed to 22-year-old Don Reese.

State Pair Advance

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Two of four Michigan amateur golfers survived the first round 18-hole matches Tuesday in the 76th U.S. Amateur Golf Tournament.

Guy R. Billings of Haskett beat Bruce Hollowell of Springfield, Mo., 2-1, while Jack Van Ess of Comstock Park drew a bye to advance automatically to Wednesday's second round.

Defeated were William D. Braddock of Orchard Lake, who lost 2-1 to Phillip Hancock of Greenville, Ala., and Tom Fairgrieve of Grosse Ile, defeated 5-3 by Gilbert Cavanaugh of Jericho, N.Y.

A fifth Michigan golfer, Orchard Lake's Peter Green, had qualified for the nation's top amateur tournament but had to withdraw for personal reasons.

Galien Counts On Youngsters

GALIEN — Jerry Hess is banking Galien's football hopes this year on young kids with little experience.

With a roster bolstered by just four returning starters, though, Hess is almost forced to do so.

"If I had any brains I'd say we're rebuilding," Hess says. "But I don't believe in that. We lost seven starters and, unfortunately, most of them were two-way players."

"But I'm really optimistic. If the young kids develop and come through, we'll be in contention for the Red Arrow title."

Our goals are the same — 9-0 record, Red Arrow conference champs and to get into the Class D playoffs. I really believe we can do it if the young kids come through."

Galien finished strong last year, winning its last five games and outscoring those five opponents 155-40. But the Gaels lost standout performers Dale Luther (quarterback), split end Mark Koziel, tight end Mike Kuntz and fullback Craig Schau.

Hess adds there are some positive aspects to this year's team.

"The kids are used to my system," Hess says. "I also know the other teams in the league better and we have the winning streak going."

Galien has already lost three lettermen who were expected to gain starting spots. Tom Murdock is ineligible scholastically. John Webb elected not to play and Dennis Williams is injured.

Williams had knee surgery over the summer and will probably miss at least the first four games.

Heading the list of returning starters is Matt Koziel, a 6-1, 195-pounder who is being moved from tackle to quarterback. Koziel should get good protection from returnees Rick Kuntz (6-6, 218) and newcomer Mike Foster (6-0, 235) at tackle.

Lonnie Miller (5-9, 165), a starter last year at wingback, is being moved to tailback this season. The other letterman is tight end John Gunn (6-1, 172), a transfer student from Ohio who played at Galien as a freshman.

Galien will find out early if it is to be a title contender. The Gaels open their league season Sept. 24 at league powerhouse Hartford.

Vikings Expect Big Turnaround

NILES — Neil McLaughlin is expecting a total turnaround this season by his Niles football team.

Last season's 3-8 finish by the Vikings was McLaughlin's worst ever as a coach. But this time around he's hoping for one of his best ever.

EMU Picks Acting AD

YPSILANTI, Mich. (AP) — Baseball Coach Ron Oestrike has been named acting athletic director at Eastern Michigan University, to replace Dr. Albert Smith, who resigned last week.

The 44-year-old Oestrike, NCAA coach of the year last season, has been at EMU for 14 years. His 1976 Huron baseball team finished second in the College World Series.

EMU president James Brickley, announcing the appointment Tuesday, said Oestrike will hold the post until late December or early January.

Brickley added that the school would delay its search for a permanent athletic director, "in view of the fact that we have his stewardship on an acting basis."

Oestrike served as assistant football and baseball coach at EMU before becoming head baseball coach in 1965.

Dr. Smith resigned to become vice president for university relations at North Carolina A&T.

Record Round Has Two Aces

LEXINGTON, Va. (AP) — At the 17th hole at the Lexington Country Club Monday, 18-year-old David Brogan said, "all I wanted to do was break the course record."

He needed birdies on the last two holes.

At the 17th, he hit a 9-iron shot 143 yards over water to the par 3 green and watched the ball go into the cup.

"I was so excited, I just missed a 18-footer for a birdie on 18," said Brogan.

It was the second ace of his record-breaking round of 66.

Approximately two hours earlier, he had aed the 180-yard par 3 fourth hole, which also is over water, when his 7-iron shot landed in the cup.

They were the first holes-in-one ever for Brogan, who commented:

"I didn't say much either time. I guess I was too stunned."

"We didn't play very good football offensively in 1975," McLaughlin says. "We especially didn't play well near the goal line. There were fumbles, turnovers, mistakes and missed assignments — things you overcome with experience."

And this year Niles has that experience. Niles' big problem last season was offense. The Vikings were shutout four times and scored just 54 points in nine games.

"We have to eliminate the turnovers and breakdowns," McLaughlin says. "Of the six games we lost, we couldn't win four of them. The kids were never blown off. It was just a matter of a first down here and a fumble there."

The Vikings return 19 players who started at least three times last season.

Heading the list is an explosive backfield and a strong offensive line. Niles' top two tailbacks from last season return — Kevin Thomas (584 yards) and Tom Donley (430). Juniors Tyrrence Spencer (5-8, 180) and Curtis Partee (5-10, 178) are back to see most of the fullback action.

Toby Lewallen (6-0, 160), who started six games last season is also back.

On the line will be end Glen Wilken (6-0, 155), tackles Greg Rupp (5-11, 185) and Brian Crocker (6-0, 200), guards Tom Witkowski (5-11, 170) and Ken Fletcher (5-8, 180) and center John Kulis (6-0, 180).

"We know we're going to be much, much better this year," McLaughlin says. "We got a lot of playing experience and we're much bigger than we were a year ago. Last year we only had one starter over 185 pounds. This year we could start anywhere from 10 to 12."

McLaughlin expects Kalamazoo Loy Norris and Portage Northern to be the Vikings' biggest competition for the Big Seven title.

FADED PHRASES: "He's full of the Old Nick" and "Oh, fudge!"... Gwen Verdon's "Chicago" costume drew $1,000 at a charity auction. The actual cost of the outfit was $55!... Dustin Hoffman was named after his mother's favorite movie actor, Dustin Farnum. He said it could have been worse. She might have been a fan of Gloria Swanson's!... Girl-Watching: "Bobby Deerfield" star Martha Keller, who hails from Basel. (She's my kind of Swiss Miss!)... Famed circus ringmaster Austin Miles has quit showbiz to become an evangelist... Sandwich Favorite of hairstylist George Caroll: Glazed Danish ham, slice of thick red cabbage and chopped Bermuda onion on toasted Kaiser roll... Roseland dance star Don De Natale, after two hours of "hustle" dancing, gets his energy back with a big Thermos bottle of fruit drinks... Bob Hope asked Jimmy (Monsignore II) Auferio why he goes to Italy so often. Jimmy answered: "So that I won't be losing my Italian accent."... Sudden Thought: Don't you wish you could have the same wonderful time at parties that the people have on those TV beer commercials?

KAVANAUGH, FERENCY ELBOWED

Labor Still Democrats' Muscle

By SUSAN AGER
Associated Press Writer
LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Michigan labor showed Democrats last weekend that it is still the muscle and the fist of the state party.

It was labor's power that rippled through the two-day state Democratic convention in Detroit, bumping incumbent Supreme Court Chief Justice Thomas G. Kavanagh off the party ticket, and elbowing away Zoltan Ferency, who made a loud bid to rejoin the party as one of its Supreme Court nominees.

Ferency had support from United Auto Workers Vice President Douglas Fraser, but it wasn't enough.

Rank-and-file labor, which had once supported both men, carried grudges this time: against Kavanagh for his unfavorable apportionment stance and Ferency because he jilted the party to help build his own more liberal Human Rights party.

Women and teachers, who did not endorse labor's candidates at the convention, suspect it also was labor muscle that helped defeat two women candidates for statewide education boards.

Though all of labor's Supreme Court endorsees won, close to a third of the delegates voted instead for Kavanagh and Ferency. In fact, Ferency's caucus reception, evenly divided between cheers and boos, was the loudest to disturb the outwardly tranquil gathering.

The Ferency-Kavanagh votes came despite last-minute

muscling on the floor by UAW, AFL-CIO and American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees delegates.

State Rep. George Cushingberry, who nominated Ferency, said he was told by labor delegates that he was "seriously hurting" himself and his future with the party. Congressional candidate Edward Pierce of Ann Arbor also was told to cool his volunteers' ardor for Ferency or risk less enthusiastic labor backing.

Pierce refused to tell his workers how to vote. And Cushingberry, a 23-year-old black from Detroit, says he doesn't need labor's support anyway.

Ferency came to the convention hoping to put together "a coalition of the left" and what he called a "progressive court," to consist of Kavanagh in the eight-year-term, Wayne County Circuit Court Judge Blair Moody in the six-year-term and himself in the two-year-term.

Instead, Democrats face a tough fight to elect the candidates they nominated.

"If the Democrats had sat down and for two weeks studied a way to hand the seats to the Republicans, they couldn't have done a better job," said Ferency after the convention.

Wayne County Circuit Court Judge Roman Gibbs, a former Detroit mayor, faces not only a Republican for the eight-year Supreme Court term, but also Kavanagh, who will have the helpful "Supreme Court Justice" under his name on the Nov. 2 ballot.

Judge Moody, nominated for the six-year seat, faces Republican incumbent Lawrence Lindemer and Ferency, who already got the nomination from the HRP to seek that seat.

A third Wayne County judge, Charles Kaufman, has a name that may not be strong enough to topple incumbent Republican James Ryan for the two-year term.

But UAW CAP Council director Sam Fishman put it this way: "It's bad for a party to nominate anyone who breaks faith with the party and the people on where they stand on the issue."

"The loss of any one seat is less important than that principle," he said, applying it to both Kavanagh and Ferency.

Kavanagh "broke the faith" on apportionment — a dry, complicated but politically volatile issue that explodes after every census as parties try to get legislative districts redrawn to their advantage.

And labor is always in the thick of it. Of Kavanagh's stand on apportionment, Fishman said before the convention, "We're aware of his position and it's full of shit."

UAW Vice President Doug Fraser said Kavanagh would not have lost his support if the chief justice's only sin was refusing to campaign for other Democratic candidates. The fatal flaw, Fraser said, was Kavanagh's apportionment stand.

When a split Legislative Apportionment Commission in 1972 tossed the hot issue into the Supreme Court's lap, Kavanagh refused to endorse either party plan. He said the whole system that let the courts decide a legislative issue was unconstitutional.

The redistricting flap will come up again in 1981, and labor wants a certain Democratic majority on the court to favor the party's own apportionment plan.

WMU MASTER'S: Douglas Carlson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Carlson, 230 Ward Avenue, St. Joseph, received a master's degree in counseling and personnel this month from Western Michigan University. He received a bachelor's degree cum laude from WMU in 1975 and is currently director of Morris hall at Vincennes (Ind.) university.

Fraser says Ferency's bid was attractive to him "because basically it would assure Moody in my political view of election, and I thought it would get Zoltan back in the Democratic party where I happen to think he belongs."

But when Fraser tried to talk up the idea with others, "It didn't fly" — in part because there was not enough time to build support.

"One of the reasons it didn't fly was because we were also dealing with the Kavanagh situation, and people were saying, 'How can you be opposed to Kavanagh because of lack of party loyalty and then support Ferency?'"

Fraser said he had no problems with that, since he didn't oppose Kavanagh because of the chief justice's disloyalty "but because I think he's a bad judge."

In Ferency's case, labor support failed to come because the rank-and-file who once backed him felt "he's a negative guy," said Fishman. "The average one would say, 'Look, he's an irrepressible person.'"

But Fraser says there's no reason why Ferency couldn't come back to run for office as a Democrat in the future, as long as he made his bid early enough to build himself support among the rank-and-file, and as long as he gave his loyalties to Democratic, not HRP, candidates.

New President To Rule On B1

By MARRISON HUMPHRIES
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The congressional compromise on the B1 bomber leaves the plane's ultimate fate in the hands of the man occupying the White House next Feb. 1.

Supporters of the plane hailed the decision Tuesday by Senate and House conferees to allow work to proceed on the bomber. Opponents also were happy, and they pointed to the spending limit of $87 million a month until Feb. 1, after the next president is inaugurated.

Rep. Robert L.F. Sikes, D-Fla., a member of the conference committee seeking a compromise between Senate and House versions, called the decision "a modified go ahead."

The $87-million monthly limit is one-twelfth of the $1.049 billion requested by the Pentagon for initial costs of a planned fleet of 244 bombers estimated to cost $22 billion. Opponents of the plane say the spending limit makes it easier for the project to be stopped if the next president so decides.

Both the House and Senate previously approved the production funding as part of a $16-billion military appropriation for the 12 months beginning Oct. 1.

But the Senate added a restriction prohibiting spending of any of the production money until next Feb. 1 to give the newly inaugurated president a chance to review completed prototype test data and decide whether to proceed.

The Ford administration reportedly was prepared to sign a B1 production contract in November, committing some $650 million for production of the first three operational aircraft.

Jimmy Carter, the Democratic presidential nominee, has indicated his doubts about proceeding with B1 production, and the Democratic party platform urges delay in funding.

In another development in the B1 program, the Air Force reported Tuesday that part of a B1 bomber body section cracked

Louisville Has Stormy Start For School Busing

By BILL HENDRICK
Associated Press Writer
LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) —

The second year of court-ordered school busing began here today after police used tear gas to break up a rock-and-bottle-throwing protest by more than 1,000 busing opponents.

Six persons were arrested in the disturbance Tuesday night, authorities said. No injuries were reported.

Both sides in the busing controversy, which began last year after a federal judge ordered city-county busing to achieve racial balance, had forecast calm for the new school year.

But a march and rally of about 300 to 500 busing foes grew into an unruly crowd of more than 1,000 protesters who blocked a highway, tossed rocks and bottles at police and chanted defiance of school desegregation, according to police.

School leaders predicted that attendance today would be down, partly because many pupils aren't expected to attend classes until after the Labor Day weekend. This year's projected enrollment is 118,800, down from 122,000 last year.

Louisville Police Chief John Nevin said after Tuesday night's incident that he was no longer as optimistic as he has been that the school year will be different from 1975, when court-ordered busing first went into effect.

The disturbance was the nation's first major anti-busing demonstration of the new school year. Last week, Dallas schools opened for the first time with busing — without trouble. Schools in Boston, scene of anti-busing violence for the past two years, open Sept. 8.

Two of those arrested here were accused of disorderly conduct, two of driving while intoxicated and two of third-degree criminal mischief. One allegedly set fire to a dumpster garbage container.

When demonstrators began throwing objects at police and sitting in the middle of the highway, police fired "less than 10" tear gas canisters into the crowd, a police spokesman said. More than 40 anti-busing, civil rights and community leaders Monday had called for a peaceful school opening. They pledged to "work to find a peaceful means to achieve the best possible education."

In response, U.S. District Court Judge James F. Gordon on Tuesday lifted a year-old ban that prevented crowds from gathering along the routes of county school buses. However, he left intact an order prohibiting persons from assembling near schools without permission.

Tuesday night's march and demonstration were not far from Jefferson County's Southern High School, the scene last year of one of the largest and most violent anti-busing demonstrations.

The fracas on Tuesday night started as a peaceful march from a shopping center about a mile from the high school, police said. Busing opponents then returned to the shopping center area and were joined by several hundred more demonstrators.

Bright Lights Keep Business Booming In Las Vegas

By GARY R. PEDERSEN
Associated Press Writer
LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — There are men who ride around this city at night, looking for dim spots in the brilliant landmarks of the gambling capital of the world.

In their trucks they carry long ladders, lots of wire and thousands of light bulbs to keep the huge and famous casino and hotel signs bright. These men are the electric sign company workers, laboring daily in one of the largest businesses in Las Vegas.

Each year sign companies pop thousands of light bulbs into a myriad of signs. At the same time they put up new signs, tear down old ones and in the process pump millions of dollars into the Clark County economy.

Officials estimate there are five million light bulbs in the town's signs. They are quick to point out that there also is nearly 100 miles of neon tubing mixed in there somewhere.

The hotels and casinos have for years strived to outdo their competitors when it comes to signs. To have the tallest, the widest, the heaviest, the brightest, the most expensive or whatever was the rage. Out of that competition came signs nearly 200 feet tall, with sophisticated lighting gear operated by computers. Gaudy and unique, they loom on the Las Vegas skyline.

The sign owners once advertized about how the electricity to run their signs would keep a housing tract in power for days.

Then came the energy crisis. The famous signs of Las Vegas were dimmed. The sign companies which maintained them cringed, and so did the casino owners when they saw revenues dropping drastically.

"When they turned them back on after the energy crisis, business began booming again," said Van Tuyl, of Heath Co., a firm which services a number of Las Vegas signs.

"Signs are very important to Las Vegas. Clark County depends on gambling for its major revenue source. And for the gambling we depend on tourists. They come here to enjoy the carnival atmosphere of the city, that's what they are after and the bright lights contribute to it. Frankly, I don't think Las Vegas could survive without the signs."

Las Vegas has two distinct casino-hotel areas. There is famous "Glitter Gulch," named for its brightness at night in the downtown area, and the newer, famed Strip, a loose string of luxurious hotels which have casinos inside.

Tuyl said the gulch sidewalk-to-roof lighting was designed to keep nighttime as bright as the southern Nevada days.

"It was made that way to keep people in the casinos around the clock," he said.

Times changed, and casinos began moving southward on the Strip. Practicality kept hotels from stringing millions of light bulbs on facades, so came the huge signs, which have become trademarks. Added to that in some cases, like the MGM Grand and Caesar's Palace, are exterior lights, which illuminate the hotels, making them visible for miles around.

But the real battle involves the signs.

Stardust Hotel officials say theirs is the tallest at 188 feet. It has more than 40,000 bulbs.

10,000 florescent tubes, operated by 27 lighting sequences. If that isn't enough, it is planted in 400 tons of concrete and is designed to withstand hurricane force winds.

Publicist Dee Spencer said the sign consumes enough energy to keep 1,500 homes going one day.

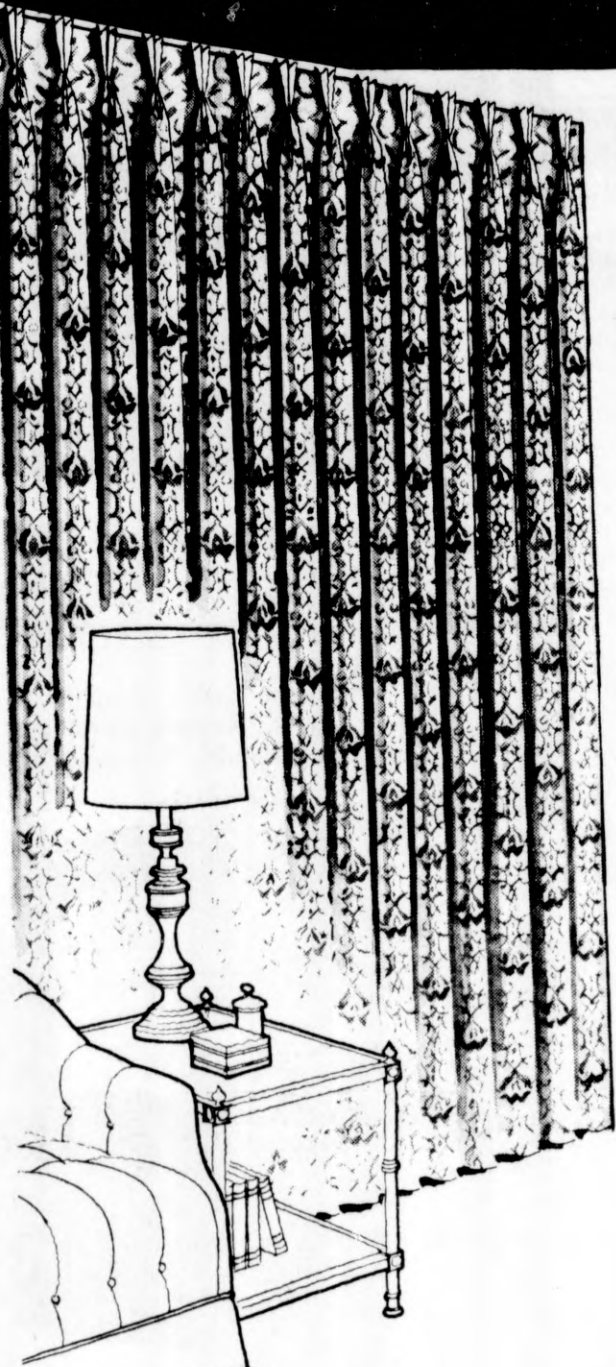

"When people come to this town, they want to see the lights," she said. "When we turned down the lights during the energy crisis, business dropped. With the loss of lights we lost some of the atmosphere. It was like going to a cocktail party where there were no cocktails."

The Dunes Hotel requires three full-time servicemen to watch over its 7,200 bulbs and several miles of neon tubing. The power bill is estimated at $500 per day.

Electric Chair Is Waiting For Man From Ypsi

By BILL DALTON
YPSILANTI, Mich. (AP) — A former Ypsilanti man may be the first person to die in Florida's electric chair following the recent Supreme Court ruling upholding the death penalty.

Gary E. Alvord, now 27, sits on death row in Florida State Prison, convicted in 1973 on three counts of first-degree murder — the strangulation slayings of a Tampa woman, her daughter and her granddaughter.

In the late 1960s, Alvord stunned Ypsilanti with the kidnap-rape of a 10-year-old girl, bizarre suicide attempts and numerous escapes from jails and state mental institutions.

The Tampa attorney representing Alvord claims his client's crimes might have been prevented, had Michigan mental health officials sufficiently pursued him after his 1973 escape from Ionia State Hospital.

Alvord is one of 76 persons now awaiting execution in Florida, where executions could begin as early as October, according to a spokesman for Florida's Department of Rehabilitation. The last execution in that state was in 1964.

Alvord's attorney, Thomas Meyers, said it is "quite likely that he (Alvord) may be the very first to go."

Alvord has exhausted all appeals, Meyers said, and his "only hope at this point is commutation of his death sentence to life by the governor's clemency board."

"That is a very remote possibility," he added.

Meyers described his client as a person with "an engaging personality...a likeable individual."

It was a long and twisted road that finally led Alvord to Florida's death row, a road that began for the former Taylor, Mich., man when he was committed to Northville State Hospital in May 1960 because of repeated thefts. He was 13 years old.

Hospital Supt. Dr. E. G. Yudashkin then described Alvord as a "mixed-up kid trying to find himself in a disturbed way," and transferred him to Ionia State Hospital when he was 16, where Alvord was classified as "homicidal."

Yet on Jan. 7, 1968, Alvord was placed on "visiting" status to allow him to go home for short stays. While away, he found a job in Inkster, and was later switched to "convalescent" status.

He never returned to the mental institution.

Alvord came to Ypsilanti in July 1967. He took a job as a spot welder and hi-low driver in an area auto plant.

On Oct. 21, 1967, a 10-year-old girl was grabbed while walking near her Ypsilanti home. She was carried into a nearby garage and sexually assaulted. Three days later, Ypsilanti police arrested Alvord at his home, charging him with rape and kidnapping.

He attempted to escape from police when taken to the jail, but was tripped by an Ypsilanti police detective sergeant before getting too far.

The next day, Alvord tried to kill himself in his cell at the Ypsilanti police station by stuffing cigarettes in his nose and down his throat. He was treated at a hospital and taken to Washtenaw County Jail.

In late November, Alvord tried again to kill himself — swallowing nuts and bolts after dismantling a shower — and had to undergo surgery.

On Jan. 5, 1967, someone smuggled hacksaw blades to Alvord in the jail and he cut his way through the bars on his cell's windows. He was halfway through before being spotted by deputies.

Apprehended, he was placed in solitary confinement, where he ripped the water pipes out of a corner of the cell, flooding the jail basement.

Alvord then was strapped into a straitjacket. He got loose. He was put into it again. He got loose again. He finally was handcuffed to his bed.

Meanwhile, Circuit Judge John W. Conlin ruled Alvord unfit to stand trial. Two psychiatrists said Alvord suffered from auditory hallucinations — voices from the spiritual world — and took orders from those voices.

Alvord was sent to Ionia State Hospital for at least 18 months or until psychiatrists deemed him competent to stand trial.

Finally, on May 12, 1970, Alvord was found innocent by reason of insanity on the kidnap-rape charges and returned to Ionia. But not for long. He walked away from his job as a yard worker at the hospital Feb. 18, 1971.

Ypsilanti police picked him up that night. Immediately after his return, Alvord escaped again and was recaptured in 20 minutes.

In 1973, Alvord escaped from Ionia one last time and headed for Florida. About six months later, the three Tampa women were slain.

Trooper Patrol Permanent?

DETROIT (AP) — Gov. William Milliken says he may keep state troopers patrolling Detroit freeways on a permanent basis. Milliken said that he has "no immediate plans" to withdraw the 72 troopers who have been patrolling Detroit's 62 miles of freeway since Friday. Milliken ordered the trooper patrols to free Detroit police to work on the problem of teen gang violence. Milliken said he is reviewing the "budgetary implications of longer range use, and frankly, reviewing the possibility of a permanent use of the state troopers within the city of Detroit."

Uncle Sam Looking For Your Ideas

By LOUISE COOK

Associated Press Writer

The government is looking for consumers' opinions on everything from chicken hot dogs to air conditioners.

Here are some of the proposals made by various federal agencies and information on how to make your views known:

POULTRY SAUSAGE

at the request of the poultry industry, is trying to work out standards for cooked sausage — hot dogs, bologna and knock-wurst — made out of chicken, turkey or other poultry. According to one survey cited by the government, there are 66 plants producing "turkey franks," "chicken wieners" and the like.

The USDA's proposal would set a maximum amount of fat in the finished product — 25 per cent — and a minimum amount of protein — 12 per cent. It would require manufacturers who use giblets to include this information on the label. A listing of the binders used, such as dried skim milk, soy protein concentrate and vegetable starch, also would be required on the label.

Oct. 25 is the deadline for comments. Write to Hearing Clerk, Agriculture Department, Washington, D.C., 20250.

AIR CONDITIONERS

The Federal Energy Administration has proposed a set of test procedures to measure the energy efficiency of energy consumption of room air conditioners. These test procedures, worked out with the National Bureau of Standards, will be used by still another agency, the Federal Trade Commission, in determining product labeling rules.

The proposed procedures measure cooling capacity in British thermal units (BTUs) per hour under certain conditions. The proposal also sets various formulas for figuring out estimated annual operating costs and energy consumption.

Sept. 10 is the deadline for comments. Write to Executive Communications, Room 3339, Federal Energy Administration, Box 18, Washington, D.C., 20461. Put "Room Air Conditioners — Proposed Test Procedures" on the label.

RECALLS

The Food and Drug Administration is describing — for the first time — the responsibilities of industry in dealing with products recalled under FDA jurisdiction. The list includes foods, prescription and over-the-counter drugs for humans and animals, cosmetics and medical devices.

Some of the practices spelled out in the regulations already are followed on an informal basis. Here are highlights of the formal guidelines:

—Manufacturers and distributors are expected to assume responsibility and expense for removing defective or harmful products from the market. The industry also is responsible for follow-up checks on the effectiveness of the recall.

—Companies should develop contingency plans for product recalls so they can put them into effect rapidly. They must notify the FDA as soon as they remove a product.

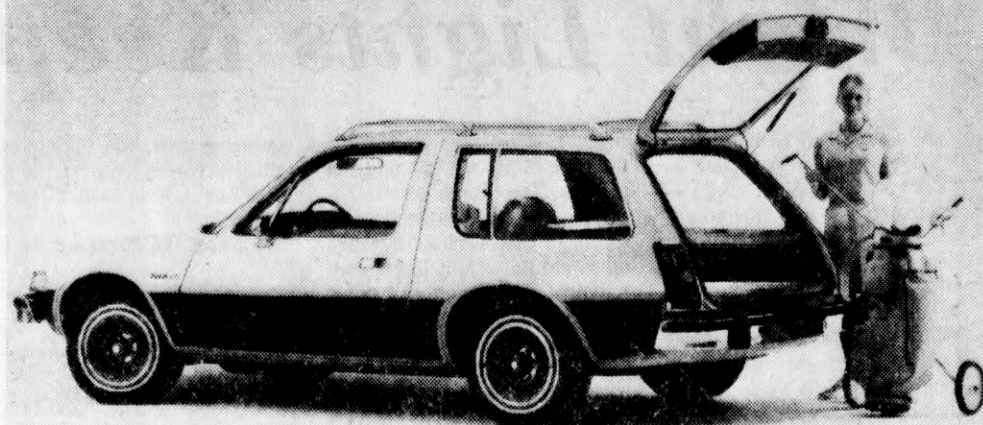

—Companies should keep records for use in tracing the distribution of a product and should use codes that identify specific batches of recalled products.

The original deadline for comment was Aug. 30, but it has been extended to Sept. 29 at the request of the American Bakers Association. Write to Hearing Clerk, Food and Drug Administration, 5600 Fishers Lane, Rockville, Md., 20852.

In another area, the FDA is imposing long-delayed labeling requirements for

"hypoallergenic" cosmetics. The rules originally were to take effect July 7, 1975. They were delayed pending court proceedings, but the agency says further delay is not in the public interest.

Starting Sept. 3, therefore, manufacturers of hypoallergenic drugs will be required to substantiate their claims or stop making those claims on cosmetic labels. The companies have two years in which to prove their products. The rules also specify the conditions such as dermatological testing under which a cosmetic may be labeled hypoallergenic.

IMPORTANT FOR TEACHING YOUR CHILD

Good Books Nowadays Hard To Find

By KATHERYN DUFFEL
Reading Reform Foundation

CHAPTER EIGHT

As your child becomes a better and better reader — and he will — you will want to provide him with lots of good books for practice (and you will find these very helpful in your teaching). This is not as easy as you might think.

First, the look-say books he brings home from school will be practically worthless in reviewing and reinforcing his phonics skills.

The best books are those from publishers of intensive phonics programs. These introduce new vocabulary in a phonetic order, giving your child the right practice he needs as he masters new sound/spellings. Normally, however, these are sold in bulk lots to schools, and parents may have difficulty placing individual orders with a few publishers.

There are, of course, many colorful little story books available in the stores and local libraries. You will have to judge their value by looking at the vocabulary and descriptions on the jackets.

If the book seems to be based on the phonetic words your child can work out, use it. But don't waste time on books which proudly proclaim they contain the same sight words your child is learning in school.

As you learn intensive phonics with your child, you will learn to distinguish between real phonics programs and those sight word programs disguised

some publishers simply added more words and boasted. "Our books now teach more than 500 child's reading.

We mentioned earlier that your child's sight word books from school won't help him much in practicing phonetic reading. That brings up a sad fact.

You will see a steady improvement in your child's reading at home. You will see him read, write and spell hundreds of words his classmates don't know. But you won't see an instant improvement in his reading grade at school.

The sight word system is so disorganized, so chaotic, that words are thrown into the reading books with no rhyme nor reason. "Pterodactyl" is such an extreme example, let's consider the common word "house." This may be included very early in your child's sight word program at school. But the "ou" spelling, as in house, is one of the less common phonetic elements which you won't teach your child until he has first mastered the long vowel sounds. His sight word books will not have most of the hundreds of words your child can read, and they will be sprinkled liberally with words for which he is not yet quite ready ("pterodactyl," indeed!).

Learning two ways at once won't confuse your child so much that you need worry about it, because your way will win. Just grin and bear it, dear parent, knowing that soon your child will be reading anything and everything the school puts before him.

And never forget: your aim is not just to help him tomorrow at school, but to teach him how to read, which will help him forever.

Congress Votes

BY CONGRESSIONAL QUARTERLY

WASHINGTON — Votes of area members of Congress on key roll calls for the week ending Aug. 27 were:

SENATE

Abortion — By a 55-43 vote, the Senate for the second time this year refused to go along with a House initiated move to prohibit the use of federal funds to pay for or to promote abortions. A House-Senate conference committee has been unable to reach a compromise on the issue, delaying passage of an important Labor-Health, Education and Welfare appropriations bill.

Senators voting in favor of the House initiated anti-abortion amendment said it was needed to prevent the federal government from financing abortions, which they said were immoral. They also denied charges that the amendment would interfere with teaching practices at medical schools or would prevent operations necessary to save the life of a mother.

Senators voting against the anti-abortion amendment argued that abortions would be prohibited even in cases where the operation was needed to save the life of the mother and that the amendment would prevent medical schools from teaching about abortions. They also maintained the bill would discriminate against poor women who rely on publicly-funded health facilities while doing nothing to curb abortions for rich women who could afford private clinics.

Voting in favor of House anti-abortion amendment: Griffin (R).

Voting against House anti-abortion amendment: Hart (D).
Postal Service — By a 26-58 vote, the Senate rejected an amendment to a postal reorganization bill that would have brought the U.S. Postal Service back under the control of Congress. The amendment would have required the semi-independent corporation to come in Congress for annual budget authorization and appropriations. It would also have provided for presidential appointment and Senate confirmation of the Postmaster General.

Supporters of bringing the Postal Service back under congressional control contended that in its five years as a semi-independent corporation, it had left a record of poor service, mounting costs and growing debts. A Postal Service accountable to Congress would be more likely to respond to the needs of the public, they said.

Opponents of the amendment argued that the move was a radical one that would destroy the Postal Service just when it was beginning to overcome the "growing pains" of its early years of independence. To bring the agency under Congress, they maintained, would be to subject it to political pressures that would interfere with sound business practices.

The House had approved a similar amendment in 1975.

Voting to return Postal Service to congressional control: None.

Voting not to return Postal Service to congressional control: Griffin (R).

Not voting: Hart (D).
Federal School Funds — The Senate voted 44-42 to table (kill) an amendment to a higher education bill that would have required a formal administrative hearing before the Department of Health, Education and Welfare could withhold federal funds from a school district the department considered to be in violation of federal law.

Proponents of the amendment said requiring a formal administrative hearing would simply give school districts the same "due process" right individual citizens already have.

But opponents charged the action would remove the government's most effective method of preventing race or sex discrimination in the schools — the threat of an immediate loss of federal funds.

Voting to kill amendment requiring administrative hearing before education funds cutoff: Griffin (R).

Voting not to kill amendment requiring administrative hearing before education funds cutoff: Griffin (R).

Not voting: Hart (D).

BICENTENNIAL FACTS
"THERE is a time to pray and a time to fight," proclaimed Lutheran pastor Peter Muhlenberg to his Woodstock, Va., congregation as he tore off his vestments January, 1775, to reveal the uniform of a militia officer. Lutherans, along with Congregationalists, Baptists and middle colonies Presbyterians favored independence from England. The Society of Friends opposed all wars, including the Revolution. Anglicans, The World Almanac notes, were in an awkward spot, as their English-led clergy was tied by oath to the crown.

BH Schools Expecting 10,188 Students Tuesday

A downward trend in enrollment for Benton Harbor Area schools may be reversed next week when 10,188 students are expected for the start of classes

Tuesday.

The anticipated enrollment is the most since 1973 when 10,615 were enrolled. The Benton Harbor district enrollment peaked at nearly 12,000 in 1966, but has since decreased every year. Last year's enrollment was 10,103.

Benton Harbor is Berrien county's largest school district. The district has nearly 550 teachers.

Supt. Richard Helser said this year's expected enrollment breaks down to 5,750 elementary students; 368 special education; 140 preschool; 2,330 at Benton Harbor high; 290 at Hull junior high; 580 at Fairplain junior high; and 620 at Benton Harbor junior high.

Helser said no changes have been made in daily operating schedules. High school students will report to school at 8 a.m., with dismissal for many students at 1:05 p.m. For those with sixth-hour classes, the senior high day will end at 2:40 p.m.

All three junior highs will operate on an 8:15 a.m. to 2:50 p.m. school day.

Starting times for elementary schools vary according to location. Schools within the city limits of Benton Harbor operate from 8:30 a.m. to 2:35 p.m. They include Morton, King, Seely McCord, Columbus, Calvin Britain and Sterne Brunson. All other elementary schools start at 8:55 a.m. and end the school day at 3 p.m.

Lunches will be served in all schools beginning on the first day of school. This includes all 23 elementary schools, Benton Harbor high school, and the three junior highs. Lunch periods are adjusted at each school to handle the enrollment and facilities.

Punch tickets will be sold for the first week of school (4 days) at a cost of $2. School lunch prices have not been increased this year, so a regular lunch ticket for a full week (5 days) will cost $2.50, or 50 cents daily.

One-half pint milk is included with all lunches. Students who bring lunches from home or who wish to purchase additional milk can buy milk tickets for 50 cents, good for 10 half-pints.

The federally-funded pilot breakfast program at Bard, Calvin Britain, and Columbus schools will begin Sept. 13.

Principals will be sending home information to parents on this program.

Principals in each school also have information about qualifications for both reduced-price and free school lunches. The federal government sponsors a program which allows either reduced-price or free lunches for some school children depending on income levels and number of dependents.

Registration for students new to the area have been continuing since mid-August. Parents interested in obtaining information about school registrations should visit the nearest neighborhood school or call 926-1141 during normal business hours.

Coloma Hires New Firm To Fix Gym Floor

COLOMA — The Coloma school board yesterday in a special meeting hired a new firm for repair work at the water-damaged Alwood gymnasium after the low bidder declined to accept the job. The board awarded the project to the Pearson Construction Co., Benton Harbor. The firm had bid $4,990 to remove the existing damaged floor and bid $9,800 to pour a cement slab for a new basketball floor.

Pearson's bids were $2,890 higher than the low bids for the work submitted by the J. Bauer Corp., Detroit.

The board had awarded the project to Bauer Aug. 23.

In a letter to the board, the firm said it was refusing to accept the project because the board would not purchase the new gym floor material from it.

Bauer had bid $29,000 on the flooring. Another firm, the Foster Flooring Corp., Wixom, Mich., had bid the flooring at $27,820 and won the contract.

In its letter, Bauer said it had intended that its three bids be considered as an offer to do the entire project only.

The existing gym floor buckled after storm water seeped under the doors during a July 20 rainstorm.

The board yesterday rejected a bid from another firm, Williams Construction, Benton Harbor, which had offered to remove the cement floor for $4,850.

In a related matter, the board voted to request state approval to pay for the work from $90,000 in the 1971 building and site fund.

RICHLAND, Wash. (AP) — Two workmen still receiving antiradiation treatments after a chemical explosion at a nuclear plant are in "generally good condition," a federal official says.

But Tom Bauman, a spokesman for the federal Energy Research and Development Administration, declined comment when asked Tuesday how much radiation they absorbed or whether it could impair their health.

New Buffalo Rehiring Teachers

NEW BUFFALO — In the wake of a successful millage election, the New Buffalo school board last night voted to rehire 11 of the 17 teachers it had laid off last March.

Last night's special meeting came one day after voters approved a 16.612-mill property tax levy for three years. If the additional millage had not passed, board members said they would have been meeting last night to lay off more teachers.

Supt. Walter Schwarz said another two of the remaining six laid off teachers are still waiting to see if jobs become available this school year.

He said board members were to review the 1976-77 budget soon to see if the positions could be staffed. The other four teachers will not return, he said.

The 17 were laid off last March on the chance there might not have been enough money this fall to rehire them.

In a related matter, the board hired four teachers who will be at least partially paid from special state and federal programs.

Schwarz said there are now 63 full-time teachers and six special education teachers ready to start classes this fall. He said he expects that with an estimated enrollment of 1,400 students, the average class size will be 25 pupils.

In other matters, the board voted to borrow $200,000 from the Michigan National Bank of Michiana, Cassopolis. The bank's offer of 3.64 per cent interest was the lowest of two bids. The money is being borrowed in anticipation of local taxes.

Pipestone Mall Negotiating With 3 Big-Name Stores

By RALPH LUTZ
Staff Writer

Carson Pirie Scott & Co. to lease space in the proposed Pipestone Mall shopping center in Benton township, a developer of the mall said Tuesday. "I've been working with them for years," said Joshua T. Weiner, a partner in the Meyer

C. Weiner Co. of Oak Brook, Ill. "You can't say they've leased space, but they're in the process of negotiations."

"The Pipestone Mall certainly is planning on those three major stores,"

Meyer C. Weiner and father of Joshua Weiner, announced Tuesday that a 72-acre tract for development of the enclosed mall has been sold to Westcor, Inc. of Phoenix, Ariz., and Dayton Hudson Properties of Minneapolis, Minn.

The remaining 278 acres of the Benton township site were retained by the Pipestone Development Co., Ltd., a Michigan limited partnership comprised of Meyer Weiner and Jens Jensen of the architectural firm of Jensen and Jensen, Oak Brook.

A 1976 trade publication called "Shopping Center Leasing Opportunities" reports a total of 457,000 square feet of the planned Pipestone Mall for Penney, Sears and Carson Pirie Scott. The breakdown is listed to include 177,000 for Penney's, 100,000 for Sears, and 180,000 for Carson Pirie Scott.

Jerry Sandvig, vice president for planning and construction of Westcor, Inc., did not identify the three anchor stores during a luncheon meeting attended by some 35 people, mostly financial institutions officers and government officials, at Berrien Hills country club.

When questioned by this newspaper about the trade publication report, Sandvig said the formal announcement of anchor stores will be made within six months.

"Three major department stores are committed to this market and location," Sandvig said. "Now we need the design (for the mall structure). They are for sure," Sandvig concluded.

Sandvig told the gathering the mall structure would cost about $25 million to build, would generate about $50 million annually in sales, and would employ between 900 and 1,000 people full time and up to 1,500 in busy seasons, such as Christmas and Easter.

Sandvig said construction would begin in the fall of 1977 and would house a total of 80 retail tenants. Sandvig estimated the opening date for August, 1978. He said the retail space should be about 90 per cent occupied by opening, with others moving in soon afterward.

Joshua Weiner commented on the remaining 278 acres, saying development would be over a five to 10-year period, but declining to answer a question about S.S. Kresge located in the area south of the mall. Weiner said of Kresge, "If they do locate here, it would be in the area (pointing to a site drawing) for commercial establishments."

Asked about the effect of a mall complex on downtown St. Joseph and Benton Harbor, Weiner said it would be "positive."

"Shopping malls are positive for downtowns. They create jobs, boost the economy and are a boon to the entire economy," Weiner commented. He said "a lot of dollars are leaving the community now for Kalamazoo, Chicago and South Bend, and these dollars will stay here (after the mall is built)."

Weiner said the area around the mall would hold commercial establishments, service restaurants and financial institutions, automotive agencies, and garden apartments and town house-type housing, complete with swimming pools and other recreational facilities.

He said the completed Pipestone Development would have over 3.6 million square feet of buildings, worth over $100 million and providing employment for a total of about 10,800 people.

Meyer Weiner, who hosted the luncheon, said his firm has more than 40 prime properties in Michigan. The "Shopping Center Leasing Opportunities" publication lists the firm as developing new centers at Allegan, Holland, Kalamazoo, and Ann Arbor.

Weiner said the firm is in its third decade in the real estate industry. He described the firm as a full-service, independent development team performing all facets of real estate production, including site acquisition, leasing and sales, legal and accounting, construction and continuing management.

Cafe Owner Robbed

NILES — A Niles restaurant owner told police here she was robbed at gunpoint of an estimated $800 while making a deposit at a downtown bank early this morning.

Mrs. Anna Glenn, Niles, told police she fired one shot at two men as they fled on foot from the parking lot of Niles National Bank, Fourth and Broadway streets, about 1:30 a.m. today, but apparently missed.

Mrs. Glenn, owner of the Bonanza Steak House restaurant, US-31 South, Niles, told police she was attempting to deposit receipts from the restaurant in a night deposit box. She said she was approached in the parking lot by two men wearing stocking masks, one armed with a handgun.

Police said Mrs. Glenn did not offer resistance to the men when they demanded a bank deposit bag and she was not injured.

Man Is Accused Of Room Break-Ins

Break-ins were reported at three rooms at the Colfax Inn Tuesday and Benton Harbor police said a tip led to the arrest of another Inn resident as he carried allegedly stolen goods to his car.

Police said a television, radio, clock, iron and assorted clothing were allegedly stolen from rooms at the Inn, 183 Colfax avenue, all which were recovered. The items were reported taken from rooms of Frank Armstrong, Annie Triche and Lawrence Weatherly.

Booked at the Berrien county jail on a charge of breaking and entering was Lawrence Caldwell Ollens, 25, of 183 Colfax avenue. Police said an informant reported a man was taking the goods from the Inn about 10 p.m.

Benton Harbor police also Tuesday arrested two young men on charges of breaking and entering a home last week.

Booked at the Berrien county jail were Cleveland Walls, Jr., 18, of 794 Columbus avenue, and Moses James Moore, 17, of 1089 Broadway. Police said household items allegedly were stolen from the home of Mary Jimison, 636 Clay street, and were recovered later.

St. Joseph police reported Jack Cooper Saffell, 17, of 812 Church street, St. Joseph, was arrested Tuesday on a charge of larceny in a building — theft of change from a pants pocket.

Police said the alleged theft occurred at 918 Harrison avenue where Veril Brooks, 377 Parker

South Haven Correspondent

SOUTH HAVEN — Members of the board of the South Haven Community hospital authority last night voted to ask its member governmental units for permission to place a millage question on the Nov. 2 election. The hospital is seeking one mill for three years to finance a $1.2 million building improvement program.

Hospital attorney William Verdonk told the board that each of the hospital's nine member units must authorize placing the question on the ballot prior to Sept. 15.

Verdonk said recent court rulings have determined that hospital authorities are not independent political subdivisions, thus the need for authorization by each member township board or city council. Previously the hospital could place questions on the ballot on its own.

The authority is comprised of the cities of Bangor and South Haven and the townships of Arlington, Bangor, Casco, Columbia, Covert, Geneva and South Haven. All of the units must authorize placing the proposition on the ballot. On the day of the election a cumulative vote from all of the units will determine passage.

In recent weeks the hospital board has held two information meetings for local officials to explain the issue. Some officials warned the hospital board of anti-tax sentiments. Last night Administrator Wayne Eagleson indicated that he believed the units are "reasonably aware of our needs and willing to proceed to place it on the ballot."

The issue could receive its toughest test tonight during the regular monthly meeting of the South Haven township board. One of the most outspoken critics at the information meetings was South Haven township supervisor James Schnake who went as far as to encourage the sale of the hospital to private enterprise.

If placed on the ballot, the one mill would be levied against the state equalized valuation of property. The mill is expected to generate $137,000 a year based on the authority's current valuation. The proposed building program has been designed to upgrade and enlarge the hospital's emergency, out-patient and therapeutic facilities. The number of patient beds would be reduced from 90 to 82.

The hospital has been experiencing a decline in patient census recently, while the out-patient care cases have been steadily growing. The financing plan for the project includes the use of approximately $453,000 in accumulated hospital reserves, assessing the elected one mill over a three-year period and committing four-tenths of a mill that is currently being assessed for 25 years to the project.

Police Report Oscar Gillespie Death Accidental

A report in Monday's Herald-Palladium about the death in Chicago of Oscar Gillespie, 33, formerly of Benton Harbor, was in error in stating that a Chicago police department investigation indicated his death on Aug. 25 was a suicide.

A Chicago police department official told this newspaper today there was nothing in the investigator's report of the death to indicate suicide.

Funeral services for Mr. Gillespie, who had lived in Chicago several years, will be held at 1 p.m. Friday at New Paradise Baptist church in Benton Harbor. Burial will be in Crystal Springs cemetery.

Friends may call at Robbins Brothers funeral home, Benton Harbor, beginning Thursday.

Sgt. John Fitzgerald of Area I Homicide division, Chicago police department, said the department's report said Mr. Gillespie fell from an elevated train platform onto the tracks and was struck and killed by a train. The mishap occurred at 22nd street and Cermak road in Chicago.

The report, filed by Investigator Gerald F. Liberty, of Area I Homicide division, said it appeared Gillespie leaned too far over the platform edge and fell.

Sgt. Fitzgerald said the official determination of the cause of death will be made by a coroner's inquest. He added that no date for the inquest had been set yet this morning. He explained that a coroner's inquest is held in connection with all deaths in Chicago, except those in which a doctor's certificate of death is rendered.

Chris Morris of the Cook county morgue staff, said the inquest in Mr. Gillespie's death won't be scheduled until some four to six weeks from now.

OTIS YOUNG

TERRY BRADLEY
Named in warrant

Benton Harbor police detectives said they were to pick up this morning in Flint two men wanted on open murder warrants in the death of Theotis Bowman, 19, who died after being struck on the head apparently with a piece of concrete Aug. 14.

Det. Tom Schadler identified the two as Otis Young, 17, and Terry Bradley, 19, both of Benton Harbor. Police said both had several Benton Harbor addresses. Flint police apprehended them yesterday, but details were not known yet.

Bowman, 162 Vashti court, Benton township, died Aug. 16 in a Kalamazoo hospital of the head injury — two days after he was found in a grassy area near the city fire station. Bowman's death was the sixth homicide of the year in Benton Harbor.

Warrants charging assault to commit murder were issued the day after the attack. Those warrants were replaced with open murder warrants after Bowman died. Schadler said police had received information that the two had gone to the Flint area and copies of the warrant had been sent to Flint police.

Two Sewer Workers Die

DETROIT (AP) — City and medical authorities are investigating the deaths Tuesday of two Detroit sewer workers whose bodies were found in a municipal water meter manhole in Allen Park. Police said they believe the men were overcome by gas fumes and died of asphyxiation. Dead are William Purdy, 48, and Fred Skiles Jr., 47, both of Detroit. The bodies were discovered by an area resident, who called firemen.

New Obscenity Law Urged

KALAMAZOO, Mich. (AP) — City commissioners in Kalamazoo have adopted a resolution urging state legislators to draft a new law defining obscenity and how to deal with it. The resolution was prompted by petitions containing more than 7,000 signatures asking city officials to remove an adult theater, adult book store, topless shoe shine and topless billiards parlor from the Washington Square area. But the city attorney said there is little local authorities can do under current state law. The resolution implored the legislature to give immediate and serious attention to drafting new laws against obscenity.

Classroom Construction Down

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A drop in school enrollment across the state is being reflected in reduced school building and classroom construction, the state superintendent of public instruction said. John Porter said that during the 1975-1976 school year, public and nonpublic schools began construction of 1,254 classrooms, down from 1,956 the previous year. Construction of new schools was also down. Porter said work was begun on 23 buildings compared to 39 in 1974-1975. One result, he said, is that many school districts and nonpublic school authorities are concentrating on improving existing buildings rather than constructing new facilities. He said that declining school enrollments are a result of a declining Michigan birth rate, a trend that began in the late 1950s.

Search Is On Via CB

South Haven Fires Banned

SOUTH HAVEN — Fire Chief Leslie Olmstead has ordered a ban on all outside burning in the South Haven fire protection district until further notice due to dry conditions. The South Haven fire department protects all of the city and township of South Haven and part of Geneva township. Olmstead said he was issuing the ban as a preventive measure, noting that his department has not had an increase in grass or brush-type fires. He said the ban would continue indefinitely because a large amount of rainfall will be needed to reduce the fire threat.

It's Not For The Courts

LELAND, Mich. (AP) — The dismissal of Supt. John Greenan by the Glen Arbor school board is a matter for the state Teacher Tenure Commission and not the courts, says a Leelanau County Circuit Court judge. Judge Charles Forester made the ruling on a $15,000 suit filed by Greenan. The suit seeks back pay for Greenan, who was dismissed Jan. 8. Greenan, now a staffer for the Kalamazoo Valley Intermediate school district, contended he was not given due process or offered a classroom teaching job as required by the Tenure Act.

No Mafia Says Sociologist

NEW YORK (AP) — There is no Mafia, says an Italian-American sociologist who once believed in it and says he has been called "every name in the book" for debunking it. At least, says Joseph L. Albini of Wayne State University, there's no secret Sicilian society that has dominated organized crime in America. "The word 'Mafia' has come to be a synonym for American organized crime, but Mafia is a myth," Albini said Tuesday in a paper prepared for the annual meeting of the American Sociological Association. "Italians like other groups have participated in organized crime, but Mafia as a secret society does not exist, and never did." He said that in 1965 an Italian parliamentary commission established to study the question of Mafia in Sicily found no secret society.

Indiana Man Faces Gun Blast Charge

THREE OAKS — State police detectives from Benton Harbor said a Plymouth, Ind., man was arrested on a charge of assault with intent to commit murder in connection with the firing of a shotgun through the door of a house near Three Oaks last week.

Lodged in the Berrien county jail, St. Joseph, after waiving extradition to Michigan was Harry Dennis Bonney, 37.

Police said Bonney was taken into custody by the Marshall county, Ind., sheriff's department after a warrant for his arrest was authorized by the Berrien county prosecutor's office.

Thomas Payne, route 2, Kruger road, Three Oaks, told detectives a man fired a shotgun through the front door of his house on Aug. 22.

Police said Payne who was not injured, said he was awakened by a knock and saw two men standing on his lawn.

One of them threatened to kill him and fired a shotgun after he slammed the door closed, Payne told police.

Police said a second man is still being sought for questioning. Police said Bonney is the former son-in-law of Payne.

The Heyn boy is the great nephew of William C. Heyn, Berrien county treasurer.

He was arrested by Hattiesburg, Miss., police on a separate charge of grand larceny, detectives said, but added that no other details had been learned yet. Police were notified by computer message.

No Inspections Yet

WASHINGTON (AP) — Four years after hundreds of persons died when two dams collapsed, not a single dam has been inspected for safety under a law rushed through Congress in response to the disasters. The inspection program remains unfunded, basically because of disagreement over who should inspect or pay for the inspections of the more than 49,000 nonfederal dams covered by the law. Congress hasn't appropriated any money to pay for federal inspections, the White House hasn't asked for any such money and the states say they can't afford to pay for the inspections. Like the two dams that prompted enactment of the federal law, these nonfederal dams were built by states, local governments and private companies. The Army Corps of Engineers has estimated that it would cost $73.5 million to inspect the dams.

Mars Gas Still Bubbling

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — The Viking 1 lander, about to lose center stage on Mars to its arriving sister, Viking 2, has notified scientists that unexplained gas activity is still occurring inside its life-search laboratory. Dr. Harold Klein, the project's head biologist, said Tuesday that latest reports radiated from Mars showed continuing signs of carbon dioxide in an experiment that detects gases issuing from a soil sample. He said it would be Friday — the day Viking 2 lands on the other side of Mars — before the data could be interpreted. The test Klein mentioned is the only one of three biology experiments that has been testing the same soil sample since the beginning of the life search last month. The other two tests obtained inconclusive results and are being repeated with new samples.

Aiming For The Source

DETROIT (AP) — Police said 16 people would face arraignment today on drug conspiracy charges, after a Tuesday morning raid of nine west side Detroit homes netted a small-scale arsenal and a pound of heroin. Officers confiscated some 30 guns. Police said the raid was aimed at breaking up the primary source of heroin for the city's west side.

GROWING COMPLEX: Nearly $5 million worth of new facilities are ready for Covert school district students when classes begin Sept. 7-8. Site of old high school (1) will be made into parking lot and administrative offices (yet to be built), while construction of new junior-senior high school is completed. Front section (2) houses classrooms, with back section (3) containing gymnasium, swimming pool, auditorium, band room, and shop area. Voters in 1974 approved $4,795,000 bond issue to finance construction project which included five-classroom addition (4) to elementary wing and hallway connecting it to new junior-senior high. Old gym (center) built in 1958 will be used as elementary gym. Work is also progressing (upper left) on football field and track, baseball and softball diamonds and tennis courts. Portable buildings, formerly above elementary wing, have been removed. Sewage lagoons are at top of photo. (Adolph Hann aerial photo)

STUDENT KITCHEN: New Covert high school home economics area has four kitchen stations at which students can perfect their culinary talents. Room also has sewing tables located in another portion.

DRAFTING ROOM: John Young, Covert high school principal, demonstrates maneuverability of mechanical drawing tables in new junior-senior high school drafting room.

NEW SWIMMING POOL: Covert's new junior-senior high school features Olympic-size swimming pool. Only partially full when this photo was taken, pool will be filled when students arrive on Sept. 8. New building also contains gymnasium and auditorium.

NFL Players Reject New Contract Offer

Rift Remains After 11 Hours Of Meetings

CHECKING PROPOSAL: Alan Page of the Minnesota Vikings reads through a proposed agreement prior to Tuesday's meeting of the National Football League Players Association in Chicago. The proposal which could have ended a 2½ year disagreement between the players and the owners was turned down. Seated at table behind Page are Ed White, Minnesota Vikings; Bob Grim, Chicago Bears; Doug Van Horn, New York Giants; and Fred Cox, Chicago Bears. (AP Wirephoto)

CHICAGO (AP) — National Football League player representatives have rejected the contract offer by team owners that sparked a fierce internal battle between their oft-controversial executive director and their union president.

The action Tuesday, after 11 hours of secret meetings, continues the rift between owners and players which in the last 2½ years has triggered one pre-season walkout, one wildcat strike and harsh feeling on both sides.

"I honestly don't know where we go from here," said a disconsolate Dick Anderson, the injured safety for the Miami Dolphins who as president of the NFL Players Association had worked out the proposal with owners last week.

"Sometimes you win, sometimes you lose, sometimes you get rained out. The game will go on," Anderson said.

He and three other members of the seven-man NFLPA

Executive Committee supported acceptance of the offer. They were opposed by Ed Garvey, executive director of the players' union who some members would like to see ousted.

"It was a plan I felt was good and tried to sell," said Anderson. "Yeah, I'm disappointed, I feel at this point it's the best offer we're going to get."

Garvey has withheld public comment regarding his personal feeling on the offer, but a source close to him said he feared acceptance would negate players' rights already won in the courts.

Nevertheless, at a brief news conference following the marathon session, Garvey said no single point of the 70-page offer was the decisive factor in rejection. Rather, he said, it was the package as a whole.

By a majority vote, the Executive Committee summoned each of the 28 NFL teams' representatives to grapple with the proposal and decide whether to submit it to a vote of all the NFLPA players.

But the question never got that far.

After procedural haggling and a point-by-point debate, the representatives instead approved a motion "to table discussion" of the offer "pending further negotiations and clarifications."

In effect, Garvey said later, the vote meant rejection.

A spokesman for the NFL Management Council, bargaining arm of the NFL owners, said his group reserved comment on the development until further information could be obtained as to what transpired at the meeting.

Details of the offer were not made public. The Associated Press learned, however, that among the 30 provisions the owners proposed:

—A 43-man squad limit with a four-man taxi squad, each member of which would be paid $500 a week.

—A raise in salaries for pre-season and post-season play as well as minimum salary limits.

—An important article concerning the controversial reserve clause.

That article would have permitted a player to move to another team after a specified number of years. The club obtaining a free agent would surrender two No. 1 draft choices for a top-notch player and a correspondingly lower compensation for a player of lesser ability.

The final determination would be made by a special board. In the past, NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle determined the compensation a team must pay after obtaining a player who jumps clubs.

A source close to Garvey said he feared approval of the measure would, in effect, reinstate the Rozelle Rule though it already has been knocked down by the courts.

Garvey thought the proposal placed an "unreasonable restraint" on player movement, the source said.

Garvey said there was no talk of a possible strike at the meeting.

The Players Association has been without a basic agreement since January 1974. A pre-season strike later that year collapsed. The dispute also sparked a wildcat strike last year by the New England Patriots.

Kuiper Lifts Indians Past White Sox Ryan Fans 2,000th Batter

From ASSOCIATED PRESS

Nolan Ryan is not a man to worry about strikeout statistics. The California Angels' hardthrowing right-hander passed a milestone Tuesday night, and it almost slipped right passed him.

Detroit leadoff man Ron LeFlore Jr. just struck out swinging to open the game, and Ryan was getting set to pitch to the Tigers' No. 2 man, Dan Meyer.

Suddenly, some folks in the crowd of 8,342 at Anaheim Stadium began to applaud. The cheers continued to build, finally turning into a standing ovation.

"I didn't know what it was," said Ryan. "Then I turned around and saw it on message board."

The board told the fans — and the pitcher — that LeFlore was the 2,000th strikeout of Ryan's career. He is only the 29th major league pitcher ever to reach that plateau.

Ryan went on to strike out 11 Tigers as he pitched the Angels to a 6-3 victory, scattering eight hits.

Ryan's teammates supported him with 12 hits. Dave Collins contributed a double and two singles, Tony Solaita homered and singled and Jerry Humphrey and Rusty Torres each drove in a pair of runs in the sixth inning when the Angels erased a 3-2 deficit.

Elsewhere in the American League, the Baltimore Orioles beat the Kansas City Royals 4-3, the New York Yankees edged the Oakland A's 2-1, the Texas Rangers beat the Boston Red Sox 8-3, the Cleveland Indians topped the Chicago White Sox 4-2 in 10 innings and the Minnesota Twins and Milwaukee Brewers split a doubleheader, the Twins winning the opener 4-0 and the Brewers taking the nightcap 6-3.

Jim Palmer, the winningest pitcher in the AL, raised his record to 19-11 with relief help from Dyar Miller. Two months ago Palmer had a 6-7 record, but since then he's won 13 of 17 decisions and lowered his earned run average to an impressive 2.59.

Ken Singleton drove in two runs for the Orioles, and Al Bumbry scored three times.

Dave Goltz pitched no-hit ball for 6 1/3 innings and finished with a two-hitter and also struck out a career-high 11 batters for Minnesota in the opener. Steve Brye backed him with a three-run homer.

Von Joshua's two-run single in the seventh inning snapped a 3-3 tie in the nightcap for Milwaukee.

Graig Nettles' two-run homer in the seventh inning backed the three-hit pitching of Doyle Alexander and kept the first-place Yankees 11½ games ahead of Baltimore in the AL East. Oakland, by losing, missed an opportunity to gain ground on front-running Kansas City in the West and remained eight games back.

Duane Kuiper's fourth consecutive single keyed a three-run rally in the 10th inning that lifted the Indians over the White Sox.

Roy Howell drove in three runs and Tom Grieve hit a two-run homer to power Texas past Boston. Nelson Briles, 9-8, got the victory with relief help from Steve Foucault.

Injured Kilmer Receives Award

WASHINGTON (AP) — It just wouldn't be another National Football League season if Bill Kilmer were healthy.

The Washington Redskins quarterback played last season despite a right shoulder separation and a bone fracture in his left foot.

Even before that, he overcame a near-fatal automobile accident in 1962 while playing for the San Francisco 49ers and he played while injured when he was with the New Orleans Saints.

In 1973 Kilmer led the Washington Redskins to the playoffs despite recurring attacks of gastroenteritis that required post-season surgery to correct.

It is only fitting then that Kilmer, who has a possible cracked rib, will receive the George Halas Award today as the National Football League's most courageous player.

"I haven't had the rib x-rayed and I'm not going to," said Kilmer, who will be 37 on Sunday, before receiving the award at the Redskins annual Welcome Home Luncheon sponsored by the Touchdown Club. "Hell, what good is that?"

"If I find out it's cracked, I've still got to play with it. It's probably not cracked anyway. It's not bothering my passing motion. The only time it bothers me is when I breathe real hard."

Typically gritty, Kilmer will put a bandage on his chest for a week or two and continue in the final pre-season game against Chicago Friday night and the start of the season against the New York Giants the following weekend.

Earlier in the year, Kilmer, who now is in his 15th season, set a personal goal to make All-Pro and a team goal to win the NFC East division championship and go on from there.

"Sure, I'd love to be All-Pro this season. I'm striving for that individually, but I'm not going to sacrifice team goals for it. First of all, I want to win the division and make the playoffs. If that means sacrificing some percentage on my passes, I'm willing. All I want to do is be the best quarterback I can possibly be on a team that wins the division."

Kilmer has made the Pro Bowl team only once in his 15-year career, in 1972, when the Redskins made it to the Super Bowl.

Mexican Peso Is Devalued

MEXICO CITY (AP) — After 22 years of getting 12½ pesos for a dollar, Americans should soon get about 20, or 60 per cent more, foreign bankers predicted today following the devaluation of the Mexican currency.

Treasury Secretary Ramon Beteta announced Tuesday night that the government was abandoning the fixed rate of exchange it had maintained since 1951 in an attempt to hold down the ballooning foreign trade deficit. Beteta said the peso would be allowed to "float," with its value determined by supply and demand.

Officials of foreign banks said the peso probably would stabilize at about 20 to the dollar.

The immediate effects will be to enhance Mexico as a tourist playground, if local hotels, restaurants and shops don't raise their prices accordingly, and to make Mexican products cheaper for foreign buyers. This should improve the balance of payments deficit, which has grown more than 400 per cent since 1970 to about $4 billion.

Tourism, Mexico's biggest industry, needed the boost. The Bank of Mexico reported earlier this year that the country was pricing itself out of competition with Europe and the Caribbean.

The devaluation will also probably increase the inflation rate, reduced last year from 24 per cent to 16 per cent, by making imported products more expensive for Mexicans.

To absorb some of the surplus money, Beteta said the government would impose a new tax on exports and an "excessive profits" tax.

He said monetary controls would also be established to prevent currency speculators from capitalizing on the devaluation.

The devaluation may also have an adverse effect on business in the southernmost counties of Texas, New Mexico, Arizona and California, along the Mexican border.

"This will make Mexican citizens more tempted to buy in their own country," said a Chamber of Commerce spokesman in McAllen, Tex., where an estimated 38 per cent of all retail sales are made to Mexicans who cross the border to shop.

LaCorte Clips Cubs Relief Ace Saves Reds, Ends Skid

From ASSOCIATED PRESS
Rawley Eastwick was rested. After all, he had a day off. "I was ready for work," the Cincinnati Reds' relief ace said Tuesday. "I had last night off. I was getting itchy sitting around."

Cardinals 6-5.
"I didn't want to use him," Cincinnati Manager Sparky Anderson said, "but I didn't want to lose."
The Reds rallied for five runs in the seventh inning to post their come-from-behind victory and snap a three-game losing streak against St. Louis. Cards starter Pete Falcone, 11-12, was sailing along with a no-hitter until Pete Rose slapped a twoout single in the sixth. Ken Griffey walked and Joe Morgan singled to drive in Rose and narrow St. Louis' let to 3-1.

In other National League games Tuesday, Atlanta stopped Chicago 5-3, Pittsburgh blanked San Diego 3-0, Los Angeles defeated Montreal 5-1 and Houston edged Philadelphia 3-2.

Right-hander Frank LaCorte hurled his second victory of the season as Atlanta topped the Chicago Cubs. "LaCorte had the best changeup he has had all year," said Braves Manager Dave Bristol. "It's possible he could have finished the game."

Jerry Royster scored the Braves' first run when he led off the game with a single, advanced to third on Rod Gilbreath's hit and scored on a sacrifice fly by Rowland Office. Atlanta added three more runs in the sixth on Ken Henderson's two-run double and Jim Wynn's sacrifice fly to ensure the victory.

Dave Parker drove in all three Pittsburgh runs with a homer and sacrifice fly and Jerry Reuss blanked San Diego, out-dueling Randy Jones. Parker's sacrifice fly drove in the only run off Jones, who was going after his 21st victory, high in the majors.

J.R. Richard's six-hitter was backed up by Bob Watson pair of RBI singles as Houston topped Philadelphia. It was the Astros' sixth straight victory and the fifth straight loss for Philadelphia, which leads the NL East Division by 10½ games.

Seven-hit pitching by starter Doug Rau and reliever Charlie Hough led Los Angeles past Montreal. Rau increased his record to 13-10, going seven innings and giving up six Montreal hits, including a pinch hit home run by Andre Thornton, his 11th of the year.

The Dodgers jumped off to a quick lead in the first on a two-run double by Bill Russell. In the eighth, a pinch hit single by Reggie Smith scored Lee Lacy from second, and Los Angeles added two more runs in the ninth.

Light-hitting Roy Staiger singled and scored the tying run in the seventh inning, then singled home the winning run in the eighth as the New York Mets defeated San Francisco.

Reliever Skip Lockwood gained the victory to level his record at 7-7. For Ed Halicki, 11-14, it was his first loss in five lifetime decisions against the Mets.

Duke Denies MSU Penalty Statement

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Big 10 Commissioner Wayne Duke has denied saying that Michigan State University would be informed of the conference's penalties against its football team within the next three weeks.

And Duke hedged on when he will have a decision on the 18-month-old conference probe into the Spartan football recruiting program.

"Our procedure is entirely different from the NCAA (National Collegiate Athletic Association) and it all depends on what transpires in the meantime, whether or not a final decision will be reached within three weeks," Duke said Tuesday.

The NCAA, after a year-long investigation, put MSU on a three-year-probation, ruled seven players ineligible for varying lengths of time and banned the school from television appearances during its probation period.

Duke laid part of the blame for the Big 10 ruling delay on MSU itself, saying the school had "twice requested a delay." MSU officials filed their final formal response to a second set of allegations last week. A 250-page response was to the original violation charges was filed in April.

Duke added that the conference has initiated an investigation into charges of wrongdoing at MSU's arch-rival, Ohio State. Those charges were prompted by a MSU student newspaper report that OSU also had violated recruiting rules.

The two schools, which have been leveling charges and counter-charges at each other for two years, will face each other in the 1976 season opener at Columbus Sept. 11.

Michigan's Lewis Hurts Back In Football Drills

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Kirk Lewis, the University of Michigan offensive guard who sat out all of last season with a broken arm, injured his back this week and is being kept out of contact drills.

The injury is not considered serious, Coach Bo Schembechler said, and Lewis is expected to be back in the ranks when the Wolverines open their 1976 season at home Sept. 11 against Wisconsin.

Lewis and tailback Rob Lytle, who missed Saturday's scrimmage with a minor knee injury, are the only team members with injury problems so far.

Lytle is still the Wolverines' No. 1 tailback. Sophomore Russell Davis is in the fullback spot, and Jim Smith is the wingback in the backfield with sophomore quarterback Rick Leach.

One of the big jobs Schembechler has faced getting his team ready for the season is replacing 1975 graduate middle guard Tim Davis. A number of players, including senior Bob Lang, are up for the spot.

Two Wolverine games (against Wake Forest and Michigan State) already have sold out, an athletic department spokesman said. He estimated at least 94,000 fans will be on hand for the season opener.

Wilson Named Rockies Coach

DENVER (AP) — Former Detroit Red Wings coach John Wilson was named Tuesday to coach the National Hockey League's Colorado Rockies, General Manager Ray Miron announced.

Wilson coached the Cleveland Crusaders of the World Hockey Association last season. He was with the NHL Red Wings from 1970 through 1972, before moving on to a one-year stint as assistant to the general manager of the Atlanta Flames.

He then moved on to the WHA's Michigan Stags and followed the club to Baltimore. In 1975-76 he moved to the helm of the Crusaders.

Slow U.S. Open Surface To Help Some Players

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP) — Horses for courses applies to tennis players as well as thoroughbred racers. Some competitors in the $416,600 U.S. Open Tennis Championships will be helped — and others will be hurt — by the slow, clay-like artificial surface at the West Side Tennis Club courts.

First-round men's singles action was scheduled for this afternoon and this evening in the richest of all tennis events, while women's play begins Thursday. Both men and women are aiming for $30,000 first prizes.

The baseliners, the moonshot artists who lay back and return everything hit their way, should benefit the most from the Har-Tru surface, which allows them to reach more shots than they would on a faster grass court. The hard servers who rely on a power game, however, will be at a disadvantage.

Among the men, Bjorn Borg of Sweden, defending champion Manuel Orantes of Spain, Adriano Panatta of Italy and the American "Bagel Twins," Harold Solomon and Eddie Dibbs, all play particularly well on clay, so their stock must rise in this event.

Borg, who won Wimbledon and WCT earlier this year, captured the U.S. Pro title on clay Monday night and rates as a favorite with top-seeded Jimmy Connors. The ever-dangerous Connors won the last U.S. Open played on grass, in 1974, and lost to Orantes in last year's finals.

Panatta took the French and Italian crowns this spring — both on clay. Solomon made it to the finals of the French and U.S. Pro tournaments — both on clay. And Dibbs rates with Solomon among the brightest young baseliners in the game.

Behind Connors and Borg, the men's seedings have Guillermo Vilas of Argentina rated No. 3 followed by Panatta; fiery Ilie

Nastase of Romania; Orantes; veteran American Arthur Ashe, and Raul Ramirez of Mexico. Vilas, Nastase and Ashe figure to be among those hampered by the slow surface.

On the distaff side, the surface should help defending queen Chris Evert, who hardly needs the assistance. Miss Evert has won her last 95 matches on clay, and she breezed through the women's draw in last year's U.S. Open, the first played on the Har-Tru courts.

Miss Evert still is suffering from inflamed tendons in the middle finger of her racket hand, an injury which caused her to withdraw from the Federation Cup competition last week. But her first match is not until Saturday, when she faces Greer Stevens of South Africa, and she is expected to be recovered enough to begin defense of her crown. If she's anywhere near 100 per cent, she will be tough to beat.

Miss Evert's likely finals opponent is Evonne Goolagong, the Australian who has won virtually every major crown except this one. She bowed to Miss Evert in last year's title match, and has lost nine of their last 11 head-to-head encounters.

Cowan Seeking Third Crown Opens With Easy Win In U.S. Amateur

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "It's an overworked word, but 'experience' is going to have an awful lot to do with who wins here," says Canadian Gary Cowan, embarking on a quest for a third U.S. Amateur Golf Championship.

Cowan, 37, from Kitchener, Ontario, captured the U.S. National Championship in both 1966 and 1972 and became the first foreigner to win the title since his countryman Sandy Somerville did it in 1932.

He admits he'd prefer it if the U.S. Amateur were still a medal play tournament as it was when he won, but after winning his opening match without losing a hole, he said, "I probably have a better chance of winning on this type of golf course."

Bel-Air, scene of this 76th championship event, proved itself demanding on opening day and will continue to do so through the 36-hole finals on Sunday.

"This is what you call a thinking golf course, you can't just go out and whale the ball," Cowan said Tuesday after whipping Dave Richards of Chambersburg, Pa., 7 and 6 in their 18-hole match.

Today he meets O. Gordon Brewer of Huntington Valley, Pa., who was one of 56 among the 200 qualifiers to draw an opening-round bye.

Also with a bye was defending champion Fred Ridley of Winter Haven, Fla., who opens his defense against Mike Stoll of Beaverton, Ore., a 2-1 winner over Mark Cullitt of Coatsville, Pa.

"I played this course on Sunday and Monday, so, in a way, I was happy to play in the first round and not have a bye," said Cowan referring to the added experience. Asked why he hadn't played in recent U.S. Amateurs, he answered:

"In 1971, I decided to spend more time with the family and business and I did it."

Temperatures soared to 100

degrees and more hot weather can be expected the rest of the week. British Amateur champion Dick Siderow of Westport, Conn., hopes his own game heats up.

He shot only an 82 but eliminated Mark Barge of Fargo, N.D., 1-up with a par 4 on the day's final hole. A triple bogey and double bogey showed on Siderow's card.

"I was pretty lucky to get away," he admitted readily. "You hit your ball into the bush on this course and you just can't get to the green in par. You might get just one round like I had and then either you'll be going home or playing better."

Today in one of the feature matches, he meets Julius Boros Jr., of Miami Beach, son of the two-time U.S. Open champion.

In the opening day's biggest upset, Vinny Giles of Richmond, Va., a seasoned amateur, bowed to 22-year-old Don Reese.

State Pair Advance

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Two of four Michigan amateur golfers survived the first round 18-hole matches Tuesday in the 76th U.S. Amateur Golf Tournament.

Guy R. Billings of Haslett beat Bruce Hollowell of Springfield, Mo., 2-1, while Jack Van Ess of Comstock Park drew a bye to advance automatically to Wednesday's second round.

Defeated were William D. Brafford of Orchard Lake, who lost 2-1 to Phillip Hancock of Greenville, Ala., and Tom Fairgrieve of Grosse Ile, defeated 5-3 by Gilbert Cavanaugh of Jericho, N.Y.

A fifth Michigan golfer, Orchard Lake's Peter Green, had qualified for the nation's top amateur tournament but had to withdraw for personal reasons.

Fennville Plans To Pass More With Bushee Gone

FENNVILLE — Coach Gary Frens may install a new look to Fennville's offensive arsenal this season...the pass.

The Blackhawks may be forced to put the ball in the air this season with the graduation loss of Rick Bushee, a back who gained 1,260 yards and scored 94 points in eight games last season.

"We feel that we will have to throw the ball more this year," Frens comments. "We haven't had to throw that much in the past few years."

The Blackhawks, 1-2 in the Allegan-Ottawa conference and 6-2 overall last season, have five returning starters back on offense. Senior quarterback Jim Scudder (6-0, 170 pounds) returns along with senior fullback Ken Onken (5-10, 150), who was used mainly as a blocking back for Bushee.

Also back are senior wingback Tom Raak (5-10, 145), senior center Jerry VanDenBrink (5-11, 195) and senior guard Bill Bushee (6-1, 195).

Frens is looking at promising junior Gary Morse (5-11, 170) at halfback. Morse played some on the varsity as a sophomore last season. The end spots are up for grabs, with Mike Thompson, a 5-11, 145-pound junior, in line for one spot.

The line will consist of seniors Mike Birkholz (5-10, 165) and Ron Ridgeway (5-11, 145) at guards with VanDenBrink and Larry Gould also in the trenches.

A strong point on defense for Fennville could be its secondary, with Thompson, Onken, Noel Martinez and Noel Rodriguez returning.

"Overall, our team speed is better this year," comments

Frens. "But this season we are going to be looking for the big play. We have been run oriented the past two years, but now we're going to have to look for the big one."

But Frens indicates he hasn't given up on his running game. "One of our strengths will hopefully be the running game. We're going to go with that; we've got some pretty hard-nosed kids."

MSU's Hunt Gets Okay To Practice

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (AP) — A federal judge ruled Monday a suspended Michigan State University defensive back may practice football with the team until a court challenge of his suspension is decided.

U.S. Dist. Court Judge Noel Fox issued a temporary injunction forbidding either Michigan State or the National Collegiate Athletic Association from keeping Joseph Hunt off the practice field.

Hunt, a senior, is suing on grounds his one-year suspension violated his constitutional rights to a hearing and to confront his accusers. The judge added the NCAA and Big Ten conference as defendants in the case last week and set more hearings for Sept. 8.

Michigan State started football practice eight days ago.

Hunt has been practicing with the team since drills began but team officials would not comment on Fox's order.

The NCAA ordered Hunt suspended after investigating MSU's football program. Six other players were suspended for varying periods and the school is on three years' probation barring it from television appearances or playing in bowl games.

The other players also are fighting their suspensions.

Hunt was accused of using a credit card belonging to a Spartan fan. The fan said the card was lent to an assistant football coach. Hunt said he used the card without permission after borrowing the coach's car.

Michigan State contends it had to suspend Hunt or face more penalties from the NCAA.

Detroit Wheel Trustee Files Suit Against EMU

DETROIT (AP) — A court-appointed trustee for the defunct Detroit Wheels football team has filed suit against Eastern Michigan University.

Lancer Picture Day On Friday

The Lakeshore Lancer fall sports teams will be on display this Friday at 5:30 p.m. at Lancer Stadium for Lancer picture day. All parents and interested fans may bring cameras to photograph the teams.

The Lakeshore football team will also be introduced to the public. Two football officials will discuss new rules and answer questions.

Methodist Tops Grace Lutheran

Tom Smith drove in six runs with four hits as First United Methodist blasted Grace Lutheran 22-13 in a St. Joseph Men's Church League tournament softball game Monday.

Pete Jorgensen added four hits and two runs batted in, while Mike Hollman and Wally Buesing blasted home runs.

Gary Coleman slammed a homer and Dave Pesko had three hits for the losers.

Alexander Andrews, trustee for the Wheels, filed suit Tuesday in federal bankruptcy court. He said that the team transferred ownership of stadium lights, seats and locker room facilities to the university in 1974.

But, the suit claims, the transfer was made under duress and should be declared void.

The ill-fated World Football League team chose EMU for its home field when it was unable to contract for Tiger Stadium. After winning only one of its first 14 games in the 1974 season, the rest of the season was scrapped.

The Wheels filed bankruptcy in the fall of 1974, listing more than $1.4 million in debts.

Andrews' suit charges that, when the Wheels were negotiating to lease the EMU football field, the team planned to retain ownership of lights, seats and other improvements it had installed. But, Andrews said, EMU threatened not to sign the lease unless the facilities were given to the university.

EMU president James Brickley could not be reached for comment on the suit. A hearing has been set for Oct. 13 before federal bankruptcy Judge Harry Hackett.

Robards Hurls Title Clincher

COLDWATER — Rich Robards pitched a two-hitter and struck out 13 as Stroh's won the Class B fastpitch softball regional championship Tuesday night with a 7-0 win over Maumet of Albion.

Mike Losievski collected a pair of hits for the winners, who compete in the state tournament beginning at 7 p.m. Friday night here.

Browns Cut Two

CLEVELAND (AP) — Two of the Cleveland Browns' top three ground gainers from last season have been dropped from the National Football League team's roster.

Hugh McKinnis, the club's No. 2 rusher in 1975, was placed on the temporarily disabled list Thursday, while Billy Pritchett has been dealt to the Tampa Bay Buccaneers on waivers.

Offensive Line Biggest Problem

Badgers' Strength In Backfield

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — Mike Carroll's outlook is typical in the University of Wisconsin football camp.

"People don't expect us to win," said Carroll, the Badger quarterback. "The ratings really don't mean anything to us. So there's no reason to worry. All we have to do is take one game at a time, and I think that will help us. I think we'll play like hell and surprise people."

The Badgers have graduated 13 starters from last year's team, which many had expected would challenge for the Big Ten title but which finished 4-6-1. This year the pressure is off, but Coach John Jardine refuses to call it a rebuilding year.

"We have all our receivers back, a lot of fine backs like Mike Morgan, Mike Carroll and Larry Canada and a number of seasoned guys," Jardine said. "I'd take Morgan, Canada and Ira Matthews against anybody in the Big Ten. They're way above average."

Because the Badgers' chief strength is depth and talent in the offensive backfield, Jardine has switched from the power-I formation, which emphasized the running of tailback Billy Marek, to a multiple offense predicated on speed, finesse and versatility.

Carroll became the regular quarterback in the fourth game of last season and completed 58 of 123 passes, with 13 intercepted. He showed marked improvement and a take-charge attitude in spring practice.

The Badgers' most versatile back is Morgan, who has averaged 5.1 yards per carry in two seasons as understudy to the now graduated Marek, 10th-leading rusher in collegiate football history.

Canada, 227-pound fullback with a 5.4 yards per carry career average and a superb blocker, will be the power specialist. Matthews, who averaged 6.3 yards per carry as a flanker last year, is the breakaway threat.

Top receiver could be sophomore David Charles, a redshirt last year and named the team's outstanding offensive player during spring practice.

Jardine's chief worry is the offensive line, where only guard Terry Lyons returns as a starter. Karel Schliksbier, who had been expected to start at offensive tackle, is scholastically ineligible.

Pat Collins, 6-foot and 198 pounds, and Dennis Stejskal, 5-foot-11 and 209, are excellent defensive ends despite lack of size. Jardine said he may add depth to that position by switching one of two freshman running backs.

The interior defensive line should be anchored by John Rasmussen, a three year disappointment because of weight problems. He has shed more than 30 pounds to 262.

Galien Counts On Youngsters

GALIEN — Jerry Hess is banking Galien's football hopes this year on young kids with little experience.

With a roster bolstered by just four returning starters, though, Hess is almost forced to do so.

"If I had any brains I'd say we're rebuilding," Hess says. "But I don't believe in that. We lost seven starters and, unfortunately, most of them were two-way players."

"But I'm really optimistic. If the young kids develop and come through, we'll be in contention for the Red Arrow title."

Our goals are the same — 9-0 record, Red Arrow conference champs and to get into the Class D playoffs. I really believe we can do it if the young kids come through."

Galien finished strong last year, winning its last five games and outscoring those five opponents 155-40. But the Gaels lost standout performers Dale Luther (quarterback), split end Mark Koziel, tight end Mike Kuntz and fullback Craig Schau.

Hess adds there are some positive aspects to this year's team. "The kids are used to my system," Hess says. "I also know the other teams in the league better and we have the winning streak going."

Galien has already lost three lettermen who were expected to gain starting spots. Tom Muddock is ineligible scholastically. John Webb elected not to play and Dennis Williams is injured.

Williams had knee surgery over the summer and will probably miss at least the first four games.

Heading the list of returning starters is Matt Koziel, a 6-1, 195-pounder who is being moved from tackle to quarterback. Koziel should get good protection from returnee Rick Kuntz (6-6, 218) and newcomer Mike Foster (6-0, 235) at tackle.

Lonnie Miller (5-9, 165), a starter last year at wingback, is being moved to tailback this season. The other letterman is tight end John Gunn (6-1, 172), a transfer student from Ohio who played at Galien as a freshman.

Galien will find out early if it is to be a title contender. The Gaels open their league season Sept. 24 at league powerhouse Hartford.

Vikings Expect Big Turnaround

NILES — Neil McLaughlin is expecting a total turnaround this season by his Niles football team.

EMU Picks Acting AD

YPSILANTI, Mich. (AP) — Baseball Coach Ron Oestrike has been named acting athletic director at Eastern Michigan University, to replace Dr. Albert Smith, who resigned last week.

The 44-year-old Oestrike, NCAA coach of the year last season, has been at EMU for 14 years. His 1976 Huron baseball team finished second in the College World Series.

EMU president James Brickley, announcing the appointment Tuesday, said Oestrike will hold the post until late December or early January.

Brickley added that the school would delay its search for a permanent athletic director, "in view of the fact that we have his stewardship on an acting basis."

Oestrike served as assistant football and baseball coach at EMU before becoming head baseball coach in 1965.

Dr. Smith resigned to become vice president for university relations at North Carolina A&T.

Record Round Has Two Aces

LEXINGTON, Va. (AP) — At the 17th hole at the Lexington Country Club Monday, 18-year-old David Brogan said, "all I wanted to do was break the course record."

He needed birdies on the last two holes.

At the 17th, he hit a 9-iron shot 143 yards over water to the par 3 green and watched the ball go into the cup.

"I was so excited, I just missed a 10-footer for a birdie on 18," said Brogan.

It was the second ace of his record-breaking round of 66.

Approximately two hours earlier, he had aced the 180-yard par 3 fourth hole, which also is over water, when his 7-iron shot landed in the cup.

They were the first holes-in-one ever for Brogan, who commented:

"I didn't say much either time. I guess I was too stunned."

"We didn't play very good football offensively in 1975," McLaughlin says. "We especially didn't play well near the goal line. There were fumbles, turnovers, mistakes and missed assignments — things you overcome with experience."

And this year Niles has that experience. Niles' big problem last season was offense. The Vikings were shutout four times and scored just 54 points in nine games.

"We have to eliminate the turnovers and breakdowns," McLaughlin says. "Of the six games we lost, we could've won four of them. The kids were never blown off. It was just a matter of a first down here and a fumble there."

The Vikings return 19 players who started at least three times last season.

Heading the list is an explosive backfield and a strong offensive line. Niles' top two tailbacks from last season return — Kevin Thomas (584 yards) and Tom Donley (450). Juniors Tyrrence Spencer (5-9, 180) and Curtis Partee (5-10, 178) are back to see most of the fullback action.

Tobey Lewallen (6-0, 160), who started six games last season is also back.

On the line will be end Glen Wilken (6-0, 155), tackles Greg Rupp (5-11, 185) and Brian Crocker (6-0, 200), guards Tom Witkowski (5-11, 170) and Ken Fletcher (5-9, 180) and center John Kulis (6-0, 185).

"We know we're going to be much, much better this year," McLaughlin says. "We got a lot of playing experience and we're much bigger than we were a year ago. Last year we only had one starter over 185 pounds. This year we could start anywhere from 10 to 12."

McLaughlin expects Kalamazoo Loy Norrix and Portage Northern to be the Vikings' biggest competition for the Big Seven title.

New President To Rule On B1

By HARRISON HUMPHRIES
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The congressional compromise on the B1 bomber leaves the plane's ultimate fate in the hands of the man occupying the White House next Feb. 1.

Supporters of the plane hailed the decision Tuesday by Senate and House conferees to allow work to proceed on the bomber. Opponents also were happy, and they pointed to the spending limit of $87 million a month until Feb. 1, after the next president is inaugurated.

Rep. Robert L.F. Sikes, D-Fla., a member of the conference committee seeking a compromise between Senate and House versions, called the decision "a modified go ahead."

The $87-million monthly limit is one-twelfth of the $1.049 billion requested by the Pentagon for initial costs of a planned fleet of 244 bombers estimated to cost $22 billion. Opponents of the plane say the spending limit makes it easier for the project to be stopped if the next president so decides.

Both the House and Senate previously approved the production funding as part of a $105-billion military appropriation for the 12 months beginning Oct. 1.

But the Senate added a restriction prohibiting spending of any of the production money until next Feb. 1 to give the newly inaugurated president a chance to review completed prototype test data and decide whether to proceed.

The Ford administration reportedly was prepared to sign a B1 production contract in November, committing some $850 million for production of the first three operational aircraft.

Jimmy Carter, the Democratic presidential nominee, has indicated his doubts about proceeding with B1 production, and the Democratic party platform urges delay in funding.

In another development in the B1 program, the Air Force reported Tuesday that part of a B1 bomber body section cracked

Louisville Has Stormy Start For School Busing

By BILL HENDRICK
Associated Press Writer
LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — The second year of court-ordered school busing began here today after police used tear gas to break up a rock-and-bottle-throwing protest by more than 1,000 busing opponents.

Six persons were arrested in the disturbance Tuesday night, authorities said. No injuries were reported.

Both sides in the busing controversy, which began last year after a federal judge ordered city-county busing to achieve racial balance, had forecast calm for the new school year.

But a march and rally of about 300 to 500 busing foes grew into an unruly crowd of more than 1,000 protesters who blocked a highway, tossed rocks and bottles at police and chanted defiance of school desegregation, according to police.

School leaders predicted that attendance today would be down, partly because many pupils aren't expected to attend classes until after the Labor Day weekend. This year's projected enrollment is 116,800, down from 122,000 last year.

Louisville Police Chief John Nevin said after Tuesday night's incident that he was no longer as optimistic as he has been that the school year will be different from 1975, when court-ordered busing first went into effect.

The disturbance was the nation's first major anti-busing demonstration of the new school year. Last week, Dallas schools opened for the first time with busing — without trouble. Schools in Boston, scene of anti-busing violence for the past two years, open Sept. 8.

Two of those arrested here were accused of disorderly conduct, two of driving while intoxicated and two of third-degree criminal mischief. One allegedly set fire to a dumpster garbage container.

When demonstrators began throwing objects at police and sitting in the middle of the highway, police fired "less than 10" tear gas canisters into the crowd, a police spokesman said.

More than 40 antibusing, civil rights and community leaders Monday had called for a peaceful school opening. They pledged to "work to find a peaceful means to achieve the best possible education."

In response, U.S. District Court Judge James F. Gordon on Tuesday lifted a year-old ban that prevented crowds from gathering along the routes of county school buses. However, he left intact an order prohibiting persons from assembling near schools without permission.

Tuesday night's march and demonstration were not far from Jefferson County's Southern High School, the scene last year of one of the largest and most violent antibusing demonstrations.

The fracas on Tuesday night started as a peaceful march from a shopping center about a mile from the high school, police said. Busing opponents then returned to the shopping center area and were joined by several hundred more demonstrators.

KAVANAUGH, FERENCY ELBOWED Labor Still Democrats' Muscle carried grudges this time: against Kavanagh for his unfavorable apportionment stance and Ferency because he jilted the party to help build his own more liberal Human Rights party.

Women and teachers, who did not endorse labor's candidates at the convention, suspect it also was labor muscle that helped defeat two women candidates for statewide education boards.

Though all of labor's Supreme Court endorsees won, close to a third of the delegates voted instead for Kavanagh and Ferency. In fact, Ferency's raucous reception, even divided between cheers and hoots, was the loudest to disturb the outwardly tranquil gathering.

The Ferency-Kavanagh votes came despite last-minute

muscling on the floor by UAW, AFL-CIO and American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees delegates.

State Rep. George Cushingberry, who nominated Ferency, said he was told by labor delegates that he was "seriously hurting" himself and his future with the party. Congressional candidate Edward Pierce of Ann Arbor also was told to cool his volunteers' ardor for Ferency or risk less enthusiastic labor backing.

Pierce refused to tell his workers how to vote. And Cushingberry, a 23-year-old black from Detroit, says he doesn't need labor's support anyway.

Ferency came to the convention hoping to put together "a coalition of the left" and what he called a "progressive court," to consist of Kavanagh in the eight-year-term, Wayne County Circuit Court Judge Blair Moody in the six-year-term and himself in the two-year-term.

Instead, Democrats face a tough fight to elect the candidates they nominated.

"If the Democrats had sat down and for two weeks studied a way to hand the seats to the Republicans, they couldn't have done a better job," said Ferency after the convention.

Wayne County Circuit Court Judge Roman Gribbs, a former Detroit mayor, faces not only a Republican for the eight-year Supreme Court term, but also Kavanagh, who will have the helpful "Supreme Court justice" under his name on the Nov. 2 ballot.

Judge Moody, nominated for the six-year seat, faces Republican incumbent Lawrence Lindemer and Ferency, who already got the nomination from the HRP to seek that seat.

A third Wayne County judge, Charles Kaufman, has a name that may not be strong enough to topple incumbent Republican James Ryan for the two-year term.

But UAW CAP Council director Sam Fishman put it this way: "It's bad for a party to nominate anyone who breaks faith with the party and the people on where they stand on the issue."

"The loss of any one seat is less important than that principle," he said, applying it to both Kavanagh and Ferency.

Kavanagh "broke the faith" on apportionment — a dry, complicated but politically volatile issue that explodes after every census as parties try to get legislative districts redrawn to their advantage.

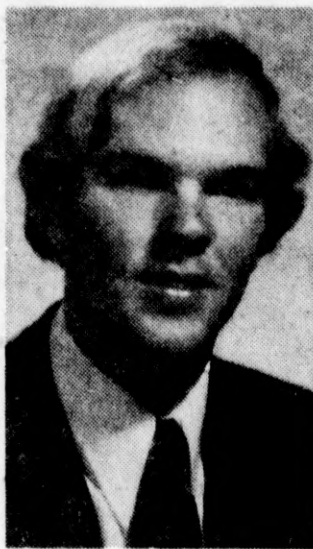

And labor is always in the thick of it. Of Kavanagh's stand on apportionment, Fishman said before the convention, "We're aware of his position and it's full of shit."

UAW Vice President Doug Fraser said Kavanagh would not have lost his support if the chief justice's only sin was refusing to campaign for other Democratic candidates. The fatal flaw, Fraser said, was Kavanagh's apportionment stand.

When a split Legislative Apportionment Commission in 1972 tossed the hot issue into the Supreme Court's lap, Kavanagh refused to endorse either party plan. He said the whole system that let the courts decide a legislative issue was unconstitutional.

The redistricting flap will come up again in 1981, and labor wants a certain Democratic majority on the court to favor the party's own apportionment plan.

WMU MASTER'S: Douglas Carlson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Carlson, 230 Ward avenue, St. Joseph, received a master's degree in counseling and personnel this month from Western Michigan university. He received a bachelor's degree cum laude from WMU in 1975 and is currently director of Morris hall at Vincennes (Ind.) university.

Fraser says Ferency's bid was attractive to him "because basically it would assure Moody in my political view of election, and I thought it would get Zolton back in the Democratic party where I happen to think he belongs."

But when Fraser tried to talk up the idea with others, "It didn't fly" — in part because there was not enough time to build support.

"One of the reasons it didn't fly was because we were also dealing with the Kavanagh situation, and people were saying, 'How can you be opposed to Kavanagh because of lack of party loyalty and then support Ferency?'"

Fraser said he had no problems with that, since he didn't oppose Kavanagh because of the chief justice's disloyalty "but because I think he's a bad judge."

In Ferency's case, labor support failed to come because the rank-and-file who once backed him felt "he's a negative guy," said Fishman. "The average one would say, 'Look, he's an irresponsible person.'"

But Fraser says there's no reason why Ferency couldn't come back to run for office as a Democrat in the future, as long as he made his bid early enough to build himself support among the rank-and-file, and as long as he gave his loyalties to Democratic, not HRP, candidates.

Brando Likes Simple Luxury

Q: What kind of lifestyle does Marlon Brando enjoy when he retreats to that island hideaway he has in the south Pacific? Is it simple or luxurious there? — G.H., Beacon, N.Y.

A: Simplicity is the keynote. However, we have heard two bits of information that make it clear Brando isn't living like a castaway. He has ordered six richshaws for his paradise, and also rumor has it that Marlon has one of the biggest collections of Tony Bennett records and plays them constantly.

Q: Where did that adorable Ronnee Blakely, the girl who sang "My Idaho Home" in the film "Nashville," disappear to? I've been hoping to see her in another movie. — J.W., Denver, Colo.

A: Ronnee was supposed to do another film for Nashville director Robert Altman, but she got into a hassle with him over a record album, and he isn't speaking to her. She's manager would love Bardot to come and take Chou-Chou back home.

Q: You recently mentioned Ethel Kennedy as dating New York's Gov. Hugh Carey. I'd like to know about her sister-in-law, Pat Kennedy Lawford. Is there a man in her life? — G.G., Boston, Mass.

A: Pat Lawford, 51, has been seen on the Costa Esmeralda in Sardinia with Antonio D'Amico, a handsome shipping tycoon from Naples. What is it about these shipping fleet owners that makes them so attractive?

Q: What's this about Norman Mailer acting in a movie with porno star Marilyn Chambers? — D.D., Pawling, N.Y.

A: Actually Mailer had to withdraw from Nicholas Ray's film "City Blues," because the starting date was delayed and ended up conflicting with the time he had promised to spend with his children. The movie, which features Marilyn and also Rip Torn, isn't a porno film. Marilyn wants to go straight, and Mailer has more sense than to go porno.

Q: Is Robert Shaw's 24-year-old daughter, Debbie Shaw, an actress? — H.A., Haverford, Pa.

A: Debbie, one of Shaw's nine children, has been working as an apprentice in the London Theater. She loves the entertainment business, but wants to be a director rather than an actress. One reason is that she watched the gradual decline of her stepmother, Mary Gre, who fell into a depression as she grew older and her career diminished.

QUESTION YOU NEVER ASKED What item was selling like the proverbial hot cakes at the Republican national convention? It was a can attractively packaged and labeled "Washington Hot Air." Two young men hoping to capitalize on a fad like Pet Rocks were selling the cans for $2 apiece and, surprisingly enough, were doing a good business among the delegates.

Q: Will Richard Burton make the movie version of "Equus" as soon as he finishes "The Heretic"? — M.M., Port Washington, N.Y.

A: Those were the plans. However, shooting of "The Heretic" has been delayed because John Boorman, the director, contracted a mysterious lung ailment. Also trouble in Ireland has caused producers to switch the film location of "Equus" to Canada.

Q: I saw some pictures of Brigitte Bardot with a pet baby seal she was keeping in her swimming pool. Does she still have it? — I. McB., Saratoga, Calif.

A: The seal got too big for the pool and too much for B.B. to handle, so she donated Chou-Chou to Marineland on the French Riviera. Unfortunately, the seal is spotted, won't play with the other seals and will only eat fish soup and bottled milk. The Marineland

By BILL DALTON
YPSILANTI, Mich. (AP) — A former Ypsilanti man may be the first person to die in Florida's electric chair following the recent Supreme Court ruling upholding the death penalty.

Gary E. Alvord, now 27, sits on death row in Florida State Prison, convicted in 1973 on three counts of first-degree murder — the strangulation slayings of a Tampa woman, her daughter and her granddaughter.

In the late 1960s, Alvord stunned Ypsilanti with the kidnapping of a 10-year-old girl, bizarre suicide attempts and numerous escapes from jails and state mental institutions.

The Tampa attorney representing Alvord claims his client's crimes might have been prevented, had Michigan mental health officials sufficiently pursued him after his 1973 escape from Ionia State Hospital.

Alvord is one of 76 persons now awaiting execution in Florida, where executions could begin as early as October, according to a spokesman for Florida's Department of Rehabilitation. The last execution in that state was in 1964.

Alvord's attorney, Thomas Meyers, said it is "quite likely that he (Alvord) may be the very first to go."

Alvord has exhausted all appeals, Meyers said, and his "only hope at this point is commutation of his death sentence to life by the governor's clemency board."

"That is a very remote possibility," he added.

Meyers described his client as a person with "an engaging personality...a likeable individual."

It was a long and twisted road that finally led Alvord to Florida's death row, a road that began for the former Taylor, Mich., man when he was committed to Northville State Hospital in May 1960 because of repeated thefts. He was 13 years old.

Hospital Supt. Dr. E. G. Yudashkin then described Alvord as a "mixed-up kid trying to find himself in a disturbed way," and transferred him to Ionia State Hospital when he was 16, where Alvord was classified as "homicidal."

Yet on Jan. 7, 1968, Alvord was placed on "visiting" status to allow him to go home for short stays. While away, he found a job in Inkster, and was later switched to "convalescent" status.

He never returned to the mental institution.

Alvord came to Ypsilanti in July 1967. He took a job as a spot welder and hi-low driver in an area auto plant.

On Oct. 21, 1967, a 10-year-old girl was grabbed while walking near her Ypsilanti home. She was carried into a nearby garage and sexually assaulted. Three days later, Ypsilanti police arrested Alvord at his home, charging him with rape and kidnapping.

He attempted to escape from police when taken to the jail, but was tripped by an Ypsilanti police detective sergeant before getting too far.

The next day, Alvord tried to kill himself in his cell at the Ypsilanti police station by stuffing cigarettes in his nose and down his throat. He was treated at a hospital and taken to Washtenaw County Jail.

In late November, Alvord tried again to kill himself — swallowing nuts and bolts after dismantling a shower — and had to undergo surgery.

On Jan. 5, 1967, someone smuggled hacksaw blades to Alvord in the jail and he cut his way through the bars on his cell's windows. He was halfway through before being spotted by deputies.

Apprehended, he was placed in solitary confinement, where he ripped the water pipes out of a corner of the cell, flooding the jail basement.

Alvord then was strapped into a straitjacket. He got loose. He was put into it again. He got loose again. He finally was handcuffed to his bed.

Meanwhile, Circuit Judge John W. Conlin ruled Alvord unfit to stand trial. Two psychiatrists said Alvord suffered from auditory hallucinations — voices from the spiritual world — and took orders from those voices.

Alvord was sent to Ionia State Hospital for at least 18 months or until psychiatrists deemed him competent to stand trial.

Finally, on May 12, 1970, Alvord was found innocent by reason of insanity on the kidnapping charges and returned to Ionia. But not for long. He walked away from his job as a yard worker at the hospital Feb. 18, 1971.

Ypsilanti police picked him up that night. Immediately after his return, Alvord escaped again and was recaptured in 20 minutes.

In 1973, Alvord escaped from Ionia one last time and headed for Florida. About six months later, the three Tampa women were slain.

Trooper Patrol Permanent?

DETROIT (AP) — Gov. William Milliken says he may keep state troopers patrolling Detroit freeways on a permanent basis. Milliken said that he has "no immediate plans" to withdraw the 72 troopers who have been patrolling Detroit's 62 miles of freeway since Friday. Milliken ordered the trooper patrols to free Detroit police to work on the problem of teen gang violence. Milliken said he is reviewing the "budgetary implications of longer range use, and frankly, reviewing the possibility of a permanent use of the state troopers within the city of Detroit."

IMPORTANT FOR TEACHING YOUR CHILD

Good Books Nowadays Hard To Find

By KATHERYN DIEHL
Reading Reform Foundation

CHAPTER EIGHT

As your child becomes a better and better reader — and he will — you will want to provide him with lots of good books for practice (and you will find these very helpful in your teaching). This is not as easy as you might think.

First, the look-say books he brings home from school will be practically worthless in reviewing and reinforcing his phonics skills.

The best books are those from publishers of intensive phonics programs. These introduce new vocabulary in a phonetic order, giving your child the right practice he needs as he masters new sound/spellings. Normally, however, these are sold in bulk lots to schools, and parents may have difficulty placing individual orders with a few publishers.

There are, of course, many colorful little story books available in the stores and local libraries. You will have to judge their value by looking at the vocabularies and descriptions on the jackets.

If the book seems to be based on the phonetic words your child can work out, use it. But don't waste time on books which proudly proclaim they contain the same sight words your child is learning in school.

As you learn intensive phonics with your child, you will learn to distinguish between real phonics programs and those sight word programs disguised

some publishers simply added more words and boasted, "Our books now teach more than 500

You Won't See Instant Improvement In Child's School Reading Grades

as phonics. In one "phony phonics" beginning program we have seen, words using some of the consonant sounds, one short vowel and several long vowel sounds are missing completely.

There's another bit of tomfoolery to watch for. When the sight word people could no longer defend the fact that their programs taught only 150-300 sight words in the first grade, words." Nonsense!

What the publishers didn't advertise, and what the parents had no way of knowing, was that often the children weren't expected to learn the added words, only the basic 250-300 sight words. Adding such words as "dinosaur" and "pterodactyl" (honest!) made the inane stories more interesting, but they didn't do a thing to improve the child's reading.

We mentioned earlier that your child's sight word books from school won't help him much in practicing phonetic reading. That brings up a sad fact.

You will see a steady improvement in your child's reading at home. You will see him read, write and spell hundreds of words his classmates don't know. But you won't see an instant improvement in his reading grade at school.

The sight word system is so disorganized, so chaotic, that words are thrown into the reading books with no rhyme nor reason. "Pterodactyl" is such an extreme example, let's consider the common word "house." This may be included very early in your child's sight word program at school. But the "ou" spelling, as in house, is one of the less common phonetic elements which you won't teach your child until he has first mastered the long vowel sounds.

His sight word books will not have most of the hundreds of words your child can read, and they will be sprinkled liberally with words for which he is not yet quite ready ("pterodactyl," indeed!)

Learning two ways at once won't confuse your child so much that you need worry about it, because your way will win. Just grin and bear it, dear parent, knowing that soon your child will be reading anything and everything the school puts before him.

And never forget: your aim is not just to help him tomorrow at school, but to teach him how to read, which will help him forever.

CQ Congress Votes

SENATE
Abortion — By a 35-33 vote, the Senate for the second time this year refused to go along with a House initiated move to prohibit the use of federal funds to pay for or to promote abortions. A House-Senate conference committee has been unable to reach a compromise on the issue, delaying passage of an important Labor-Health, Education and Welfare appropriations bill.

Senators voting in favor of the House initiated anti-abortion amendment said it was needed to prevent the federal government from financing abortions, which they said were immoral. They also denied charges that the amendment would interfere with teaching practices at medical schools or would prevent operations necessary to save the life of a mother.

Senators voting against the anti-abortion amendment argued that abortions would be prohibited even in cases where the operation was needed to save the life of the mother and that the amendment would prevent medical schools from teaching about abortions. They also maintained the bill would discriminate against poor women who rely on publicly-funded health facilities while doing nothing to curb abortions for rich women who could afford private clinics.

Voting in favor of House anti-abortion amendment: Griffin (R).

Voting against House anti-abortion amendment: Hart (D).
Postal Service — By a 26-58 vote, the Senate rejected an amendment to a postal reorganization bill that would have brought the U.S. Postal Service back under the control of Congress. The amendment would have required the semi-independent corporation to come to Congress for annual budget authorization and appropriations. It would also have provided for presidential appointment and Senate confirmation of the Postmaster General.

Supporters of bringing the Postal Service back under congressional control contended that in its five years as a semi-independent corporation, it had left a record of poor service, mounting costs and growing debts. A Postal Service accountable to Congress would be more likely to respond to the needs of the public, they said.

Opponents of the amendment argued that the move was a radical one that would destroy the Postal Service just when it was beginning to overcome the "growing pains" of its early years of independence. To bring the agency under Congress, they maintained, would be to subject it to political pressures that would interfere with sound business practices.

The House had approved a similar amendment in 1975.

Voting to return Postal Service to congressional control: None.

Not voting: Hart (D).
Federal School Funds — The Senate voted 44-42 to table (kill) an amendment to a higher education bill that would have required a formal administrative hearing before the Department of Health, Education and Welfare could withhold federal funds from a school district that was in violation of federal law.

Proponents of the amendment said requiring a formal administrative hearing would simply give school districts the same "due process" right individual citizens already have.

But opponents charged the action would remove the government's most effective method of preventing race or sex discrimination in the schools — the threat of an immediate loss of federal funds.

Voting to kill amendment requiring administrative hearing before education funds cutoff: None.
Voting not to kill amendment requiring administrative hearing before education funds cutoff: Griffin (R).
Not voting: Hart (D).

NEW RIVER BILL OKAYED
WASHINGTON (AP) — The rapids and scenic gorges of the upper New River in North Carolina will be preserved by law in their pristine form under legislation that President Ford is expected to sign.

"THERE IS a time to pray and a time to fight," proclaimed Lutheran pastor Peter Muhlenberg to his Woodstock, Va., congregation as he tore off his vestments January, 1775, to reveal the uniform of a militia officer. Lutherans, along with Congregationalists, Baptists and middle colonies Presbyterians favored independence from England. The Society of Friends opposed all wars, including the Revolution. Anglicans, The World Almanac notes, were in an awkward spot, as their English-led clergy was tied by oath to the crown.

Pipestone Mall Negotiating With 3 Big-Name Stores

By RALPH LUTZ
Staff Writer

Negotiations are underway with Sears, J.C. Penney and

Carson Pirie Scott & Co. to lease space in the proposed Pipestone Mall shopping center in Benton township, a developer of the mall said Tuesday. "I've been working with them for years," said Joshua T. Weiner, a partner in the Meyer

C. Weiner Co. of Oak Brook, Ill. "You can't say they've leased space, but they're in the process of negotiations."

"The Pipestone Mall certainly is planning on those three major stores," Meyer Weiner, president of

Meyer C. Weiner and father of Joshua Weiner, announced Tuesday that a 72-acre tract for development of the enclosed mall has been sold to Westcor, Inc., of Phoenix, Ariz., and Dayton Hudson Properties of Minneapolis, Minn.

The remaining 278 acres of the Benton township site were retained by the Pipestone Development Co., Ltd., a Michigan limited partnership comprised of Meyer Weiner and Jens Jensen of the architectural firm of Jensen and Jensen, Oak Brook.

A 1976 trade publication called "Shopping Center Leasing Opportunities" reports a total of 457,000 square feet of the planned Pipestone Mall for Penney, Sears and Carson Pirie Scott. The breakdown is listed to include 177,000 for Penney's, 160,000 for Sears, and 120,000 for Carson Pirie Scott.

Jerry Sandvig, vice president for planning and construction of Westcor, Inc., did not identify the three anchor stores during a luncheon meeting attended by some 35 people, mostly financial institutions officers and government officials, at Berrien Hills country club.

When questioned by this newspaper about the trade publication report, Sandvig said the formal announcement of anchor stores will be made within six months.

"Three major department stores are committed to this market and location," Sandvig said. "Now we need the design (for the mall structure). They are for sure," Sandvig concluded.

Sandvig told the gathering the mall structure would cost about $25 million to build, would generate about $50 million annually in sales, and would employ between 900 and 1,000 people full time and up to 1,500 in busy seasons, such as Christmas and Easter.

Sandvig said construction would begin in the fall of 1977 and would house a total of 80 retail tenants. Sandvig estimated the opening date for August, 1979. He said the retail space should be about 80 per cent occupied by opening, with others moving in soon afterward.

Joshua Weiner commented on the remaining 278 acres, saying development would be over a five to 10-year period, but declining to answer a question about S.S. Kresge locating in the area south of the mall. Weiner said of Kresge, "If they do locate here, it would be in the area (pointing to a site drawing) for commercial establishments."

Asked about the effect of a mall complex on downtown St. Joseph and Benton Harbor, Weiner said it would be "positive."

"Shopping malls are positive for downtowns. They create jobs, boost the economy and are a boon to the entire economy," Weiner commented. He said "a lot of dollars are leaving the community now for Kalamazoo, Chicago and South Bend, and these dollars will stay here (after the mall is built)."

Weiner said the area around the mall would hold commercial establishments, service restaurants and financial institutions, automotive agencies, and garden apartments and town house-type housing, complete with swimming pools and other recreational facilities.

He said the completed Pipestone Development would have over 3.6 million square feet of buildings, worth over $100 million and providing employment for a total of about 10,800 people.

Meyer Weiner, who hosted the luncheon, said his firm has more than 40 prime properties in Michigan. The "Shopping Center Leasing Opportunities" publication lists the firm as developing new centers at Allegan, Holland, Kalamazoo, and Ann Arbor.

Weiner said the firm is in its third decade in the real estate industry. He described the firm as a full-service, independent development team performing all facets of real estate production, including site acquisition, leasing and sales, legal and accounting, construction and continuing management.

GRABBY: Bernard Couzier, Loire, France, district prefect, is held by angry farmers who invaded a meeting of officials at the St. Etienne prefecture hall Tuesday. Farmers were protesting what they considered unfair distribution of government subsidies to farmers hit by this summer's drought. Couzier was released unharmed after the brief scuffle. Cafe Owner Robbed

NILES — A Niles restaurant owner told police here she was robbed at gunpoint of an estimated $800 while making a deposit at a downtown bank early this morning.

Mrs. Anna Glenn, Niles, told police she fired one shot at two men as they fled on foot from the parking lot of Niles National Bank, Fourth and Broadway streets, about 1:30 a.m. today, but apparently missed.

Mrs. Glenn, owner of the Bonanza Steak House restaurant, US-31 South, Niles, told police she was attempting to deposit receipts from the restaurant in a night deposit box. She said she was approached in the parking lot by two men wearing stocking masks, one armed with a handgun.

Police said Mrs. Glenn, who holds a permit to carry a concealed weapon, drew a .45 caliber automatic handgun as the two men fled and fired one shot.

Police said Mrs. Glenn did not offer resistance to the men when they demanded a bank deposit bag and she was not injured.

POLICE ROUNDUP

Man Is Accused Of Room Break-Ins

Break-ins were reported at three rooms at the Colfax Inn Tuesday and Benton Harbor police said a tip led to the arrest of another Inn resident as he carried allegedly stolen goods to his car.

Police said a television, radio, clock, iron and assorted clothing were allegedly stolen from rooms at the Inn, 163 Colfax avenue, all which were recovered. The items were reported taken from rooms of Frank Armstrong, Annie Triche and Lawrence Weatherly.

Booked at the Berrien county jail on a charge of breaking and entering was Lawrence Caldwell Ollens, 25, of 163 Colfax avenue. Police said an informant reported a man was taking the goods from the Inn about 10 p.m.

Benton Harbor police also Tuesday arrested two young men on charges of breaking and entering a home last week.

Booked at the Berrien county jail were Cleveland Walls, Jr., 18, of 794 Columbus avenue, and Moses James Moore, 17, of 1089 Broadway. Police said household items allegedly were stolen from the home of Mary Jimison, 636 Clay street, and were recovered later.

St. Joseph police reported Jack Cooper Saffell, 17, of 812 Church street, St. Joseph, was arrested Tuesday on a charge of larceny in a building — theft of change from a pants pocket.

Police said the alleged theft occurred at 916 Harrison avenue where Veril Brooks, 377 Parker avenue, Benton Harbor, told officers he was babysitting for his daughter. Brooks said he awoke about 3:30 a.m. and found a man going through his pants pockets. Brooks said the intruder fled with about $3.50 in change and a set of keys.

Police said Saffell was arrested about 1:30 p.m. and demanded examination when arraigned in Berrien Fifth District court on a charge of larceny in a building. Bond was set at $1,500.

Three thefts were reported Tuesday to Benton Harbor and St. Joseph township police.

Roosevelt Gladney, 255 High street, told Benton Harbor police $85 in cash and a $100 tape player were stolen from his car parked near his home. Also reported stolen to Benton Harbor police was a .32 caliber revolver from the residence of Lila Hunter, 652 Buss avenue.

St. Joseph township police said Avon Foster, 2973 Lake Shore drive, reported two tennis rackets, a baseball glove, a box of assorted coins and two towels, all valued at $158, were stolen from her residence.
